Lancaster Farming

VOL. 33 No. 47 | Five Sections | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, October 1, 1988 | 50¢ Per Copy | $10.00 Per Year

Kimberly Bonzo, Rochester, representing Beaver-Lawrence Counties was named the new 1988 State Dairy Princess. (See story page B12 & 13)

Pork Referendum Passed

WASHINGTON, D.C.— The Pork Referendum passed -- three to one. Stephen Burkholder, Alburtis (Lehigh), just back from the National Pork Producers 1988 Legislative Seminar, said the national leaders were pleased, but had hoped more producers would vote.

The final count nationwide was 34,836 yes, and 10,117 no, for 77.5 percent on 44,953 total votes. Delaware was the only state that did not pass with only 48 percent yes votes.

In Pennsylvania, the count was 523 yes to 167 no, for 76 percent. Maryland passed with 87 percent, New Jersey 90 percent, Virginia 82 percent, West Virginia 86 percent, New York 86 percent, and Ohio 79 percent.

Nearly 300 pork producers attended the national seminar that included visits to Congressmen. Special interests included: the export program, PRV research, invoicing back to producers, and taxes and depreciation. Pennsylvania pork producers attending the national seminar with Burkholder and his wife Darlene, included John Henkle, Strasburg; Herbert Shirk, Kutztown; Dave Reinecker, York Springs; Samuel Elkin, Marion Center; and Eugene Wingert and his wife Betty, St. Thomas.

Farmer Cooperatives Respond

BY JOYCE BUPP & EVERETT NEWSWANGER

HARRISBURG — Agriculture cooperatives must respond to the forces of change buffeting the agricultural industry, and cannot rest on past accomplishments.

That was the challenge held before cooperative directors, administrators and educators

PA Pork All-American Couple

BY LOU ANN GOOD

ALBURTIS (Lehigh) — Like many other pork producers, Stephen and Darlene Burkholder, Alburtis, are proud of their product and adament promoters of it.

"There's a lot more involved in raising hogs than many people realize," said Darlene who grew up on a Lebanon County dairy farm. "If you want to market a good hog, you must put a lot into raising a lean hog."

She isn't kidding. Pork has come a long way since the days of feeding a hog anything and everything in order to fatten him. Today, pork boasts 50% more leaness than 25 years ago and it is much lower in both cholesterol and fat.

The Burkholder's commitment to making pork better has earned Stephen the title "1988 PA Pork All-American."

According to the National Pork Council, Burkholder earned his title through hard work and dedication. "Pork All-Americans are quality people who successfully blend sound management, capable leadership and continued civic commitment into lives that truly merit recognition. They are innovators, hard workers, motivators and leaders."

The winners have been nominated by their peers to be recog-

$51,000 Bid Opens All-American Sale

HARRISBURG — Terra-View Rotate Princess, the Very Good 86 pt. three-year-old Rotate daughter with multiple AI and purchase contracts, opened the 25th Anniversary All-American Holstein Sale here in grand style with a bid of $51,000. The Princess Syndicate from Pennsylvania Furnace purchased Princess, who was consigned by Steve Hoover and Tom Henderson, Martinsburg. The stylish heifer has a two-year-old record of 23,474M 888F 3.4% 788P. Princess is out of a Bell daughter with over 24,000 pounds of milk and 1,050 pounds of fat and completes the sixth generation of Very Good or Excellent cows.

The second cow in the ring was Paclamar Marietta Bows, consigned by Singing Brook Farms, Imler. This Very Good three-year-old, purchased by Frank Putman from New York State for $12,100, has four Excellent dams on the lower side of her pedigree and is a potential fifth generation Excellent. Manure Management Called People Problem

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

GRANTVILLE (Dauphin) — The Director of Environmental Resources in the State Bureau of Soil and Water Conservation told poultrymen here Wednesday that manure disposal is a great concern in Pennsylvania. On the subject of controlling environmental pollution, Paul Swartz told the Pennsylvania Poultry Conference that in Pennsylvania manure discharged into waterways is considered sewage. "While most farmers do not discharge manure into streams, this does not relieve them from legal and moral responsibilites for sound manure management," Swartz said. "Farmers do not have the right to pollute ground or surface water in the Commonwealth."

In Lancaster County, of 539 wells sampled by DER, one-third of these wells exceeded the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water standards for nitrates. Therefore, the government agency stopped issuing sewage permits for on-lot systems and for land applications of sewage sludge in this area. And home builders are not happy. They are asking "if we can't get sewage permits, why are farmers allowed to continue to spread manure?"

Pennsylvania is serious about enforcement of pollution laws.

Chester-Delaware Farmers Call For Johnson Grass Controls

BY PAT PURCELL

ATGLEN (Chester) — Farmers from Chester and Delaware counties packed the Octorara High School cafeteria for their annual fall banquet Thursday evening. Richard Breckbill, vice-president, conducted the evening meeting in the absence of Elmer Mast, President.

Members approved most of the resolutions brought before them at the meeting. After some discussion the resolution was passed concerning the elimination of johnson grass. It was recommended and approved :

that all government agencies assume the responsibility of the control and ultimate elimination of johnson grass by:

—their spraying and then levying a fine of $10 an acre on any

Acres Corn Update:

Corn futures edged a little higher today with the spot option closing unchanged while the other months gained from 3/4 to 2-1/2 cents. Support early in the session was generated by export talk and rumors that the Soviets would be purchasing more corn today. The USDA announced after the close another sale of 250,000 metric tonnes to the USSR. Early gains evaporated as wheat prices began to fall sharply. Support came from news that warehousemen would not store corn above 20 parts per billion aflatoxin along with the latest forecast calling for rain to move into parts of the midwest thereby stalling the harvest.

Acres Soybean Update

Soybean futures closed higher in the front 6 options from 2-1/2 to 5-1/2 cents with the September and November 1989 trading 2 to 4 cents lower. Today's closes were well below session highs with support coming from rain forecasts which could delay the harvest. Spillover pressure from plunging wheat prices dropped beans off their highs in the face of long liquidation on weakening technicals. Pre-estimates for Friday's stocks report came in at .286 billion bushels which compares to the September 1st figure of .436 billion bushels. Meal closed from 70 to 290 points higher supported by rumors of a major purchase this morning.

Acres Wheat Update

Wheat futures today closed sharply lower losting from 4-1/2 to 7 cents in a late selling tied to weakening technical factors. Support throughout the session was attributed to optimism over the export picture, but as one large player liquidated, others joined in and frantically sold. December tested but failed to widen the support and resistance limits of $4.15 and $4.25 per bushel in which it has been confined for the last several weeks.

Acres Cattle Update

Live cattle and feeder cattle futures closed mixed again today with the spot months posting gains on cash market strength. Further support was linked to expectations for steady to higher carcass beef quotes and light deliveries on first notice day. Feeders mirrored live cattle activity with the spot month closing 37 points higher in position offsetting in advance of its expiration tomorrow. Long liquidation pressured the deferreds today encountering stiff resistance near contract highs.

CME FEEDER CATTLE SETTLEMENT PRICE: 9/26/88- $79.81 up $ .12

Acres Hog Update

Live hog futures settled lower again today losing from 45 points in the farm deferred to 90 points on the spot option. Pressure was attributed to cash market weakness coupled with continued ongoing large runs. Further selling this afternoon was generated by fears of continued large receipts tomorrow after a lower midday product quote. Bellies closed from 95 to 123 points lower on follow through from yesterday's sharply lower closes.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to weak futures - steady to lower

Northeast Chicken Parts

September 28, 1988

Buying interest was generally light and unaggressive on all items except whole breasts which remained short.

Cutlets were fully adequate at 2.35 and spot trading in half and full loads were noted at 2.25 and 2.30 for prompt shipment; however, demand was improving as some interest shifted from whole breasts to cutlets. Legs, leg quarters and wings increased in availability and were often slow in clearing. Giblets were fully adequate to ample at current price levels.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, September 28, 1988

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices trended lower in the Midwest, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was cautiously steady to weak. Demand for loose and cartoned eggs was light to moderate. Inter-dealer inquiry for heavy ungraded eggs increased due in part to additional export demand. Supplies of heavy eggs were adequate to ample and mediums were generally adequate. Breakers remained unaggressive. Live supplies of spent hens were limited under a steady to fully steady trade sentiment.

New England Shell Egg

DON'T WASTE FEED DOLLARS

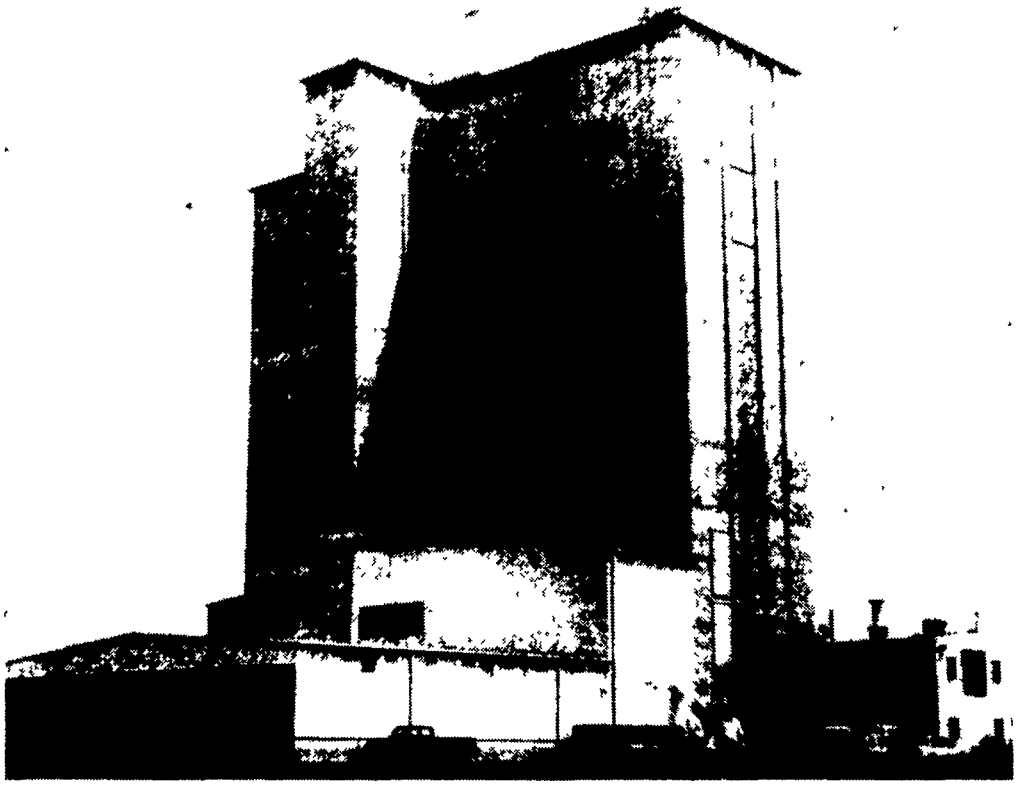
PENNFIELD DAIRY FEEDS

FOR TODAY'S DAIRYMAN

WE DESIGN YOUR DAIRY RATION TO MEET YOUR NEEDS.



Mt. Joy Mill - Built To Meet YOUR Needs

Pennfield's new Mt. Joy feed mill has a feed production line specifically designed by Pennfield to produce PFR (Precision Formulated Rations) custom formulated dairy feeds balanced for each dairyman's feeding program. This customized ration will be pelleted to prevent separation of vitamins and minerals from the feed ingredients. The ration will be balanced to meet specific needs such as PROTEIN, BY-PASS PROTEIN, MINERALS, STARCH LEVEL, ADDED FAT, NDF (Neutral Detergent Fiber), ADF (Acid Detergent Fiber), PALATABILITY, TOTAL RATION DENSITY, and FEEDING PROGRAM PROFITABILITY.

AREAS TO LOOK AT TO IMPROVE PROFITABILITY

1. Use 2- feed system for milk cows. Fresh cows get high density feed for peak lactation, and tail enders are fed least cost ration.

2. Increase forage feeding to lower producing cows - this will reduce amount of feed needed to balance program.

3. Don't keep extra benefits - it costs approximately $300 per year to feed each heifer. Milking cows x 60% gives you total number of heifers birth to fresh. Example 50 milk cows x 60% = 30 heifers total.

4. Work on a better growing program for the generally neglected yearling heifer. Bigger "spring of rib" heifers will eat more forage and give a bigger milk check during their first lactation. Heifers need to average 15,000-16,000 lbs. of milk for their first lactation.

5. Use NPN (non-protein nitrogen) to reduce protein costs in mid to late lactation dairy rations.

6. Reduce overhead- rented ground and poorly utilized equipment can be costly. It generally pays to grow your forages, but look at using custom services for silo filling.

Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

Cider that's hot hits the spot.

Sputnik I, the first successful manmade satellite, launched into orbit Oct 4, 1957 American rocket scientist Robert H Goddard born at Worcester, Mass , Oct 5, 1882 . American Library Association founded in Philadelphia Oct 6, 1876 Average length of days for the week 11 hours, 31 minutes Great Chicago Fire destroyed much of city, causing 250 deaths and $200 million in damage Oct 8, 1871 It's easier to do a job right than to explain why you didn't

Ask the Old Farmer: We have real trouble removing light bulbs from some of our fixtures They are so stuck that we are afraid the bulbs will break in our hands How can we prevent this from happening? C V, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio

Put a little olive oil on your thumb and forefinger the next time you are changing a light bulb Rub the oil on the base of the bulb, leaving a light film of oil on it This should keep the bulb from sticking

Home Hints: Harvest brussels sprouts from the bottom of the plant up Sprouts are tastier after a frost, and plants survive through early winter

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Week begins rainy and warm, midweek rain continues, heavy north, end of week cold.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Beginning of week clear and hot, rain midweek, end of week cloudy and cool

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Week begins with showers, midweek rainy and cool, end of week sunny

OPINION

Best Wishes New Princess

Once again, a new state Dairy Princess has been chosen to represent the dairy farms and dairy farm families in Pennsylvania. Kimberly Bonzo, Rochester, representing Beaver-Lawrence Counties, received the crown from retiring princess Becky Sonnen last Saturday evening in a pageant orchestrated to properly showcase the promotional efforts of the dairy princess program and create an emortional climax with the naming of the new princess.

Many individuals worked together to make the pageant a success. Jan Harding, princess director, had the young ladies ready to make their best possible impression on the judges. Grover Gouker did his usual fine job of master of ceremonies. To interview 40 contestants and move the program forward takes the expertise of a professional.

You could mention the coordinators, families of the princesses, the judges, the volunteers. Typical of the efforts put into the program through the year can be seen in the statistics racked up by the 1988 Blair County Dairy Princess, Jenny Sue Bigelow. During her reign last year, Sue drove 7,200 miles to a attend 353 events. That's nearly an average of one per day. For her efforts she received the Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award, set up to honor the Huntingdon County Dairy Proncess of 1985-86, who served her county's dairy farm families while fighting a losing battle with cancer.

A look at the scrapbooks compiled by each county princess as a record of her year's activities also truly showed the amount of effort and creativity put into the dairy princess program. The precendents set by past princesses will give the new "class" something to strive for. But as retiring state princess, Becky Sonnen, said in her farewell address, each county can be proud of their new representatives. "They are a terrific group of young ladies to represent the dairy industry we love," Sonnen said.

We want to congratulate the new State Dairy Princess and the first runner-up, Tammy Sue Balthaser, Berks County, and second runner-up, Laurie Sterner, Montgomery County. And we want to congratulate all the new county dairy princesses and their alternates across the state. As Becky Sonnen so aptly said. "You are a terrific group of young ladies to represent the dairy industry we all love."

Yes, and best wishes, too!

To Fertilize Alfalfa Seeds

After the last cutting of alfalfa is removed, it is a good practice to topdress the field with a phosphorus-potash fertilizer. Many growers have been doing this for years with good results. The fall application permits time for the soil elements to reach the root zone of the plants and become available for next spring's growth. Well fertilized alfalfa fields will produce more top quality forage and will be able to withstand adversities much better. Also, after the removal of the first crop next spring, another application of fertilizer should be made. Research continues to show that a nitrogen application on established stands of alfalfa is not a good investment. Apply only the amount recommended by your soil test results.

To Prepare For Wheat Planting

Wheat is an important crop in many of our farming programs and the selection of good seed will result in a better crop next year. Due to some infection of Scab and Powdery Mildew in our winter wheat over the past several years, growers should be extra careful this fall by planting clean seed. Certified seed would be free of these problems. If you are planning to use homegrown seed, then do an extra good job of cleaning and treating. Vitavax 200 is a recommended fungicide for seed treatment. The fly-free date is either after the first killing frost or, in Southeastern Pennsylvania, October 10.

Just a few reminders on planting wheat -- it should not be planted in the same field more often than once every 5 years; this time period will reduce the fungus carryover in the soil. Plow the field as early as you can, then disc and harrow to kill as many weeds as possible. It's also a good idea to harrow the field thoroughly the day of seeding.

To Watch For Unwanted Guests

Now that the weather is getting cooler you may find some unwanted guests in your barn and home. You won't see them too often perhaps, but they're there. These guests in question are rats and mice. As the weather gets colder, they migrate from outdoors to indoors.

Are you aware that one rat can cost you $28 a year, and that rats cause an estimated 25% of all farm fires, and that rats destroy about 20% of all crops planted each year. Rats have a litter every 30 days -- multiplying so rapidly a pair could have 15,000 descendants in a year's life span.

They kill small animals and chickens and also carry diseases to people and animals. Reasons enough to start a good rat control program.

To Protect Plants For The Winter

Plants with shallow roots such as azaleas, rhododendrons, mountain laurel and flowering dogwood need frequent watering. And it's a good idea to continue watering these plants on a regular basis until the ground freezes this fall.

A shallow-rooted plant that has most of its root system in the upper three to five inches of soil. Since this is the first layer to dry out, it's very important that these plants receive at least an inch of water each week through the season.

Also, the more water your plants can take up before the ground freezes, the better they will withstand the severe winter conditions. Keep in mind that once the ground does freeze, there will be no free water for the plants to take up. But even though the ground is frozen, that parts of the plant above the ground will continue to lose water.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON YIELDING WILD GRAPES

October 2, 1988

Background Scripture: Isaiah 6.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 4:17-22.

When I was a youth contemplating the ministry, our church was explicit in stipulating that no one be accepted as a candidate for the ministry unless he had received a "call" from God. It was generally understood that the candidate had to have had some kind of experience in which God's "call" was heard or felt in some way.

In time, we came to realize that God's "call" comes not only to the clergy, but to all of us. All of us are "called" to something because God has something for each of us to do, a purpose to fulfill. In other words, we all have a vocation ("calling") from God. The problem is not that God doesn't call each of us, but that so many of us don't listen to hear what God is saying; and, even if we do hear that "call," we may not answer it.

THE KING IS DEAD

Isaiah 6 is often called "the Call of Isaiah." One does not know if this was the first time he called Isaiah, but it is obvious that it is the first time Isaiah listened to that call and answered. Perhaps God had been calling Isaiah for some time and it is only in this incident that Isaiah responded.

Isaiah was in the temple for worship. He starts out noting that it was "the year that King Uzziah died" (6:1). Very likely, like many of his countrymen, Isaiah felt despondent over his death. King Uzziah's death was a tragic loss for the nation. I can't help remembering that the Sunday after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, record numbers of people were in churches all across the land. I remember that on that Sunday there were quite a few people present in my worship service whom I had never seen there before. It was a time of national tragedy and people flocked to the churches for reassurance. Sometimes, it is only when something tragic or disappointing happens to us that we can open ourselves to God's "call."

It is important for us to note that, when it seemed Isaiah and the nation were stricken with this sense of loss, the prophet-to-be was able to find an exalted vision of God's majesty: "In the year that King Uzziah died I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up..." (6:1). Often when we are low down, it is then that we are able to be lifted up with a realization of God's glory.

WHOM SHALL I SEND?

What is the natural result of such an experience: a deep sense of humility. We can understand Isaiah's response: "Woe is me! For I am lost; for I am a man of unclean lips..." (6:5). I am reminded of the story about the woman who went to a counsellor to get help for her "nerves." After a number of sessions that seemed to go nowhere, the doctor wrote on his prescription pad: "Take a trip to Niagara Falls."

When the woman asked the reason for this strange prescription, the counsellor replied that what she needed was to take "a long, lingering look at something bigger than yourself!" Actually, that's what all of us need and that's what worship is supposed to be all about.

Isaiah's humble contrition opened the door for his forgiveness: "Your guilt is taken away, and your sin forgiven." But forgiveness is not the end of it all, for, like Isaiah, when we have been cleansed there comes a voice to each of us, saying: "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" (7,8). When at last we hear that call, it is time for us to answer it as Isaiah did: "Here I am! Send me!"

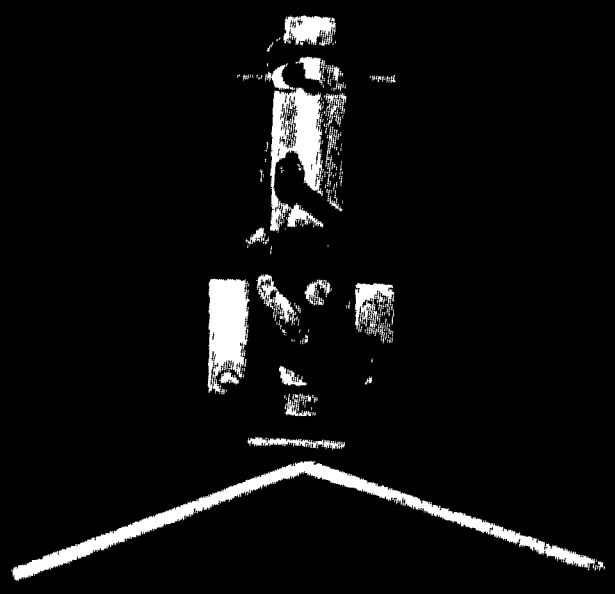
Farm Credit Is Plowing New Ground.



There's something satisfying about that morning when the winter wait's over and you start breaking ground for a new growing season.

At Farm Credit, we know the feeling. Because we're owned and controlled by farmers. And because we've just finished the groundwork to make our services faster. More economical. And more responsive to you than ever before.

We're adding the business technology to cut paperwork. And we're expanding our services, so you can come to us for all your farm loans. Loans to buy acreage or build on it. Production loans for seed and fertilizer. Equipment loans for new machinery. And our people will be there for you season after season, plowdown to harvest. People who understand farming from the ground up.

Our changes aren't earth-shaking. They're simply ways to set up the best possible conditions for growth.

And whether it's done with a plan or a plow, that's what breaking new ground is all about.

BRING OUT THE BEAUTY IN YOUR BEAST.

WITH PRO:LEAN PIG STARTER PLUS It has more of everything weaned pigs need for superior health and appearance More, in fact, than its popular predecessor Pro Lean Pig Starter Pellets

—Higher energy and quality protein in each bite for faster growth
—More milk nutrients for more weight gain per pound of feed consumed
—More vitamins and minerals, including the maximum allowable selenium level

And it's pelleted, so they eat more, gain more, waste less and use less per pound of gain For better looking pigs and profits, ask for Pig Starter Plus at your local Agway store or from your Agway Salesperson five generations ranged from 21,130M to 41,420M with 1,378F.

Third in the sale was a Mark yearling consigned by Long Haven Farm, Clayton, MI, whose dam and dam's maternal sister comprise the only maternal sisters in the breed who both have fat records of over 2,000 pounds. This heifer has a pedigree that included lots of milk was purchased by Sam Becker, Montezuma, GA.

Fourth in the ring from Carousel Farm, WI, was another Rotate daughter with both dam and granddam Excellent and both with records over 30,000 pounds of milk. This senior calf was sold to Plushanski Farms, Kutztown.

These opening entries set the stage for a successful sale held in the small arena at the Farm Show Building. Just prior to the sale, a gala buffet in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the All-American was held at ringside with 600 persons participating in the event.

The sale staff included Bill Nichol, Jay Howes, Mike Weimer, Jeff Harding, Horace Dackus, Harry Bachman, and Ken Raney. The sale lasted until about 11:00 p.m. Thursday evening.

ENVIRONMENTAL AND NUTRITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS FOR STRESSED FEEDER CATTLE

Dr. John Comerford
Extension Beef Specialist
The Pennsylvania State University

Introduction

The feeder calf experiences very little stress while just following Mom around the pasture. However, soon after weaning there are several abrupt and disruptive changes in his life. Separation from the cow, transportation, mingling with strange cattle, more transportation, and finally, arrival at a feedlot to be pushed around, stuck with a needle, and forced to eat and drink strange feed and water easily leads to a stressed calf. The result is all to often one which also becomes sick. Morbidity and mortality of stressed feeder cattle is a $330 million loss to the industry, and the feedlot operator must seek ways to reduce or eliminate disease in the lot to maximize returns.

However, no single cause and effect relationship has been determined between husbandry practices and the incidence of disease. The search for the answer has frustrated veterinarians, researchers, and feeders. Certain management practices have been identified, though, that influence the health of the calf.

Transportation and Marketing

One important variable associated with stress is the farm of origin. Research has shown that, even when calves are treated in the same way on neighboring farms, feedlot performance can vary widely. While some of the differences can be attributed to genetics and other reasons, disease is also a primary culprit. One study reported calves from 7 different farms subjected to the same stresses after leaving the farm varied in morbidity rates from 26 to 87%.

One reason for this result is the nutritional management prior to sale. A Tennessee study found calves that were either weaned and fed at the farm before sale or were allowed concentrate feeds at the auction barn at the time of sale had lower morbidity rates than those shipped directly to the feedlot with no access to concentrate feeds. Daily gains for the first 70 days on feed were also greater.

The largest economic loss to the feeder from the point of sale to the feedlot is weight shrink. Shrink results from loss of gut fill, but almost 1/2 of the loss is accounted for by tissue losses of water, protein, minerals, and energy. The reduction in weight is almost linear for the first 3 hours in transit, and can go as high as 8-9% for calves shipped over 15 hours. Consequently, they enter the lot at a lower value than at purchase and require 15-20 days on feed to return to their original sale weight.

Another factor related to disease is mixing of calves. The same pattern of treatment for mixed and unmixed groups has been observed with peaks at 7 and 14 days after arrival. However, 3-4% more of the mixed group were treated at each time. A second factor is animal concentration. A Canadian study showed there was a direct, positive correlation between the number of calves in a pen and the percentage of calves requiring treatment or dying.

Nutrition and Feeding Environment

Unload the calves into small, shallow pens. In confined lots this would be about 10 sq. feet per calf. This provides an easier way to watch the calves for eating habits and for signs of disease. It also helps the calf find the feed and water more easily. Plenty of bunk space is necessary while being sure all of the calves can reach the bunk. During the introductory phase about 10-12 in. of space per calf will be needed. Water should be provided immediately as dehydration is not only one of the first results of transit, but also a predisposing factor in disease. Some operators routinely provide extra sources of water for the first few days. Others will allow water to run continuously to attract them to the sound. No additives should be added to the water until a regular drinking pattern has been established.

Fresh feed should be provided as soon as possible. Initial eating patterns will vary among calves, so it is entirely possible some will not eat anything for a few days. Therefore, it is reasonable to provide smaller amounts of feed in several locations on a frequent basis. A 500-lb calf requires more than 10 pounds of feed dry matter daily to gain any weight, so recovery of shrink losses and positive gains are dependent on the calf eating as soon as possible.

The interaction of the nutritional status and the environment of the calf plays an important role in the possible onset of disease. There is considerably less rumen function in the stressed calf. Even if the animal eats regularly, the upset of digestive action prevents the calf from making use of feed to provide needed resistance to disease, as well as grow and gain weight. The return of optimal rumen function is a slow process; thus, even when good eating patterns have been established, it may still take 2 weeks to regain the shrink and begin making positive gains. Secondly, a Texas study has shown that not all animals eat every day after arrival. They reported only 22% of their calves ate the first day, and this value had only increased to 57% by the third day. The obvious result of this pattern is a lack of nutrients being available for growth and production. While most rations will be balanced for protein, vitamins, energy, and minerals, they are generally based on optimum intake levels. When intake is restricted, as in the case of the stressed calf, poor nutrition results. Therefore, it is advisable to provide smaller portions of feed highly concentrated with protein, minerals, and vitamins. Neither should the feed contain antibiotics as this will further depress rumen function.

Stressed calves show a reversal in eating habits compared to the unstressed calf. When offered diets varying in energy concentration, the stressed calf will consume one containing about 72% concentrates, while the unstressed calf will eat one that is only about 63% concentrates according to one study. However, these studies and others have also shown that, as the percentage of concentrates in the diet goes up from 50 to 90%, so does the incidence of disease. When comparing the cost of treatment versus increased production from the higher energy diets, most reports have found the added gains

Top Acres Tops Brown Swiss Contest At All American

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — In her second appearance at the Pennsylvania All American, Top Acres Sterling Lolly was tapped by judge Steve Hendress to be the 25th Pennsylvania All American senior and grand champion Brown Swiss female.

Owned by Wayne Sliker and Associates of Top Acres in St. Paris, Ohio, Lolly was the winning junior yearling at last year's show. In addition, she was the grand champion at the 1988 Ohio State Fair. Top Acres acquired Lolly at the Review Royale in April, where she was the highest-selling Brown Swiss bred heifer.

Another Top Acres cow, Top Acres Stretchy Jade ET, was the show's reserve senior and grand champion. The six-year-old cow was sired by Welcome In Stretch out of Blumfield Acres Jewel. In her latest lactation she recorded 17,740 pounds of milk and 5.0 butterfat.

The summer yearling heifer shown by K-Land Farm in Streetsboro, Ohio, was selected as the reserve junior champion. Glenn Heritage Jade Ashly also was sired by Bridge View Elegand Jade ET and she is out of Glenn Heritage Titan Angel.

Three Year Old Is Champion All American Milking Shorthorn

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — A three-year old owned by a partnership of three farms, Innisfail Lobelia 72D-EXP was named the grand champion female of the Milking Shorthorn competition at the Pennsylvania All American Show.

Lobelia 72D-EXP is owned by Pinehurst Farm in Daleville, Ill.; Wiedner Prairie Farm in Dalton City, Ill.; and Oakgrove Farms in Albin, Texas. She was the top-selling consignment at this year's National Milking Shorthorn Sale, and the partnership paid $5,400 for her, sight unseen.

"We bid on the 'pick of the herd' lot at the sale," said Mike Reed, owner of Pinehurst Farm. "The lot was offered by Innisfail Farm in Davis, Calif."

Lobelia 72D-EXP is part of the breed's genetic expansion program: her dam, Innisfail Lobelia 70TH, is half Holstein and a third-generation Excellent. Lobelia 72D-EXP coincidentally was bred by the show's judge, Stuart Rowe, who consulted with an impartial party on her judging. She also was named grand champion at the Illinois and Indiana State Fairs this year.

The three-year old is an Elwood S V Promise daughter. She has a 364-day record of 16,270 pound of milk and 494 pounds of butterfat.

Pinesedge Alfair Carleen, no stranger to championship titles, was selected as the reserve grand champion Milking Shorthorn. The Excellent-rated, aged cow is owned by Pinesedge Farm of Shoemakersville, Pa. She is an 11-year-old Pinesedge Rhythm daughter out of Pinesedge Dar Carleen. Among her wins include several grand champion honors at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, the 1983 grand champion at the World Dairy Expo and several grand championships at the Pennsylvania All American.

The junior champion female was the senior heifer calf shown by Trudy York of Sandy River Farms in Farmington, Me. The November '87 heifer is a Class Reunion daughter out of Sandy River Martha.

Taking the reserve junior champion spot was the second-place senior heifer calf. A 9-23-87 Wilwood Mr. Madison daughter out of Ritchie's Royal Vashti 2, the heifer is owned by Scott A. Ritchie of Muncie, Ind.

Take The Guesswork Out Of Heifer Rations

Young's Herd Replacement program works because it provides proper nutrition from birth to breeding to milking.

A key ingredient in our nutrition package is Heifer-Gro ™ B (a mineral/vitamin premix with BOVATEC®).

WHY INCLUDE HEIFER-GRO B IN YOUR HERD REPLACEMENT NUTRITION PROGRAM?

- Because it contains all the minerals and vitamins needed by fast growing calves.
- Bovatec (lasalocid) improves growth rate in dairy replacement heifers of all ages and weights and fed all kinds of diets.
- Breeding maturity (puberty) is influenced more by body weight than by age.
- Reaching breeding weight earlier enables dairy replacement heifers to be bred earlier and enter the milk line sooner.
- Bovatec is the only feed additive approved to:
  — Control coccidiosis
  — Improve growth rate from the day the calf is born.

attending the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives, held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Sheraton West. Theme for the meeting was, 'Cooperation in a Changing Environment."

Keynote speaker was Dr. Bruce Anderson, associate professor in the department of agricultural economics at Cornell University, and a specialist in ag cooperative research and extension. Dr. Anderson has also taught and conducted related research at the Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences, working with Swedish and Finnish agricultural cooperatives.

"Cooperatives have great potential; they should be a dominant agricultural force. But we must appreciate them for today, not for what they've done in the past," Dr. Anderson emphasized.

He recommended that ag cooperatives include non-member directors on their boards for specialized expertise, form mutually useful partnerships with non-cooperative entities and offer differential pricing as justified.

Prime responsibility of any cooperative, says the Cornell specialist, is to expand the market for the member-owners products and ultimately earn financial returns. Too many farmers, he adds, do not really want their cooperatives to make money.

Member-owners must likewise accept their foremost responsibility in the democratic structure of cooperative principles--to express their opinions on the operations and direction of their cooperative.

Changes challenging cooperative leadership are in the markets, economic factors and numbers of members. Cooperatives are dealing with excess plant capacity, foreign ownership, corporate buy-outs of traditional family business, heavy competition and over investment in costly member services.

Other factors of change include decreasing membership and diminishing loyalty to cooperatives. Producers and their cooperatives are often unable to exert real market power due to disunity

Break-out sessions which followed Dr. Anderson's address further focused on challenges and changes. Topics included the issues of biotechnology, agrichemicals and groundwater, and adapting in a competitive environment.

The Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives (PAFC) recognized a cooperative leader and a vocational agriculture teacher at its annual meeting September 27 at the Harrisburg Sheraton-West.

Dr. Randall Torgerson, administrator of the Agricultural Cooperative Service, an agency of the US Department of Agriculture, received the prestigious PAFC Distinguished Service Award, and Donald McNutt, Berks County vocational agriculture teacher, received the PAFC Master Educator' Award at the awards banquet, Tuesday evening.

Torgerson has been a lifelong advocate of the cooperative business system, state cooperative councils and cooperative education. He is an internationally recognized educator, researcher and author on cooperatives.

Presenting the award was the 1987 recipient, Robert Pardoe, PAFC treasurer. He noted that Torgerson is a past executive secretary of the Missouri Institute of Cooperatives and helped establish the Graduate Institute of Cooperative Leadership at the University of Missouri.

PAFC Executive Director Kathy Gill presented the Master Educator Award to McNutt, who was recognized for his commitment to youth leadership development and cooperative education. She noted that his initial exposure to cooperatives occurred at the 1968 Agway annual meeting, when as an FFA'er he attended the meeting in his father's stead.

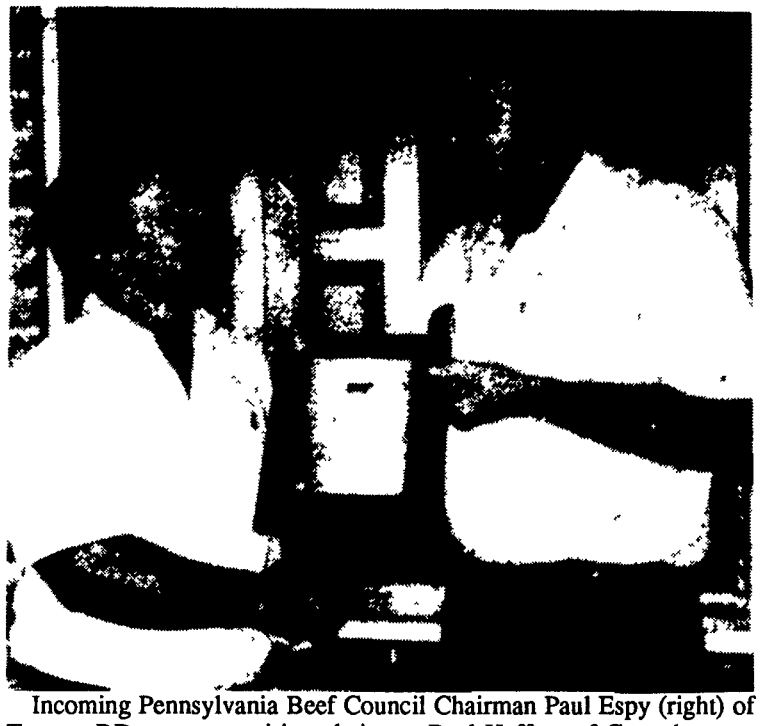
After graduating from Penn State University with a master's degree in agricultural education, McNutt taught at Lower Dauphin and Cedar Crest before joining Conrad Weiser 11 years ago. He is co-advisor for the FFA Club and very active in PAFC youth education programs.

Also at the banquet, American Institute of Cooperative President David Thomas spoke about the need for a new partnership between land grant universities and agribusiness. He also emphasized the need for cooperative education as today's cooperatives begin a transition to a third generation of owners.

Past recipients of the Distinguished Service Award include Robert Reich, Northeastern Farm Credit; Hal Doran and Gale Miller, Penn State University; Wallace Dunlap, former PAFC administrative director; George Steele, Agway; and Harold Ely, Dairylea. The Master Educator Award was revived in 1985; Don Robinson, Eastern Lancaster School District; Dr. James E. Honan, Rutgers University and past general manager of Inter-State Milk Producers; and Russell Redding; former Pennsylvania vocational activities coordinator, are the most recent recipients.

The Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives is a trade association representing almost 40 rural and agricultural cooperatives contributing more than $3 billion to the economy of the Commonwealth each year.

Beef Service Award



Incoming Pennsylvania Beef Council Chairman Paul Espy (right) of Tyrone, RD presents retiring chairman Paul Heffner of Gettysburg an award for "outstanding service to the Pennsylvania cattle industry while guiding the development of the new beef and veal promotion education and research programs during 1986 - 1988." This new program is paid for by beef, dairy and veal producers under the Beef Promotion and Research Act.

The presentation was made at a recent Pennsylvania Beef Council Board of Directors meeting in Harrisburg.

McCleary Wins Home/Handy Contest

HARRISBURG — Winner of the first Home Built and Handy Contest at the 25th Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is Real McCleary of Elkton, Maryland. His Safety Pin Latch won the judges' approval and $500.

The judges commented that many farmers have wagons and a safety latch is critical. The device also won over the other entries because it is something anyone can make in just a few minutes in the average farm shop. Latches or bolts used for attaching the trailer to the tractor or truck can't jump out when the safety latch is in place. The concept is simple, effective, and easy to adapt on any farm.

Second place and $300 went to Hans Heyer of Towanda, Bradford County, for his Fruit and Berry Receiver. This simple device speeds berry picking. Heyer had a whole line of such devices at the display. As with the first place winner, simplicity and practicality won the day for his invention.

Third place and $200 went to George Moyer of Myerstown, Lebanon County, for his Sickle Knife Holder. The home built jig makes it possible to sharpen sickle blades with a hand held grinder. This is faster and safer than using a bench grinder. It also makes for a better sharpening job.

Honorable mention goes to Jonas Stoltzfus of Loysville, Perry County, for his Sostol Bale Grabber. It's used with a skid-loader to take large round bales up to four high.

The contest was sponsored by Pennsylvania Farmer Magazine, Ohio Farmer Magazine and American Agriculturalist. Editors from the three magazines posted a total of $1,000 for this contest as part of the 25th anniversary celebration of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show at the Farm Show Complex.

Stoltzfus Garners Top Honors At New Holland Swine Show

BY LISA RISSER

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster) — The clean-topped, heavy-skeletoned DeKalb gilt shown by second-year 4-H'er Clark Stoltzfus captured the grand champion title at the New Holland Fair on Thursday. Hours later the 259-pound champion caught Doug Clemens' eye as well when the Hatfield Packing representative purchased it for $4.20 per pound.

Sheldon Hoover sold his reserve grand champion hog to John Wagner of White Oak Mills for 2.60 per pound or $585.

Clark, the nine-year-old son of Ike and Julie Stoltzfus of Gordonville, plans to bank his total earnings from his this, his first grand champion.

Another nine-year-old, Sheldon Hoover, drove his Berkshire-cross gilt to the reserve champion spot of the show. Judge Jim Parlett, a York County swine breeder, liked the hog's length, leanness, and depth of muscle. The son of Lloyd and Elaine Hoover of Leola, Sheldon has been showing pigs for two years and this is his first brush with championship.

John Wagner of White Oak Mills also liked the winning form of the reserve champion, bidding $2.60 per pound for the 225-pound animal.

Other buyers at the swine sale included Maus Catering, Stoltzfus Meats, Blue Ball National Bank, Willie the Butcher, Yoder's Country Market, and Farmersville Equipment.

Veteran, Beginner Top New Holland Lamb, Beef Shows

William Kreider, or Willie the Butcher as he is commonly known as, purchased Kristin Chupp's grand champion lamb for $3.50 per pound.

Red, Fred Weaver's reserve grand champion steer, was sold to John Yoder, right, of Yoder's Country Market for $1.30 per pound.

BY LISA RISSER

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster) — A veteran sheep and steer exhibitor took home the purple rosette from the New Holland market lamb show, while the winning steer was led by a relative beginner.

Kristin Chupp, a senior at Garden Spot High School, exhibited a stylish 125-pound Suffolk named Jack that was judged to be the grand champion of its show. The 17-year-old daughter of Larry and Barb Weaver, Chupp later sold her prize-winning lamb to Willie the Butcher (William Kreider) for $3.50 per pound.

Flipside, already a champion steer, won the day once again for Casey High, 10, the son of Larry and Mae High of Lititz. The 1,300-pound purebred Angus was slapped as grand champion by judge Brian Fitzgerald at the New Holland Fair's beef show, going one title better than the Lancaster County 4-H Fair where the animal was reserve grand champion.

High, a second-year 4-H'er, sold his champion to Elwood Martin of Shady Maple Farm Market for $2,015 or $1.55 per pound.

Veteran showman Fred Weaver of Ephrata led a 1,280-pound Angus-Maine Anjou-Chiania cross named Red to reserve grand champion honors. Weaver, the son of Carol and Roy Weaver, purchased the steer at Wolfe Farms in Indiana because the price was right. "When I got him home and cleaned him up, he looked pretty good so I kept him instead of selling him to someone else."

The steer attracted John Yoder's attention at the sale, where the animal was sold for $1.30 per pound.

The 130-pound lamb shown by Laura Folker, the 16-year-old daughter of Tony and Edith Folker of New Holland, was the reserve grand champion of the fair. Folker, a member of the Grassland FFA chapter, sold her animal to Terry Kreider of Dauphin Deposit Bank in New Holland for $3 per pound.

Other buyers at the steer and lamb sale include Stoltzfus Meats, Agri Corp, Dutch Wonderland, and Dunlaps.

Reams Of Paper Work Needed For Drought Relief

BY KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

Farmers who've suffered serious drought losses can begin to file this week for government payments under the special drought assistance program authorized by Congress in August, if they can wade their way through the reams of required paperwork.

Officials at county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, who were briefed on the program's final details last week, will begin processing applications Monday, Oct. 3, according to Alarie Fleming, a program specialist in the state ASCS office in Harrisburg, Pa. There's no rush, however. The deadline for submitting applications is March 31, 1989.

The temporary new program is the centerpiece of the drought relief package Congress approved in early August, when drought and searing heat still gripped much of the nation. Late-season rains, while a help to some crops, are not expected to change the eligible status of hundreds of farmers across the Mid-Atlantic region.

Basically, the program will provide payments -- in cash, not commodity certificates -- to any farmer who can document losses of 35 percent or more from the yield normally harvested. It doesn't matter whether or not he is located in a county that has obtained a disaster designation from federal government officials.

Local ASCS officials will determine the amount of assistance available by farm and by crop, Fleming noted. That means a farmer could qualify for payments on a particularly poor corn crop even if his losses when considering all crops are less than 35 percent. Similarly, he might qualify for a loss on one farm he crops, but not on another. This procedure represents a change from the way eligibility is determined in the Emergency Feed and Emergency Feed Assistance programs, two longstanding programs for drought-damaged livestock producers that also are being offered to eligible farmers this year.

The assistance is available on all harvestable crops, including hay, fruits and vegetables, Fleming said. Larry Neal, a Virginia state ASCS official, said he's heard of a farmer who will seek payments for losses on his watercress crop.

There are two levels of assistance. Farmers with losses between 35 and 75 percent will receive compensation for 65 percent of the value of the missing crop. Losses in excess of 75 percent quality for compensation at a 90-percent level.

The prices paid for so-called "program crops" -- such as wheat, corn and the other feed grains which the government pays farmers not to grow -- will be the 1988 target prices for participants in the current acreage reduction programs and county loan rates for non-participants. The difference is substantial. The corn target price, set nationally, is $2.97. County loan rates for corn range from $1.92 to $2.14 across Pennsylvania, Fleming said.

(In addition, non-participants will face a reduction equal to the percent of the set-aside required for participants in a particular crop program, such as 20 percent in the case of corn, according to Maryland ASCS official Marilyn Warner.)

The prices paid on non-program crops (which include soybeans) are being set by state ASCS officials using average yearly data from the Agricultural Statistic Service, where available, or other sources. Fleming said the price paid for alfalfa hay in Pennsylvania is likely to be about the $100-ton averge recorded in 1987.

Non-program crop yields -- the basis for determining the extent of losses this year -- are being set in similar fashion, although in many cases these will be differentiated by county, Fleming said.

Farmers do not have to use these average yields as their own if they can document normal yields that are higher. But they will need at least three years worth of data to do so, Neal said.

Corn is expected to be the crop for which most area farmers will qualify for benefits, Fleming said. Even livestock producers who harvest their corn acres for silage might qualify, provided they had ASCS personnel perform a crop appraisal before they harvested or on a test strip left unharvested. Farmers applying for benefits who failed to do this will have a drought yield assigned to them by the county ASCS committee.

Documentation of this year's harvest totals, whether through weight tickets, sales slips or other means, comprises a crucial portion of the paperwork applicants will have to fill out. Form 578, known as a "crop acres report," is another requisite for which others may have to pay $20 to file late. This paperwork will be burdensome, ASCS officials said, so few farmers should expect to receive checks the day they first go into their ASCS offices.

Several limitations apply. The total amount of assistance rendered cannot exceed $100,000 ($50,000 per year in the case of the emergency feed programs). To receive assistance, a farmer must be in compliance with the sodbuster and swampbuster provisions of the 1985 farm bill. Although farmers can receive benefits under both the emergency feed programs and the drought assistance program, they cannot receive double payments for the same loss, Warner said. Likewise, farmers who receive crop insurance benefits for drought losses may find that they count against the total received from the other programs.

George Demeree Is RCMA Presidential Candidate

LITITZ (Lancaster) — George Demeree, who has owned and operated a dairy farm in Little Falls, NY for 32 years has announced that he is running for president of RCMA.

George feels there are four main areas of concern:

——1. RCMA has to get more aggressive.

——2. RCMA should have a farmer with no other major commitments leading the organization.

——3. The formation of volunteer dairy farmers known as the RCMA army which could be used whenever needed.

——4. Immediate attention to a nationwide class II pricing structure.

George would like the opportunity to address all the co-op delegate meetings this fall and seeks the grassroots support of all dairy farmers in the northeast.

George Demeree of Little Falls, NY, dairyman, has announced that he is a candidate for the President's position of RCMA.

All American Breed Sales Reported

HARRISBURG — The All-American Brown Swiss Sale was held Monday evening in the small arena of the Farm Show Complex. Twenty-nine registered Brown Swiss cattle averaged $1,122 per head to buyers from five different states.

The high selling animal was a three-year-old cow consigned by Rita Kennedy of Butler. Robert and Joyce Wagner of Quarryville, Lancaster County, paid $3,000 for "VG-89".

The second highest price of $2,450 was paid by Donald and Deborah Moore of Maryland for a two-year-old consigned by Warren Schroer of New Knoxville, Ohio.

The top selling bred-heifer and third overall was "Shady Creek J.D. Starbirght," the All-American nominee for 1987. King and Queen Farm of Denver, Lancaster County, paid $1,800 to Michael Kunkle of Jonestown, Lebanon County.

Dennis Daubert of Pine Grove, who served as co-chairman for the sale, commented, "It was a good sale with very good quality animals."

Milking Shorthorn

An average of $775 was realized at the Milking Shorthorn Sale on Monday, held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

The top animal was purchased by well-known Pennsylvania Holstein breeder John Foster Jr. of Huntingdon County for $2,050. "Three Springs B.R. Jewel," a 3-year-old, was consigned by James Young of Newville.

The second highest bid of the day came from David Whiting of Edenburg. He spent $1,435 for "RACB KA Samurai," a 3-year-old consigned by Greg Kline of Rocky Ridge, Maryland.

Selling at $875 for the third highest price of "U of Minn Pacesetter Bea," consigned by Sam Yoder of Shoemakersville. An aged cow, she went to John Kuszlyk's farm near Batavia, New York.

Billed as the All-American Eastern Classic Milking Shorthorn Sale, the event was co-managed by Jim Young of Newville and Dick Kline of Rocky Ridge, Maryland. Art Kling of Landisburg was the auctioneer and Same Yoder read the pedigrees.

Ayrshire

The Pennsylvania Elite Ayrshire Sale, held at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show on Tuesday afternoon, was a crowd pleaser. Organizers said it was a good event, with prices being strong throughout most of the auction. Thirty-three head averaged $818 in the sale.

Topping the sale was "Ardrossan Super Piece of Gold," a 2-year-old consigned by Ardrossan Farms. She was sold to Henry Muller of Neshanic, New Jersey, for $2,100.

Bringing the second highest bid of the sale, at $1,550 was "Anchor Mere Lib's Bluette," a 4-year-old consigned by Jule Forrest of Culpepper, Virginia. She was purchased by Raymond Divilbiss Jr. of Clear Spring, Maryland.

The third highest bid of the day came from Pennsylvania Ayrshire breeders Earl Keefer and Donald Shetterly. They paid $1,500 for "Piney Grove Premier Donene," a 4-year-old consigned by Mr. & Mrs. Harry Hedrick of Parkton, Maryland.

Ten of the 33 animals sold went to two buyers. Mentzer Homestead Farm of New Holland purchased five head for a total of $4,000, and Gary Willier of Lititz had the high bid on five others for a total of $2,250.

The sale was managed by Landini Auction Service of Greenwood, Wisconsin, in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Association's sale committee.

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® feeder can free you from your chains

We have probably been too modest up to now about the merits of our new generation ULTRAFLO® cage feeder vs. the old style chain feeders some of our competitors are still trying to sell you. In fact, the only negative comments about our feeder come from our competition, not our customers. So we would like to point out the bare facts:

FEED SAVINGS: On-farm results show a feed savings of ½ lb. per 100 birds per day – over $10,000 per year savings on a 100,000-bird house Year after year.

TROUBLE-FREE DESIGN: Our feeder has only two moving parts – the one-piece auger plus each drive wheel; their chain has more. Our corners are heavy 12 ga. zinc plated tubing for long life; their corners have a reputation for trouble and short life

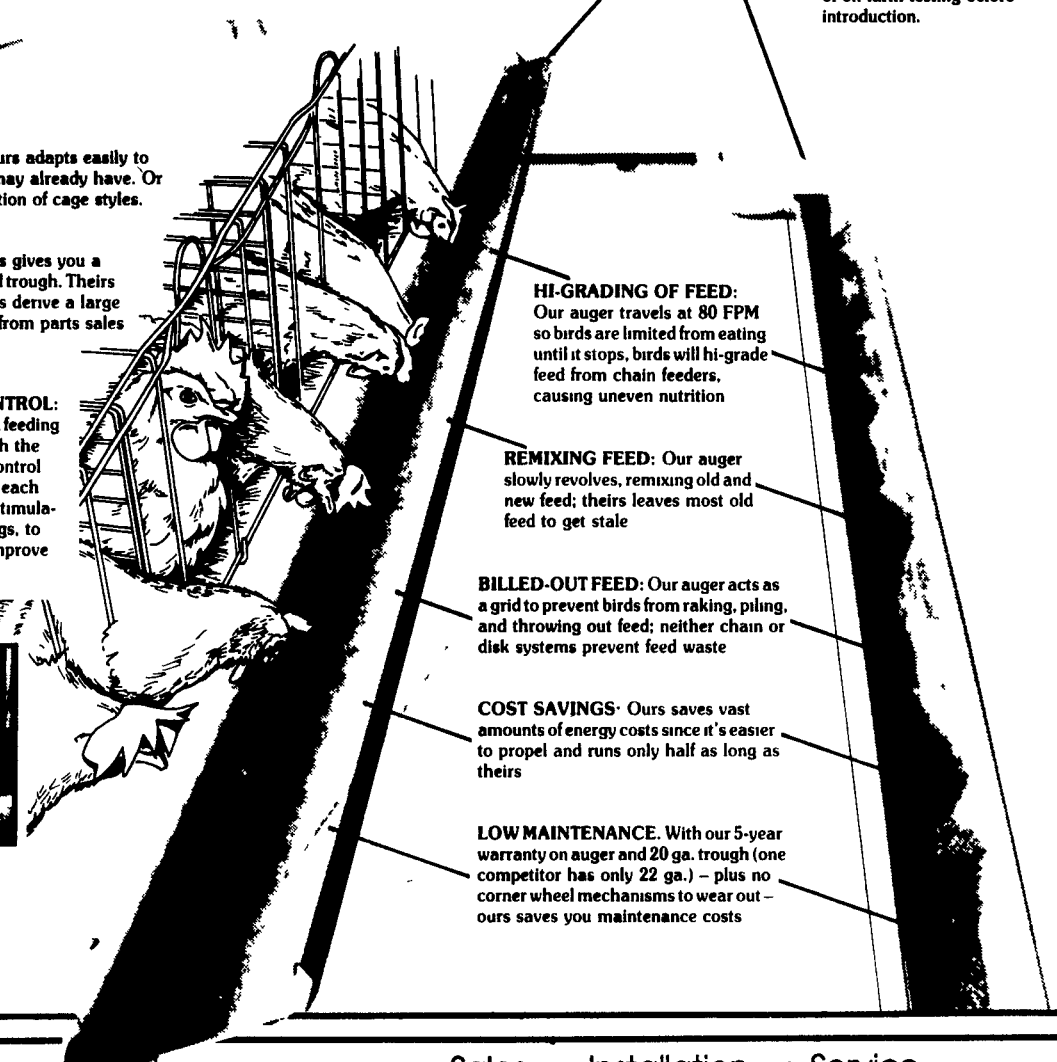
PROVEN DESIGN: Over 10 million birds are already on our feeder worldwide Also, it was proven in 5 years of on-farm testing before introduction.

EASY ADAPTABILITY: Ours adapts easily to existing cage systems you may already have. Or choose from our wide selection of cage styles.

5-YEAR WARRANTY: Ours gives you a 5-year warranty on auger and trough. Theirs doesn't. In fact, their dealers derive a large percentage of their income from parts sales Ours don't.

MICROPROCESSOR CONTROL: Our control lets you program feeding time to the second, to match the exact time of one circuit. Control number of feedings, time of each feeding – also 10-second "Stimulation Cycles" between feedings, to minimize separation, and improve your birds' feed intake

SIMPLE OPERATION: "Push-pull" Power Units with ⅓ or ½ HP motor are located in a cage, have hardened steel gears for trouble-free operation



HI-GRADING OF FEED: Our auger travels at 80 FPM so birds are limited from eating until it stops, birds will hi-grade feed from chain feeders, causing uneven nutrition

REMIXING FEED: Our auger slowly revolves, remixing old and new feed; theirs leaves most old feed to get stale

BILLED-OUT FEED: Our auger acts as a grid to prevent birds from raking, piling, and throwing out feed; neither chain or disk systems prevent feed waste

COST SAVINGS· Ours saves vast amounts of energy costs since it's easier to propel and runs only half as long as theirs

LOW MAINTENANCE. With our 5-year warranty on auger and 20 ga. trough (one competitor has only 22 ga.) – plus no corner wheel mechanisms to wear out – ours saves you maintenance costs

If we were less concerned about how our products perform for you, we could cut our research - or do a lot less.

Our investment in 2,700 acres - and in livestock, buildings, equipment and people - isn't to be sneezed at.

Neither is the investment in our research laboratories and the people who work in them. Nor what it takes to run a field-research program on cooperating farms and ranches in many states.

But cutting corners in research and in other ways wouldn't make much sense. It isn't the price per ton you pay for MoorMan's Mintrate® or Premix-trate® that counts - it's how efficiently these highly concentrated MoorMan Products can help you turn grain and roughage into growth, gains or milk.

Crills Shows West Lampeter Fair Swine, Sheep Champs

BY LISA RISSER

LAMPETER (Lancaster) — Gary Crills had a feeling his 125-pound heavyweight lamb was something special. Judge Don Mayer confirmed this when he chose the Hampshire-Suffolk lamb as the grand champion of the West Lampeter Fair on Wednesday.

About four hours later Crills was in the winner's circle again, this time with the grand champion swine.

Crills, who has been showing lambs for six years and pigs for two years, also showed last year's grand champion lamb at Lampeter. The son of Harvey and Annamary Crills in Ephrata, Gary next will show his champion lamb at the Manheim Fair next week.

Friday night, however, was the last public appearance for Crills' DeKalb gilt. On that night, the 215-pound hog and the other 100 swine were sold at auction as were the show's beef animals.

Charger, Wendall Landis' light heavyweight lamb was chosen for the fair's reserve grand champion lamb. The lamb, also to be shown at the Manheim Fair, was considered by the 12-year old as having a good chance "because it's a pretty complete package."

Landis, the son of Abe and Dottie Landis of Manheim, has been showing lambs for three years and showed the grand champion at last year's Lancaster County 4-H Roundup.

Sixteen-year-old Laura Folker exhibited a 240-pound barrow that judge Henry Gruber named as reserve grand champion of the show. Folker, who has been showing for nine years, also showed the grand champion hog at this years Elizabethtown Fair.

The daughter of Tony and Edith Folker of New Holland, Laura attributes part of her Hampshire-Duroc's championship form to the feed she gets from Tom Weidman of Farm Crest Feeds.

A partial list of the placings from both shows follows.

The grand champion lamb at the West Lampeter Fair was shown by Gary Crills of Ephrata. The champion lamb now goes on to the Manheim Fair for competition.

Clean water is one of the major priority areas of DER's environmental agenda. Legislation has been introduced that would require all farmers to have nutrient management plans by 1989 and to implement those plans by 1994. In Lancaster County a model oridnance has been developed by the Conservation District for use by local municipalities to require permits for new livestock operations and expansion of existing livestock operations. The basis of these permits would be a satisfactory nutrient management plan which balances the nutrients from manure and fertilizer applied to farmland. The nutrient needs of the particular crop grown on the farmland would be the basis for the application.

"These initiatives illustrate both the growing recognition that a serious problem exists, and that a resolve to deal with the problem is evident," Swartz said. It is note worthy that improving the relationship between agriculture and environmental regulators was identified as a major objective by a special agricultural task force created by Governor Casey.

"The big problem in Pennsylvania is people," Swartz concluded. "The way that agriculture functions today does not easily integrate with people. You can't farm on one side of the road and have the city on the other side. There are too many problems with odors, dust and chemicals. I honestly believe that the whole problems boils down to a people problem. The answer is going to come when the rural people decide what they can put up with and still farm, and the other side, the people will decide what they can put up with as far as the farmers are concerned. If they can't hit an accommodation, then the farmers are going."

MA Animal Welfare

Another speaker on the opening program at the two-day conference was John Bragg, Director of Governmental Relations, Massachusetts Farm Bureau. Bragg discussed the animal welfare situation on the ballot as a referendum in Massachusetts this fall. "Farms are under direct attack," Bragg said. "We have the job of educating 2.5 million Massachusetts voters in the next six weeks. Because of the nature of the wording of this referendum, the question is very difficult for us to defeat."

Bragg said the question got on the ballot by asking if city-oriented people were in favor of humane treatment of animals. Of course, everyone is. But the implementation of the law, as set forth in the bill, would put livestock farmers out of business.

In other discussions in the morning session, Dr. Milton Madison, Associate Professor, Ag Economics, Penn State University, said he was looking for supply and demand to become more equalized in the coming year. But that pressure would be on profits, because of the sharp increase in feed costs. Dr. Madison predicted that last quarter prices for broilers to be 65 cents and to average 70 cents in 1989. He said turkey prices for the fourth quarter would average 80 cents and 75 cents in 1989. For eggs he expects 75-80 cents average for the last quarter and an average of 70 cents in 1989. The low-cholesterol eggs that are now being advertised and studied by USDA will not have an immediate effect on egg prices in the immediate future because of the time needed to do the testing. But preliminary reports from USDA show that average eggs have 208 mm instead of 275 mm that has been the USDA standard. Fat also is down in the new testing reports, down to 5 grams from 6 grams. "All this will cause a new look at the promotion and advertising of eggs," Madison said.

David Feinberg, Area Director, Wage and Hour Division, U.S. Department of Labor, discussed the implications of the hourly wage laws as they affect agriculture. William Schlotterbeck chaired the meeting.

High Named National Collegiate Award Winner

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks) — The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Larry Dean High has been named a United States National Collegiate Award winner in Dairy Science. This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American college students.

Larry Dean High, who graduated from Delaware Valley College was nominated for this National Award by Dr. John Plumber, a professor at the school. Larry Dean will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Collegiate Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy. The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of professors, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a professor or director.

and better feed efficiency of the more concentrated diets more than offset added treatment costs.

Studies at Ohio, Penn State, and Michigan have shown 400-500 lb. calves gained adequately on starter diets of corn silage and soybean meal. A New Mexico study indicated an optimum performance level by using oat hay for 7 days free choice with a 75% concentrate diet fed for 4 weeks. Another recommended diet is 1% of the body weight as ground ear corn and free choice access to alfalfa/brome hay.

There are mixed results on the most effective source of protein in starter diets. An Oklahoma study found cottonseed meal was not as readily consumed as soybean meal, and smaller pellet sizes (3/16 in.) were more effective than larger ones or cube-type forms. Urea supplements will often result in decreased gains and feed efficiency when added to corn silage starter diets.

The stressed calf is often dehydrated to some degree. Studies with starter diets which included supplemental potassium or sodium bicarbonate have indicated the addition of these minerals will improve feed intake and daily gains in the early part of the feeding period. Penn State research has shown the addition of 1% sodium bicarbonate with and without additional limestone tended to improve daily gain for the first 28 days on feed.

Vitamins are also important nutrients to feeder cattle. Vitamin A requirements are increased during stress, and supplemental vitamin A can be added to the diet at 40,000-60,000 I.U. per day. Because consumption may be reduced, it may be more effective to provide additional vitamin A with an injection of 1 million I.U. upon arrival. Supplemental B-vitamins have been shown to reduce the effects of stress and result in faster initial gains, better feed efficiency, and reduced morbidity.

Implanting calves with anabolic steroids has also been found to alleviate stress.

Land Of Living Dominates National Guernsey Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — "Those of you who are breeding Guernseys can be very proud of yourselves and you can give yourselves a big pat on the back;" said Robert Griggs of Mustang, Oklahoma, the National Guernsey Show judge.

Griggs judged the Guernsey show which is held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy show five years ago and he added that the quality of the classes was so much deeper in this year's show.

Griggs was especially impressed with the outstanding class of three-year-olds.

"This is the most outstanding class of animals which I have ever been privileged to judge. The pair at the top is exceptionally close," said Griggs.

It was from this class which Griggs pulled his grand and reserve grand champions.

Land of the Living Farm in Ohio exhibited more first place Guernseys than any other exhibitor of the show. The premier breeder, premier exhibitor banners as well as the first placed exhibitor's herd went to John, Bonnie and Eli Ayars, owners of Land of the Living Farm.

Griggs pulled their 3-year-old, Guerndale Butchs Carol, "the cow with it all, " said Griggs, for his National Guernsey Show grand champion. Carol is the daughter of Guerndale Jupiters Butch and Guerndale Jigs Chris.

Crown Stone Farm, owned by William Schnebly of Clear Springs, Maryland, captured the two championships of the show. Again Griggs went to the exceptional 3-year-old class to make Crown Stone Jupiter Orchid the grand champion of the junior show and this daughter of Lone Palm T H Jupiter and Crown Stone Premier Kerry also took the reserve grand championship of the open show.

Brian Schnebly exhibited Orchid which was bred by his father, William. Orchid is Brian's 4-H project and he took the reserve grand title last year at the National Guernsey show in Harrisburg and has taken a championship in more than half of the shows he has shown in this summer.

Junior champion of the open show went to Land of the Living Farm's Land of Living Jack Ruffles and the reserve junior was won by Walnut Corner Farm's Maple Lane Fayette Angel from Danville, Illinois.

In the Junior Show the reserve grand went to Four Winds Fayette Bestiny from the Four Winds Farm of Christina J. Vilter from Hartland, Wisconsin. Dale Mummert exhibited Bestiny for Vilter. Lori Campbell of the Keystone Guernsey Farm in Halifax, Pa., took the junior championship with Keystone Austin Amy.

It was Jenelle Boyer of Sunnybend Farm in York, Pa. who captured the reserve junior title with Golden Lock Fayette Tex Gretel. Sunnybend Farm is known to most breeders for its quality Holsteins, but a Guernsey calf won at a picnic gave Jenelle her start in this colored breed.

Meet The PA Pork All-American Couple

nized for their contribution to the industry, their families and their communities. Only one pork producer from each selected state is chosen annually.

Burkholders operate a farrow to finish operation of 100 sows. An average 10.8 pigs are farrowed per litter with an average birth weight of 3.5 pounds. The piglets are weaned at three weeks of age with 9.2 pigs weaned at an average weight of 13.5 pounds.

About 1,400 finished hogs are marketed per year; he sells the balance as feeders. All market and feeder hogs are checked off in the 100% Legislative Pork Checkoff program.

The farm operation consists of 450-acres on which are located three hog buildings and a grain setup. The facilities consist of 80 gestation crates and breeding pens. There are 24 farrowing crates on woven wire. All manure is handled through a pull plug system, which results in less gas in the building and better growth among hogs.

Concerned with producing the best pork for today's consumers, Steve uses PIC stock for his guilts and boars. He finds that the combination of specialized stock and feed analysis produces a good, lean hog.

So lean, in fact, that their local butcher expresses amazement that there is no fat to trim from their hogs when butchering. It's the pork of today that the consumer demands: Lean, tasty and nutritous.

Steve worked for his father for 25 years before taking over the hog operation in 1985. The Burkholders live on a picturesque farm, a separate facility from their pig operation. The couple completely gutted and remodeled the house. They used red oak trees, cut down on their own property to make the woodwork, doors and shelves.

Although Darlene is employed full time in nursing, she finds time to serve as the national pork women's council director for the state and is a member of several of their committees. Her nursing profession kindles her interest in nutrition; consequently she heads the national diet and health committee for the council. That requires her to update dietitians on pork's progression to a healthy meat.

Darlene's pork promotion is carried through at home where pork is their main meat. She said, "I use ground pork in place of hamburger," she said. "It's very adaptible to almost all recipes calling for ground beef."

Darlene is appalled that many people overcook pork. "People ruin pork. They destroy it by cooking it to death." For juicy, tender pork, it should be cooked only to an internal temperature of 165 to 170 degrees.

Convinced that people who taste properly cooked pork will increase their consumption, Darlene steered the pork promotions efforts into handing out 200 aprons to pork recipe contributors to "Lancaster Farming." In less than two weeks the paper received the 200 quota. Some of these recipes are printed in this issue and the remainder will be printed in upcoming issues.

The Burkholders regret that although the state is one of the largest pork producers nationally, it takes the smallest part in promoting its product.

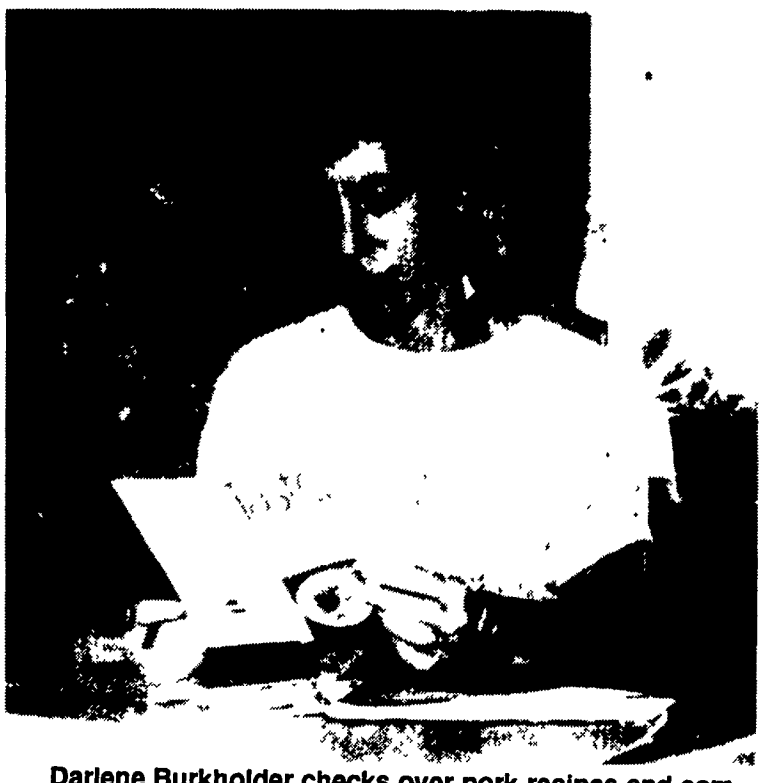
They're out to change that. "We must educate people on the good qualities of pork." Steve said, "The more we do, the more we get out of it."

Steve has been a member of the Eastern Pennsylvania Pork Producers Association for 13 years, and has served as president for four years. He has been a member of the state Pork Producers Council for seven years and president of it for two. In addition to the state and national pork committees the Burkholders work on, Steve also does promotion at such things as the Ag Progress pork stand.

Stephen Burkholder received the PA Pork All-American award from Ray Hankes, president of the National Pork Producers Council.

"We give a lot of time," he said. "It's volunteer work that we don't get a cent for doing, but we believe the more you're involved, the more you get out of life."

With their dedication and hard work, it is not surprising that Steve has been named PA Pork All-American." His name is added to the list of 544 men and women who have been recognized since the program was established in 1970. Only one per state is selected annually. Candidates must be between 25 and 40 years of age. The size and type of the individual's operation is not a determining factor. They are chosen on the basis of their leadership, efficiency, and total contribution to the industry.



Darlene Burkholder checks over pork recipes and compares their nutritive value with other meats. She's convinced pork can't be beat.

Stephen and Darlene Burkholder take a moment to relax in front of their home. Both donate much time and effort into pork promotion.

Maple Dell Farm Excels At Ayrshire Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Maple Dell Farm of Woodbine, Maryland took first place in eight classes of the National Ayrshire Show held Wednesday in Harrisburg at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

The dairyness, sharpness and smooth lines of the head and neck of Maple Dell Farm's 2-year-old won the grand championship of the show. Beaver Creek's Chad's Julie was sired by Maple Dell Chads I R S and the dam is Beaver Creek V Scandals Hazel. Breeder is William and Joy E. Zepp.

Reserve grand champion of the National Ayshire Show went to Maulfair Acres Oracle Dena, an aged cow from Maulfair Acres in Jonestown and owned by Dale Maulfair. Hammonds Oracle is the sire on Dena and the dam is Cove Creek Boys Deb. Breeder on the reserve grand champion is Dale Maulfair.

Junior champion female went to St. Cesaire Princesse 27 from the Sunny Acres Farm from Georgetown in New York. Meredith Liberator was the sire and the dam was St. Cesaire princess 27. Ralph Shank, Jr. was the breeder on this junior champion. In the reserve junior champion position was Maple Dell Swinger's Sally shown by Maple Dell Farm. David Patrick, owner of Maple Dell Farm was the breeder on this champion. Sally was sired by Maple Dell Johnny and the dam was Maple Dell I R S Sarah.

Premier breeder and exhibitor awards went to Maple Dell Farm.

DOEBLER HAS THE SEED CORN
... and the price

By Willard Jones

I'm Willard Jones, Doebler sales manager.

All the fuss about a short seed corn crop this fall is ancient history for anyone who harvested corn this fall.

It just has to be true.

But short supply doesn't have to mean those $80 to $100 prices being talked in the farm press. Not at Doebler's. Not for our customers.

Nor are we going to wait until every last seed company makes up its mind on prices.

Here's what we're doing:

- Our prices are up $1 to $1.50 from last winter and spring prices. It's our first increase since 1984.
- Same cash discounts. That's a 10% saving if you pay dealer by Nov. 12.
- Full volume discounts, too. Up to $5.50 per bushel.

Can Doebler's hold the line on prices? No problem this fall.

Round-the-clock irrigation, hard work and some luck saved our Pennsylvania seed crop. Our midwest crop was a near disaster. But with carryover we estimate our seed supply at 110% of 1988 sales. Underline estimate.

But order immediately to lock in prices and favorite numbers. If 1989 corn acres expand as expected, all seed companies could come up short.

And if you're buying from other seed companies, demand the price before you make the deal. That guarantees no surprises at delivery. Alternatives then could be limited. Remember, most dealers have little influence in determining the price their companies charge.

Will you get the hybrids you ordered?

It's tough to guarantee an order even in a normal year . . . but we're working at it.

Last year one hybrid was oversold in days, long before totals could be run.

Sometimes we find out too late that harvest of a certain number didn't come up to expectations.

We hate it. Customers are unhappy. So are we.

This year we're taking two more steps to correct the problem.

1. Dealers will get quotas on all hybrids in short supply. These will be based on last year's actual sales.
2. The Jersey Shore office will monitor sales of each hybrid daily. A stop order will then go out to all dealers immediately when a hybrid is sold out.

It should help.

Winter crop could boost seed supply

Keep your fingers crossed but Doebler's could have 15,000 to 18,000 more bushels of seed corn by mid-January.

A crop is in the ground along the Rio Grande, and seedlings are coming up.

This is a high-risk venture and we don't want to promise more than we can deliver. Weather, insects and disease could raise havoc.

But the crop will be a real bonus for Eastern farmers if we pull it off. We'll keep you posted.

farm where no effort has been made for control of johnson grass.

—having any crop grown on infested ground remainging on farm where grown.

—having combines working on infested fields be thoroughly cleaned before entering a public road.

—having the owner of rented ground be financially responsible for failure of renter to comply.

Resolution number six (6) to oppose government interference with farm operations including the utilization of agriculture waste was proposed. However, Harold Bryson pointed out to members that while one resolution called for government control the next asked for no government control. Resolution number six did not pass.

Members also passed the resolution stating:

—that if land is taken under eminent domain, the owners of record should have rights guaranteed. Lands not used or that are discontinued to be used for the original purposes should be returned to the owner of record or their heris. This should be returned at original purchase price. Lands signed by eminent domain should be taken by proven need and judged by independent arbitrators.

Farmers heard some good news about their organization from Linda Hix who is in charge of membership. The membership drive has been very successful with 666 memberships renewed and over 300 already paid. Compared to memberships renewed in previous years, Hix said the 1988 membership drive had fantastic results.

That was seconded by Roy Christman of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association State Board who predicted that the Chester-Delaware County Farmers' Association may go over its mark this year. In other business, Christman reported the great success of the association's newest marketing venture to ship cottonseed, distiller's grain and soybeans up the Allegheny River to decrease costs to farmers. However, Christman pointed out that the venture has been too successful because the companies which PFA has contracted to do the actual work have been overwhelmed with the demand from farmers.

"We did our job well and I guess we did it a little too well," said Christman. "We have had a 100 percent increase in moving barges. We have a real good thing going here and we have been contacted by Cargill and some other grain people to work together. It will take more money, but I think things will run a lot smoother if we run it ourselves."

Christman assured the members that although the PFA state board has been discussing insurance coverage with some of the industry's representives, there would be no changes in PFA insurance.

"I am opposed to any changes in insurance. It's my opinion that if something is not broke, why fix it. We have looked into our insurance program, but nothing has happened to our insurance," said Christman.

FAMILIAR WINTER SCENES ON YOUR FARM?

Feeding with a Harvestore System sure beats climbing a silo on a cold winter morning to chop frozen silage!

Daily manure hauling can be a cold, offensive job - and things always break at the worst times. It makes more sense to store that manure in a Slurrystore System until you need it!

THEY DON'T HAVE TO BE!

There's still time for fall erection of a Harvestore® System for forage or a Slurrystore® System to handle manure. We have an excellent inventory of pre-owned structures — some qualifying for 7.95% implicit rate financing with no monthly payments until February 1990!

The results you may achieve with your Harvestore® System depend primarily upon your management skills and may vary from successful results achieved by others. Any application to a particular farming operation requires the advice of qualified experts and is subject to limitations of good management, weather and other conditions present at the individual location.

PA Governor's School For Agriculture Attracts The Best And Brightest Students

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin) — The courses have such names as "Cocoa Molecular Biology," "Gamete Physiology," "Radioisotopes in Agricultural Research," and "Remote Sening and Geographic Information Systems." The students participate in Leadership Development Classes, debate current agricultural issues, hold weekly Senate meetings, and attend eight hours of classes per day.

No, this isn't a Master's Degree program. It's not even an intensive college-level seminar. The students who took these rigorous courses are the high school sophomores and juniors who attended the Pennsylvania Governor's School for Agriculture at Penn State University July 3 through August 6.

The Governor's School for Agriculture, which was first held in 1986, attracts the best and brightest of Pennsylvania's students. The five week school focuses on the policy, science and technology of food, agriculture and natural resources. It is funded by the Pennsylvania Department of Education and the state's intermediate units.

According to the school's promotional literature, students "who have demonstrated exceptional ability in the sciences and who have a high interest in some phase of agriculture" may apply. Applicants are judged on their grade point average; class rank; letters of recommendation from a science teacher, guidance counselor, and one other teacher or person; a personal essay describing the student's interest and experience in food, agriculture or natural resources; SAT and PSAT scores; and the official high school transcript of courses and grades.

In 1988, 63 students were chosen out of 350 applicants. Five of those 63 were from Franklin and Fulton Counties. Attending the school were Kevin Vandervort and Brian Brady from Fulton County and Rick Hissong, Christiana Keener, and Regina Christman from Franklin County.

Only about one-third of this year's Governor's School for Agriculture participants were from farms; many of the non-farm students came from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh suburbs. According to Rick, 17, many suburban kids came for the emphasis on the sciences.

"We used equipment like electron microscopes that four-year graduates of Penn State may not have used," he said.

One of the purposes of the Governor's School is to interest young people in career in the agricultural sciences, whether those young people have a farm background or not. According to the school brochure, there is a critical need for agricultural scientists in today's global economy.

"Some kids might not have given an agricultural career a thought before they came to the school, but they did afterwards," Brian, 18, said.

Kevin, 17, cited grain brokers, who buy and sell futures on agricultural commodities, and people who are involved with the hybridization of seed as people in agricultural careers. "Agriculture is twenty percent of the gross national product," he added.

Of the five participants from Franklin and Fulton Counties, only two, Rick and Regina, have parents who farm full-time. All have some agricultural background, however. Rick, the son of Ronald and Judith Hissong of Mercersburg, is responsible for the family's farm computer and helps out with the shop work, milking and feeding. Regina, 16, daughter of Lakee and Linda Christman, milks and helps with field work on her family's farm near Greencastle. Kevin, while not from a farm, milks and does field and shop work on a farm near his Harrisonville home. Brian does field work on his uncle's dairy farm and helps on his own family's hobby farm in Big Cove Tannery. Christi's family has about ten acres near Chambersburg. She helps with the family's flock of thirty sheep.

Through "core" (required) and elective courses, farm and non-farm students alike got a sampling of such ag-related fields as Forestry, Pest Control and Food Engineering Processes. In one of the elective courses, Wildlife Management, the students learned about Penn State's most recent deer research project. Blue duikers, tiny members of the antelope family and the world's smallest ruminants, are being used in ruminant research. The university maintains a herd of over ninety of the ten to twelve pound animals, which were imported from South Africa. Blue duikers are nearly extinct, according to the students, and are valued at $16,000 apiece.

These Franklin and Fulton County students participated in the 1988 Governor's School for Agriculture held at Penn State this summer. From rear, Brian Brady, Rick Hissong and Christi Keener; and Kevin Vandervort, front.

Besides utilizing the many resources of the Penn State campus, students were also taken on field trips to experience several ag-related industries. They visited a dairy farm with a computerized parlor, a draft horse farm, Woolrich Woolen Mills, Longwood gardens and Hershey Technical Center. At Hershey, the students were admitted to a part of the complex that is usually not open to the public. They learned about the firm's ne wcandy bars and met the creator of the Bar None bar. They also sampled candy at various stages of manufacture.

Another part of the course of study was the Independent Research Project (IRP). Students chose their own topic and were then assigned a professional in that field as their mentor.

Brian's IRP was on "Microbial Activity on Soils." He conducted experiments with greenhouse soil and wrote a ten page paper on how microbes break down fertilizer.

"Influences of Moisture Content on Mechanical Properties of Wood" was Kevin's project. He used a special testing machine to determine how many pounds of force were needed to break wood at three different moisture levels -- saturation, twelve percent moisture, and oven-dry. His paper included ten written pages, eighteen graphs and two charts.

The title of Rick's IRP was "Computer Assisted Land Analysis to Prioritize Land for Farmland Preservation in Lehigh County." In November 1987, $100 million had been approved to purchase land under suburban pressure in Lehigh County. Rick entered information into a computer to create a data base which could determine which tracts of land were under the most suburban pressure. Included in the data base were the value of the land, what crops were grown there, and 210 different soil types. He wrote a ten page paper on his findings.

Christi's IRP, Soil Control, concerned erosion. The information for her ten page paper was gleaned mainly by researching scientific journals.

"The Use of Mulch in Retention of Heat in the Soil" was the title of Regina's IRP. She wrote a ten page paper comparing the efficiency of such mulches as aluminum foil, black plastic, clear plastic, and stones.

Besides turning in a paper, students also had to give a ten minute presentation as part of their IRP. Attending the presentation were the professors, the mentors, and some of the other students. Because Kevin worked with another student on the wood project, he did not have to give his presentation alone, but he was still nervous. "I was shaky," he said.

Despite the scariness of the presentation, Kevin enjoyed working on the IRP. Brian, however, felt differently.

"The worst thing (of the whole five weeks) had to be the IRP," he said. "It took up almost all my free time."

And free time was at a premium. Besides the core courses, the elective classes, and laboratory sessions, there were the required Governor's School Senate meetings on Thursday evenings and various speakers on Monday evenings. Wednesday evenings were set aside for "options night," when students could go to a movie, play sports, or choose other activities.

Busy as the students were, there apparently was ample time for friendships to develop. "The best part was the people," Brian said.

"We met friends that we'll have for a lifetime," Rick added. "By the end we didn't want to leave. We made so many friendships in a short time."

"I go to a big school," Christi, 18, said. "I see the same kids for three years, but I might not know them. At Governor's School, it was a confined group, and the sixty

Now Is The Time To Enjoy Broccoli And Cauliflower And Freeze Some For Winter Meals

A look at fall produce stands shows us that fall has arrived. Two of my favorite fall vegetables are now in plentiful supply - broccoli and cauliflower.

The oldest record of these two vegetables dates back to the sixth century B.C. Cauliflower was found on the London vegetable market as early as 1619 and has been grown for about 200 years in the United States.

Like broccoli, cauliflower did not become a popular vegetable in this country until the last 40 to 45 years. During this time they have become increasingly popular because of their fine appearance and delicate flavor. They have been called the "true aristocrats of the cabbage family." Mark Twain once defined cauliflower as "cabbage with a college education."

Freezing gives you a much better product than canning when it comes to preserving these two vegetables for eating during the coming winter months.

How To Freeze Broccoli. Select dark green, compact heads. Wash and remove leaves and woody portions. Wash again. Cut into 1½ florets. Blanch in salt water (four teaspoons per gallon) for 3 minutes. Or, steam blanch for 5 minutes. Place in ice water for same amount of time. Drain. Package in vapor-moisture-proof containers. Label, date and freeze.

How To Freeze Cauliflower. Choose creamy compact heads that have fresh green outer leaves. Spotting on the white curd indicates that the cauliflower is not as fresh as it might be. Trim away the outer leaves. Break into florets of uniform size, about 1- to 2-inch pieces; wash carefully and drain. Prepare and package the same as broccoli.

Pickled Cauliflower

12 cups of 1- to 2-inch cauliflower florets
4 cups white vinegar (5%)
2 cups sugar
2 cups thinly sliced onion
1 cup diced sweet red pepper
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 teaspoon turmeric
Yield: About 9 half-pints

Wash cauliflower florets and blanch in salt water (4 teaspoons canning salt per gallon of water) for 3 minutes. Cool and drain. Combine vinegar, sugar, onion, diced red pepper, and spices in large saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Distribute onion and diced pepper among jars; pack cauliflower in jars to within ½ inch of top. Add boiling syrup to cover, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process half pints or pints 10 minutes in boiling water bath.

Italian Pickled Broccoli

1 quart cider vinegar
1½ cups water
3 tablespoons mixed pickling spice
1½ tablespoons fresh oregano or 1¼ teaspoons dried
1 tablespoon black peppercorns
6 cloves garlic, slivered
1 cup sugar
5 pounds broccoli, florets and peeled stalks, quartered and cut in 1½ inch sections
2 red bell peppers, seeded and coarsely chopped
2 large onions, sliced

1. In a large kettle combine the vinegar, water, spices, herbs and sugar. Bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes.

2. Add vegetables and boil 8 to 10 minutes, or until broccoli is just tender.

3. Pack into hot, sterilized jars and seal. Process 20 minutes of us got to know each other well. We lived with each other for five weeks. I could've stayed."

While the students are looking forward to the annual Alumni Day next summer, when they can return to the Governor's School for one day, they are also hoping for an informal get-together with the other participants at Christmas time.

In the meantime, all are active in their senior year of high school and are finalizing college plans. Christi, the daughter of D. Mark and Elisabeth Keener, is thinking of attending Penn State to study communications. Kevin, the son of Richard and Evelyn Vandervort, is planning on Penn State to major in agricultural engineering. The son of Reuben and Sharlene Brady, Brian also plans on going to Penn State, but is undecided about his major. Rick's only college application went to Penn State, where he plans to study dairy and animal science or agricultural mechanization. Regina plans to attend Eastern Mennonite College in Harrisonburg, Virginia, to major in agriculture and minor in journalism.

Information on applying to the Governor's School for Agriculture may be obtained from: Pennsylvania Governor's School for Agriculture, 217 Agricultural Administration Building, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, PA 16802.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

"You gotta' minute?" inquires the Farmer in innocent tones, poking his seed-corn hatted head through the front door.

"Actually I've been summoned to pick up my first installment of a million dollar lottery win and don't have a moment to spare."

Or....."I just got off the phone with the President and he needs me to leave this very minute for the White House."

Maybe....."The Nobel Peace Prize committee is on its way down the road with my award."

Noting that none of the above would prove even faintly believable answers - he'd laugh me out of the house - I sigh and acknowledge the initial question. Yes, in all reality, I probably have "gotta' minute." And no good excuse not to lend it to this need - whatever it is.

Seems a bunch of dry cows - maybe a dozen or so - had grown bored with their vacation-from-milking pasture. When the elements of tall, fall weeds, and dampness after a good shower, teamed up to short out the strand of electric fencing, these heavy-with-calf bovines seized the chance for a change of scene.

They'd spent the previous afternoon back visiting old herdmates at the dairy barn, a quarter-mile distant on our country road from the dry cow lot. And, while the visitors could be herded into the trailer and hauled back, that would take two trips.

Probably simpler to just herd the whole bunch back down the road. Uhhh, right.

All I had to do was guard a potential break-out space between the garage and the split rail yard fence. Once started in a pack down the road, the touring band would collectively hightail it down the paved route and we'd neatly herd them into the pasture.

On hand were a half-dozen of us, all experienced to some degree in corraling cows. A pair of three-wheelers would serve as the quarter-horses in this cattle drive. Only thing lacking on this drive was a chuck wagon for meals: but it was only going to take a minute. Right?

It was a piece of cake, once a couple of stragglers were chased back out of the yard, and one contrary cow had leveled a path through the bedding sawdust pile, sending a cloud of dust into the bright, sunny, morning air.

At least for the first twenty-five yards.

Until the left front-runner spied the field road, a gateway flanked by fields of dense, cow-height sudan grass. In an effort worthy of Olympic note, she eased left and melted away into the tall, wet greenery. A couple of copycat cows followed suit, their passage marked only by waving tops of lush foliage.

Each pause to collect stragglers only allows escape time for those still moving on track. Best to keep the rest moving, fast, in the proper direction. So, a couple of us - who were only supposed to guard a space between the garage and the fence - took off running. While the wheeled-horses rounded up and chased the sudan explorers back on track, we trotted those remaining along the pavement path, trusting that no unexpected traffic would come flying down the road and tangle with our drive.

Up the grade, over the ridge and down the other side they went, eyeing the temptation of fields of corn and alfalfa. Attempts to steal off into the stalks for a taste of green corn earned the culprits hasty turnarounds.

Only a few hundred yards to go, the pasture corner in sight. By gosh, this might be simpler than a couple of trailer runs.

And about that time, the whole pack swerved off to the right, neatly exiting the pavement, to promptly be swallowed by a stand of corn just tall enough to offer cover.

Sweat and leftover morning dew soaked shoes and clothing as paths of waving stalks eventually met in one corner of cornfield. A final sweep of waving arms and revving motor brought order to chaos. Trotting hooves and swinging dry udders headed for the dry cow barn, where they knew a hay and chop breakfast awaited exercise-whet appetites. And a figure on three-wheels headed to check fence.

The "minute" had stretched well beyond a half hour.

There are laws against breach of promise, aren't there?

CHORE-TIME®

MEAL-TIME® feeding system

- The only feeder you'll never need to adjust
- Feeds "meals" to save 5% to 20% of your feed
- Competitively priced with ordinary feeders

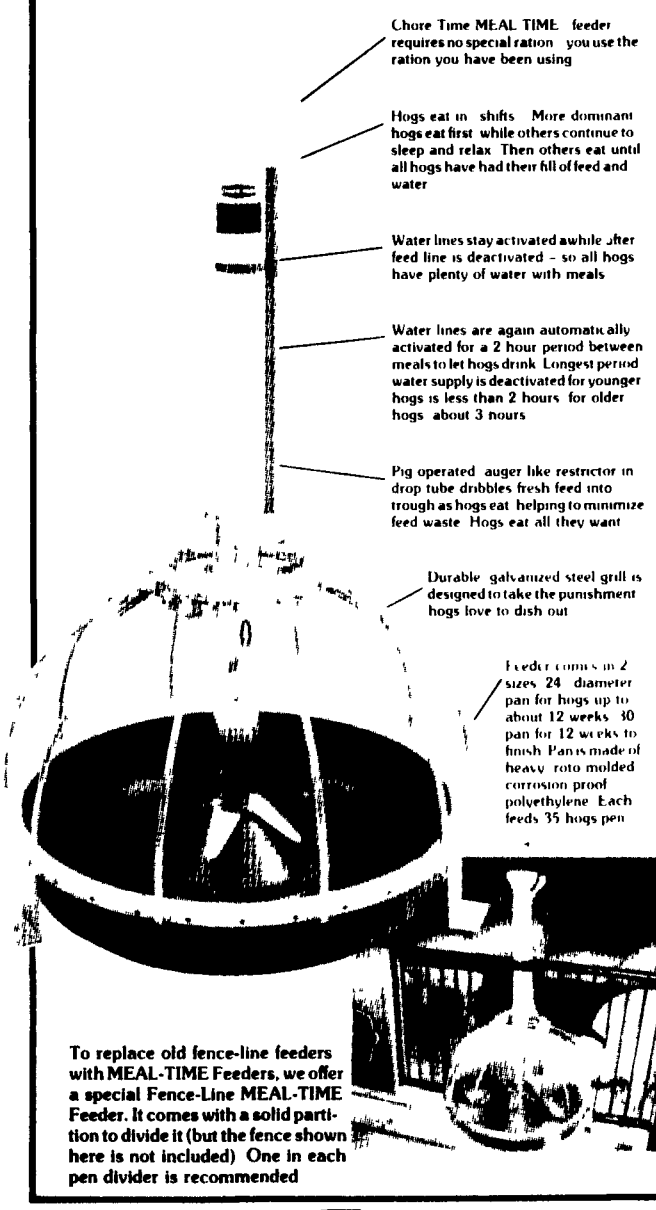
The MEAL-TIME® system gives hogs time between meals to digest feed thoroughly so feed is fully utilized.

The MEAL-TIME® system has been proven in both university and farm trials to boost feed conversion, save water waste, cut labor requirements, and provide more profit potential per hog.

Look at the features our patented MEAL-TIME® system offers you:



Chore Time MEAL TIME feeder requires no special ration you use the ration you have been using
Hogs eat in shifts More dominant hogs eat first while others continue to sleep and relax Then others eat until all hogs have had their fill of feed and water
Water lines stay activated awhile after feed line is deactivated - so all hogs have plenty of water with meals
Water lines are again automatically activated for a 2 hour period between meals to let hogs drink Longest period water supply is deactivated for younger hogs is less than 2 hours for older hogs about 3 hours
Pig operated auger like restrictor in drop tube dribbles fresh feed into trough as hogs eat helping to minimize feed waste Hogs eat all they want
Durable galvanized steel grill is designed to take the punishment hogs love to dish out
Feeder comes in 2 sizes 24 diameter pan for hogs up to about 12 weeks 30 pan for 12 weeks to finish Pan is made of heavy roto molded corrosion proof polyethylene Each feeds 35 hogs pen

To replace old fence-line feeders with MEAL-TIME Feeders, we offer a special Fence-Line MEAL-TIME Feeder. It comes with a solid partition to divide it (but the fence shown here is not included) One in each pen divider is recommended

Celebrate Pork Month With These Favorites

America's pork producers are clearly succeeding in changing long-held consumer misconceptions about pork. Statistics show that their effective advertisement of pork—the other white meat—has resulted in educating consumers that pork is low in calories and cholesterol, contains important nutrients and is easy to prepare.

In case you have not heard, today's pork is 50% leaner than the animal of 25 years ago. Since it has slimmed down, fresh pork contains considerably less fat, calories and cholesterol. From the looks of our mailbox, pork recipes abound. We have received more than the 200 limit for which the state Pork Council is giving a free apron.

Sorry, we cannot accept any more pork recipes for this promotion, but you can still be a winner by trying these taste-tempting recipes from our readers. The recipes with the contributors' names will appear in the next several issues. Get on board by trying pork—the other white meat.

PAN-FRIED RICE & PORK

1 pound boneless pork, cut into small pieces
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup chopped celery
2¼ cup water
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon sage
1 cup minute rice
¼ cup chopped pimiento

Brown pork in cooking oil in skillet. Add green pepper and brown with meat. Drain. Stir in soup, water, and seasonings. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and cook over low heat for about 20 minutes.

Remove cover, stir in rice and celery. Cover and continue cooking about 25 minutes or until rice is tender and mixture is of desired consistency. Stir occasionally. Stir in pimiento. Serves 6.

CHERRY GLAZED PORK

4 pound pork loin roast
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon clove
12-ounce jar cherry preserves
¼ teaspoon vinegar
¼ salt
¼ nutmeg
¼ cup slivered toasted almonds

Rub roast with a little salt and pepper. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast uncovered for 2½ hours at 325 degrees. Meanwhile, combine all ingredients except almonds. Heat to boiling, stir and then reduce to simmer for 2 minutes. Add almonds.

Spoon enough sauce over roast to glaze. Roast 30 minutes more. Serve remaining sauce with roast.

BARBEQUE SPARE RIBS

3-4 pounds country-style spare ribs
8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ cup water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons vinegar
½ tablespoon mustard

Place spare ribs in baking pan. Simmer tomato sauce, water, Worcestershire, brown sugar, salt, vinegar, and mustard for 30 minutes. Pour over ribs and bake in 350-degree oven uncovered for about 2½ to 3 hours. Baste occasionally with sauce.

SAVORY PORK ROLL

6 pork shoulder steaks
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
2 cups cubed soft bread
¼ cup milk
Onion to taste
Parsley
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon fat or oil
½ cup water

Trim fat from meat and remove any bone from steaks. Pound meat with mallet to flatten. Season with salt and pepper. Combine egg, milk, and bread cubes. Add onions, parsley, and salt. Mix well.

Spoon stuffing on pork pieces. Roll up, jelly-roll fashion; fasten with toothpicks or string. Dust with flour; brown lightly in hot fat in skillet. Remove meat and place in 1½ -quart casserole dish. Pour off fat in skillet. Add water to brown drippings. Stir; pour over meat rolls in casserole. Cover and bake in 350-degree oven for 1 hour.

CHINA SUN PORK

20-ounce can pineapple chunks
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon white vinegar
1 pound boneless pork butt
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 onion, quartered
2 carrots, sliced
1 green pepper, sliced

Drain pineapple, reserve 3 tablespoons juice. Mix reserved juice with ½ cup water, soy sauce, cornstarch, and vinegar. Set aside. Cut pork in strips. Brown pork in hot oil. Add garlic and ginger. Cook one minute. Add onion and carrots, cook one minute. Stir sauce, add to pork with pineapple and green pepper. Cook until sauce thickens and vegetables are tender-crisp. Serves 4.

Within months of its introduction, America's cut took America by storm. It is a standardized boneless center-cut loin chop, 1¼ " to 1½ " thick. America's cut has provided consumers with an alternative to filet mignon and is now available in more than 20,000 grocery stores and in thousands of restaurants.

SWISS PORK ROAST

2½ pound pork loin
Pinch thyme, pepper
2 bay leaves
Pinch ground cloves
Salt to taste
1 small onion
1 small apple, diced
4 carrots, sliced
½ to 1 cup broth
1 cup white wine

Rub meat with salt, pepper, and thyme, sparingly. In a skillet, heat ½ cup white wine. Turn the meat in the wine until all the wine has evaporated. Add the remaining wine, onion, bay leaves and cloves.

Cover pan and bake in oven at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes

Add broth, sliced carrots and apple. Cover tightly and continue baking in oven for 1½ to 2 hours.

STUFFED PORK LOIN WITH MOLASSES SQUASH

3½ pound loin pork
½ cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onions
1 sour apple, diced
Salt, pepper to taste
½ cup molasses
½ cup butter
½ cup hot water
1 small Hubbard squash

Wipe meat and make a slit between the bones with a sharp knife, making a pocket for the dressing. Combine crumbs, celery, onion, and apple. Season with salt and pepper. Force crumb mixture into the pockets between the bones. Roast meat for two hours in 350-degree oven.

Combine molasses, butter, and hot water. Turn drippings from the roasting pan into the molasses mixture. Place squash pieces flesh side down in the sauce around the meat. Bake at a slightly higher temperature for 45 minutes or until squash is done. Turn squash over and let brown for 15 minutes. Serves 6.

ANSWER - Barbara Reed, Punxsutawney, requested a recipe for canning hot peppers. Thanks to an anonymous reader from Lititz for the following recipe, which she claims is easy to make.

Hot Peppers

Hot peppers
3 quarts water
1 quart vinegar
½ cup salt

Wash peppers. Cut or leave whole depending on size. Pack into jars. Boil water, vinegar and salt. Pour over peppers. Let stand five minutes. Pour the solution back into the kettle and boil again. Again pour into jars with peppers and seal with sterilized lids.

ANSWER - Mary Ringley from Carlisle requested a pie filling recipe that appeared on former Cream of Corn Starch boxes. Thanks Paula Whitman, Carlisle, for answering this request.

Cherry Pie

3 tablespoons Cream of Cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
1 cup cherry juice
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
4 cups drained, pitted cherries
1 (9-inch) baked pie shell

Combine corn starch and sugar. Gradually add cherry juice. Heat to boiling over direct heat and boil gently for 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add buttere, lemon juice and drained cherries. Mix thoroughly. Pour into baked pie shell. Makes one 9-inch pie.

ANSWER - Below are some recipes that have accumulated in my files that I received too late to use in the recipe topics. Hope you enjoy them.

Tomato Soup Cake

3 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup margarine
2 eggs
¼ cup water
1 can tomato soup, undiluted

Cream margarine and sugar. Add eggs. Beat well. Combine soup, water, and baking soda. Add soup alternately with remaining dry ingredients, stirring after each. Bake in layers in 9x13-inch pan for 30 to 35 minutes. Frost with cream cheese frosting, top with crushed or halved walnuts. Reader comments that cake is unusual and delicious.

May Oziniek, Flemington, N.J.

Lazy Lady Pierogi

1 pound Roteller curly macaroni
1 large can sauerkraut
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped mushrooms
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
2 sticks margarine

Cook and drain macaroni. Return to a large soup kettle. Add 2 cups water to the sauerkraut, saute and mix for 10 minutes. Add undiluted soup, mix well, stirring and saute 15 minutes over low heat. Add with salt and pepper to large pot with macaroni. Mix well and gently. Reader writes that the recipe is delicious and reheats well.

Iowa Chocolate Cake

2 cups sugar
1½ cup boiling water

Mix shortening and sugar in bowl and cover with boiling water.

2 cups flour
2 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cocoa
2 eggs (beaten)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add the last ingredients to the hot mixture. The batter will be thin. Bake in a greased 9x13-inch pan or layer pans for 35 to 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Raisin Cream Pie

Combine:
½ cup raisins
½ cup sugar
¾ cup water

Cook until raisins are soft.

Mix together:
1 heaping tablespoon flour
1 cup milk
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add flour, milk, and egg yolks to raisin mixture. Bring to a boil, add butter and vanilla. Pour into pie shell, cover with pie crust.

Zucchini Squash Fritters

2 cups zucchini squash, shredded
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon onion salt
Dash of pepper
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs

In bowl, stir together dry ingredients. Stir in beaten eggs until mixture is moistened. Fold in zucchini.

In skillet, melt butter over medium heat, using 2 tablespoons mixture for each round. Fry three to five minutes on each side or until brown. Makes 8 to 10 rounds.

ANSWER - Blanche Hess, Quarryville, requested a recipe for the coconut topping used on German chocolate cake. Thanks to Eva Southard, Glen Rock; Patricia Wax, Carlisle; Pam Bange, Hanover; Mrs. Ray Reinecker, York Springs; and others for sending recipes.

Coconut Pecan Frosting

1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cup coconut
1½ cup chopped pecans

Combine all ingredients in a heavy saucepan except coconut and pecans. Cook over medium heat until thickened (about 12 minutes), stirring constantly to prevent scorching.

Remove from heat and add coconut and pecans. Beat by hand until cool and of spreading consistency.

ANSWER - Mrs. George Ware, Waynesboro, Va., requested recipes using raspberry and blackberry jelly. Thanks Mrs. Ray Reinecker, York Springs, who sends an additional one to those previously printed.

Raspberry Bars

¾ cup margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1½ cups quick oats
1 10-ounces jar raspberry preserves

Cream margarine and sugar. Add dry ingredients; mix well. Press half of crumbed mixture into greased 13x9-inch pan. Spread with preserves. Sprinkle remaining crumb mixture over it. Pat down. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars.

ANSWER - Mrs. Richard Elvin, Coatesville, requested a recipe for homemade prepared horseradish and the directions for canning it. Thanks to Mrs. Ray Reinecker, York Springs; and to Kathryn Graby, Annville, for a recipe that she made for a seafood place in Boston for over a year.

Horseradish

Scrape roots and drop into cold water to prevent discoloration. Dry and put through food chopper or food processor. Fill clean, sterile, cold pint jars about two-thirds full. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each jar and fill with white vinegar. Seal.

Horseradish

Wash and peel horseradish root. Cut in ½ -inch cubes. Combine in blender:

1 cup horseradish cubes
¾ cup white vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
Pinch of salt
1 tablespoon cream or evaporated milk

Process on blend. Place in clean sterile baby food jars and refrigerate.

CORRECTION - Viola Weber, Alsace Manor, had a recipe for 1-2-3-4 Casserole appear in this section on September 17. She said instead of 1 can evaporated milk, she fills the emptied soup can with regular milk. Below is the entire recipe.

1-2-3-4 Casserole

1 pound hamburger
2 onions
3 carrots
4 potatoes
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 soup can filled with regular milk

Brown meat and put in casseroles. Add sliced onions, carrots and potatoes. Season with salt and pepper. Add can of soup and milk, using the liguid to cover the vegetables. Bake at 350 degrees until vegetables are tender about 1-1¼ hours.

COUNTRY SKILLET SUPPER

1 medium onion
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can cream of celery soup
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
1 cup cooked and cubed pork
1 cup cubed cooked potatoes
½ cup peas
Dash pepper

In skillet, lightly brown onion in shortening. Blend in soup, milk, and worchestershire. Add pork, potatoes, peas and a dash of pepper. Cook over low heat, about 10 mintues. Stir occasionally. Serves 4.

PIG TRIVIA

Did you know that...

Columbus brought some pigs along on his trip to America and pigs came along with the pilgrims on the Mayflower, too.

Hogs provide materials for many other products that we use every day. Things like glue, crayons, makeup, plastics, brushes, and floor waxes all come inpart from pigs.

Hot dogs used to be called "red hots." They were sold by street vendors and each of the sausages came with a pair of white cotton gloves to keep your fingers cool.

The Chinese name each year for twelve different animals. The Year of the Rat is first on the list; the Year of the Pig is last.

People living in Vienna, Austria, say that if you touch a pig on New Year's Eve, good luck will follow.

Martha Brubaker writes...

I have a pet kitten her name. Her name is Flower. We are playing baseball. In school we are having fun.

Tonight my brother Stephen, 8, and I did the chores because my dad and my uncle and my brother were filling silo. They are just about finished. My sister Ellen, 13, milked the cows. We have two cows with two baby calves. We have two horses and the one is named Sonny; the other is Fairy.

A Look At The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — The huge ballroom is quiet as if everyone is holding their breath. You could have heard a glass of milk drop. On stage, the second runner-up, Laurie Sterner, Montgomery County Dairy Princess, has received her banner. And so has first runner-up, Tammy Sue Balthaser, Berks County Dairy Princess.

"And now, ladies and gentlemen," the Master of Ceremonies intones dramatically as he pauses between each word, "the new 1989 Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess is ... from Beav...." The applause and cheers break in to cover up the announcement. The face of the young lady seated front center on stage registers complete surprise—disbelief. And then the realization of the enormity of the moment brings tears. Kimberly Bonzo, Beaver/Lawrence County Dairy Princess, is the new Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess.

The process of selecting a state dairy princess to represent the number one dairy industry in Pennsylvania started last spring when dairy farmers' daughters entered the competition to earn the right to represent their home county. In July, the 40 selected county dairy princesses along with the county alternates attended a summer seminar at Shippensburg University to prepare themselves to promote milk and dairy products at the local level and to receive information for the possibility that they might be selected to represent the industry on the state level.

Last Saturday night, the climax to this process was staged at the Harrisburg Mariott Inn. A four-hour show included the introduction of each county dairy princess to the panel of four judges, selected skits that individual princesses will use in their presentations this year, and recognition of individuals involved in the dairy princess program.

As the new princess strolled down the walkway after a short emotional acceptance speech that gave God and family credit for her success, Kim received a super-charged applause that had been waiting to explode. When this 17-year-old daughter of Gayle and Kay Bonzo, Rochester, took her place on the wicker throne, no one waited to be told the meeting was adjourned. Her fellow contestants rushed en masse to be the first to greet the new princess.

Kim has a major interest in music at Freedom Area High School. As a senior, she is a member and secretary of the high school chorus, a member of the marching, concert and jazz bands, and is a drum majorette. An honor student, Kim is listed in "Who's Who In American High School Students."

The Berks County first runner-up, Tammy Sue Balthaser, is the daughter of Wilson and LaVerne Balthaser, Bernville. Tammy Sue graduated in June from Hamburg Area High School and now attends the Berks campus of Penn State University. She was president of her senior class and a member of the National Honor Society.

Laurie Sterner, Montgomery County Dairy Princess and second runner-up, is the daughter of Linda and George Sterner, Bechtelsville. Laurie hopes to graduate from Messiah College in the field of music education and youth ministry. She is president of her church youth group and is a member of the Honor Society at her Boyertown Area High School.

The outgoing state dairy princess, Becky Sonnen, who crowned Miss Bonzo, said in her farewell address that each of the counties could be proud of their individual dairy princesses. "They are all terrific," Becky said.

Along with meeting the Governor, baseball player Mike Schmidt, and the State Ag Secretary, Becky listed as one of the highlights of her year the meeting of a class of special education first and second grade children who were openly appreciative and receptive to her appearance in their classroom. "Meeting little children, passing out 'I Love Milk' stickers, and getting to know a lot of new friends were highlights of my year," Becky said. "This has been the most rewarding year of my life. I can not, I will not forget this year, representing the dairy industry we all love."

The Miss Congeniality Award went to Sue Eisenhart, York County Dairy Princess. This honor was bestowed by the other county dairy princesses in the pageant.

The final seven in the running included: Bonzo; Balthaser; Sterner; Eisenhart; Tara Jo Harrington, Warren County Dairy Princess; Christine Davidson, Cumberland County Dairy Princess; and Tanya O'Brien, Somerset County Dairy Princess.

Jenny Sue Bigelow, the 1988 Blair County Dairy Princess, received the Tina M. Shultz Award. This memorial award has been set up in memory of the 1985-1986 Huntingdon County Dairy Princess who served her county dairy industry while in a losing battle with cancer. Bigelow traveled 7,200 miles during her reign attending 206 schools, 28 malls and supermarkets, published 50 news articles, appeared on 46 radio and TV shows, and was involved in 51 special events during the year. Patricia Dunkleberger, 1988 Cumberland County Dairy Princess, received honorable mention.

Harrington, Davidson and O'Brien were selected to give their presentations at the pageant. Tara impersonated Santa Claus and filled all the family stockings with dairy products. Christine's fairy god cow turned everything right for promoting dairy products. And Tanya coached her Real Seal basketball team into slam-dunking points for dairy products.

The new dairy princess and Penny Dale Puskarich, Washington/Greene County Dairy Princess, were named runner-ups in the presentation awards.

Lancaster's Julie Greider, and Bradford's Terri Packard, won the scrapbook awards. Berks' Balthaser, Mifflin's Jaylene Yoder, and Wyoming/Lackawanna's Patty Spadine, won honorable mention with their scrapbooks.

Grover Gouker served as Master of Ceremonies. Steven Crawford, executive assistant to the Ag Secretary, brought greetings from the Department of Agriculture.

Judges for the pageant were Dr. Lee Majeski, College Park, Maryland, chairman; Mrs. Lynn Bullen, Middleton, Delaware; Lowell Lindsy, Guelph, Ontario; and Mrs. Julia Reppard, Holcomb, New York. Ms. Trish Williams, Towson, Maryland; and Everett Newswanger, Lancaster, served as scrapbook judges.

Annual Disaster Relief Auction Raises $240,000

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — More than $240,000 was raised for disaster relief victims around the world through the 12th Annual Brethren Disaster Relief Auction held at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds on September 23 and 24.

The annual event, sponsored by 112 Church of the Brethren congregation in the Atlantic Northeast and Southern Pennsylvania Districts, featured an auction of 68 head of cattle on Friday evening which sold for over $58,000.

Over 8,500 people from 15 states attended the activities on Saturday. Five auctions were conducted simultaneously on the Fairgrounds. A total of 106 quilts were sold ranging in price from $350 to $4,000. In attendance was 99-year-old Lizzie Longenecker of Manheim who quilted an around-the-world quilt for the Auction which sold for $1,700.

Among the other items auctioned were an Abner Zook three-dimensional wooden painting, $8,500; a Lorraine Reiff three-dimensional wood painting, $2,200; a miniature Hershey toy trolley, $2,000; a miniature gasoline engine, $4,000; an antique set of furniture donated by Mary Grace Martin, $300; a miniature doll house by Ben Brubaker, $1,100; and several paintings by local artists.

A total of 67 craft vendors displayed and sold their items to benefit the auction as well as food sales of 1,200 homemade pies, 400 loaves of bread, 60 bushels of string beans and many other food items.

The Auction is only one part of the disaster response network of the Church of the Brethren which sends not only financial assistance to disaster areas world-wide but volunteer laborers to help with rebuilding and construction, child care and medical assistance.

Top-Notch Dairy Youth Compete In Judging Skills

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — "It was a big surprise," said David Pryor when he ranked first in individual FFA rankings for all breeds at the state All-American Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest. Pryor, a junior at Middletown High School, carried a considerable lead over the 40 teams from the U.S. He resides with his parents, Robert and Diane Pryor, on their 62-acre dairy farm.

Awards were presented at the 20th Annual Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest Awards banquet held on Monday night at the Sheraton. The contest was held at the Farm Show Complex during the PA All-American Dairy Show.

According to Obie Snider, president of the All-American Dairy Show, the contest allows top-notch dairy youth to match their skills against other competitors.

Competition is held for 4-H, FFA and Collegiate teams. In the collegiate category, The University of Wisconsin with 2,003 points placed first for their judging skills of all breeds. Western Kentucky University placed second and Cornell University placed third.

In collegiate individual ranking, Lisa Mullen of Bloomer, Wisconsin, edged out team member Diand Johnston by a mere two points. Mullen also won the individual ranks for total reasons.

FFA judging skills for all breeds was topped by Union Local FFA of Ohio. Team members Kerry Kemp, Tammy Conlon and Tracey Saffell, scored 1,451 points over second place Turner Ashby High School, Va.

Chris Grove of Mt. Crawford, Va., ranked highest in FFA individual judging in the Jersey division, helping his team place first in the same category. Left to right: Marion Cobb, Nikki May, Thomas Lam, Chris Grove and Eric Fitzgerald, coach.

The Wisconsin 4-H team scored 1,769 points to win over the Connecticut 4-H dairy team. Matt Iager of Fulton, Md., took first place honors in individual rank 4-H competition in total reasonings.

Following David Pryor in individual FFA rankings was Kerry Kemp of Belmont, Ohion and Wes McDanniel of Mooreland, Indiana.

Hands-on judging experience gained by the contest participants provides valuable education in evaluation, decision making and verbal expression.

Each state may enter one 4-H team and one FFA team.

The contest was sponsored by the state Dairy and Allied Industries Association in cooperation with the state Department of Agriculture and the state Farm Show Commission. Judging contest superintendent was N. Alan Bair.

Honey Queen Crowned

Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG — Franklin County's new Honey Royalty was crowned at the tenth annual meeting of the Franklin County Beekeepers Association, held recently at the Lighthouse Youth Center, Chambersburg.

Honey Queen for 1988-89 is Cindy Hoffeditz, 16, daughter of Harold and Esther Hoffeditz of Mercersburg. She is a junior at James Buchanon High School. Hope Mackey, 16, a ninth grader at J. Frank Faust Junior High School, will serve as Princess. She is the daughter of Joyce and Ken Mackey of Chambersburg. Grace Ann Bender, Queen Coordinator for the Association, presented the girls with their crowns and banners.

Speaker for the event was Ann Harman, Maryland Master Beekeeper and President of the Apio-Therapy Society of North America. She spoke on the seven products of the hive, which are honey, propolis, pollen, bee's wax, royal jelly, and the bees themselves. In discussing the last item, Harman said that in this country we tend to kill insects, not thinking of them as a source of food. Canadian beekeepers, in fact, kill off their bees every fall because it is so hard to winter them over in the harsh Canadian climate. In a protein-poor area these bees would be valuable for food, according to Harman. "Research is being done on using them for food," she said. "The bees' larvae are rich in Vitamins A and D," she added. "When bears rob a hive, they're not after the honey, they're after the larvae, which is highly nutritious."

Honey, which is the bees' source of carbohydrate, also contains a small amount of vitamins and minerals. It has been used for centuries as a soothing ointment for wounds. "Honey increases the speed of wound healing," she said, "and this has now been recognized by the medical profession."

Propolis is the sticky resin found on the bud tips of deciduous trees. The bees collect it, but do not pro-

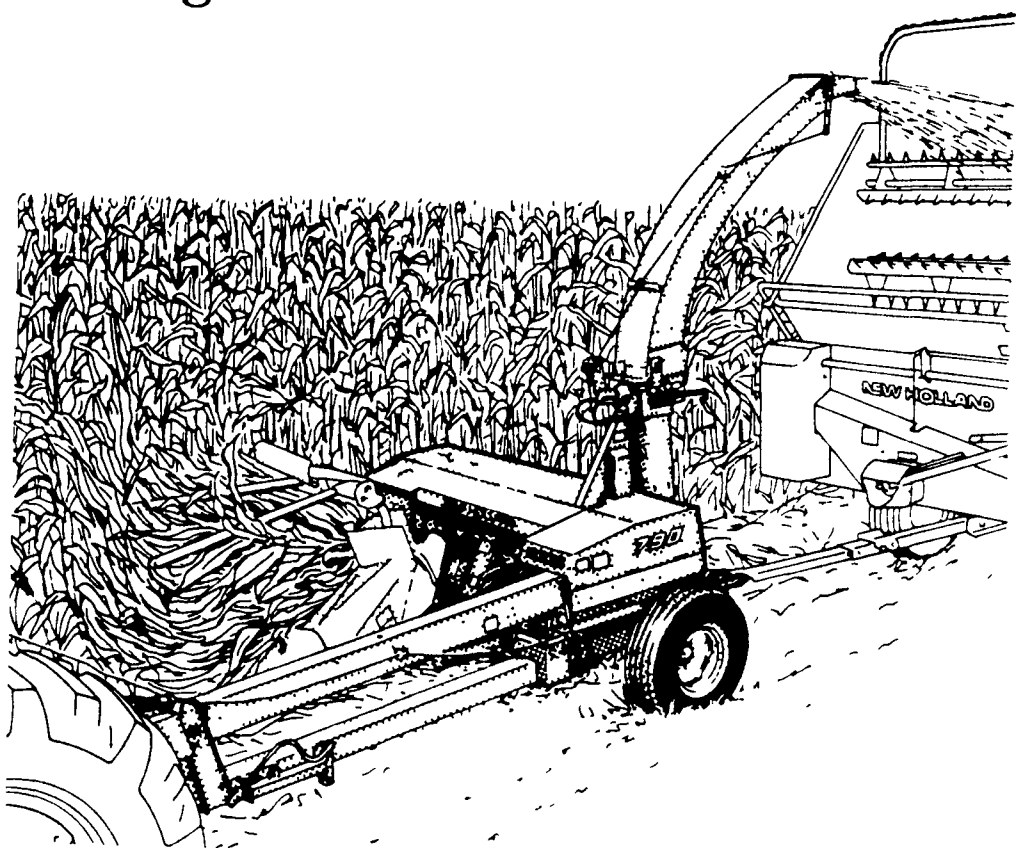
CHECK THESE PERFORMANCE FEATURES:

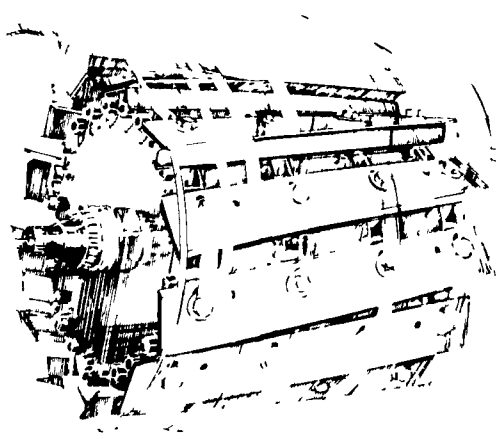
- FLIP-UP FEED ROLLS
- QUICK-ADJUST SHEARBAR
- TWO SPEED BLOWER
- TUNGSTEN EDGE KNIVES



Come on in and trade for performance.

When it comes to harvesting, you can't beat the heavy-duty performance that's built into the New Holland Model 790 forage harvester. Performance starts at the cutterhead. The 19 11/16-inch wide, 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop that's just right for most silage feeding operations. And an electric clutch gives instant response and positive control on the reversing gearbox. The Model 790 is available with either a 540 rpm or 1000 rpm PTO drive.

Stop in today and trade for the performance leader in harvesters - the 790 from Ford New Holland.



CAN YOU TRUST YOUR KNIVES IN THESE TOUGH TESTS?

You can if they're New Holland knives. Every time New Holland updates or improves its cutterheads and knives, it puts the prototypes through these severe tests for durability, wear and dependability.

TEST I Must pulverize a 2"x2"x5-foot long solid oak plank To pass this test, no damage is allowed.

TEST II Must chew up and spit out a cold rolled steel bar, five feet long and 5/8" in diameter, stapled to a 1"x4" pine stud. Steel bar will be chipped into pieces about 1/2" long. Knife edge damage is expected, but knives must be reusable after vigorous sharpening

TEST III Must chop up a 5-foot-long gathering chain stapled to a 1"x4" pine stud. Severe knife damage is expected. Body of each knife, however, must remain stable. Knives might be resharpenable. Test will end when or if shearbolt fails, or when entire gathering chain is chopped up, whichever happens first.

cess it or use it in any way. Some people use it to soothe a sore throat, she said, but no research has been done on it.

Pollen is the bees' main food, and venom is their defense system.

Bee's wax is a harmless, non-allergenic substance that has been used in cosmetics since the days of the Egyptians. "It is naturally pure white," Harman said, "but is colored by the pollen the bees bring in."

Royal jelly, the special diet of the queen bee, looks like skim milk and is 66 percent water, with some proteins, vitamins, minerals and a small amount of fat and carbohydrates. "There's nothing magic in it," she said, although man has used it for various therapeutic purposes.

The Association elected officers for 1988-89. Robert Shank, Chambersburg, was elected President; Robert Bonner, Waynesboro, Vice-President; Mark Burkholder, Chambersburg, Secretary-Treasurer; Harold Hoffeditz, Mercersburg, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer; and Jacob Sollenberger, Chambersburg, Director.

Robert Coady of Spring Run, outgoing vice-president of the association, served as moderator.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

In answer to several readers' requests for eggless cake recipes, I'm sharing two recipes. Both make moist, old-fashioned heavy-textured cakes. The chocolate one is a favorite from past Microwave Minutes. It rises high during microwaving, but falls slightly during cooling. Whole-Wheat Banana Cake gives extra nutrition from the whole-wheat flour and is another super-tasting cake.

Both cook best in a ring-shaped dish, so that the centers get done without overcooking the edges. If you don't have a microwave-safe 12-cup fluted ring dish or a three-quart casserole, like the recipes call for, use a smaller ring-shaped microwave dish or casserole. Fill it only half full and use remaining batter to make cupcakes. Microwave the cake for 13 minutes, like the recipe says, on Medium (50% power, 325-350 watts) or Medium Low (30% power, about 200 watts, sometimes called Defrost).

During the second stage of cooking (which is done on High power) the cake finishes cooking. So that time will vary, depending on the size of cake and how fast your microwave cooks. That's why the recipe says "microwave (High) 3 to 5 minutes." A small cake may be done after only one minute on High. The regular-size cake may take even more than five minutes in a microwave of 400 or 500 watt output.

Whole-Wheat Banana Cake is a thicker batter, so could be cooked in two round dishes without the open center. Cook each separately on Medium for six minutes; rotate dish and then finish cooking on High for two to four minutes or until done.

A square dish (with extra batter made into cupcakes) could be used for Whole-Wheat Banana Cake if aluminum foil can be safely used in your microwave. (Check your manufacturer's cookbook in the cake or meat section.) Foil prevents cake corners from overcooking — becoming dry and hard — during the time it takes to get the center done. After microwaving on Medium, the corners of the cake will probably be done, but the center will still be doughy. Before microwaving on High, mold small triangles of aluminum foil over dish and cake corners. Keep foil flat around dish and cake and at least 1-inch from microwave walls.

With a smaller ring-shaped dish or the square dish, fill dish half full and use remaining batter to make cupcakes. Fill cups only half full and microwave on High. Six cupcakes are done in 1½ to 2 minutes; three take about one minute.

A large cake is done when it starts to pull away from dish edges. It may still have some small moist spots on top; but finishes cooking during standing time. It should cool in the dish set on a flat surface — leave it in the microwave or set the dish on a wooden board or the countertop.

To keep a microwaved cake moist, tightly cover it while it's still slightly warm or as soon as the frosting hardens.

Chocolate Ring Cake

1-2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1⅔ cups granulated sugar
2¼ cups all-purpose flour
¼ cup unsweetened cocoa powder, sifted
1½ teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup vegetable oil
1 tablespoon white vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1⅓ cups cold water
Glaze (below)

Lightly oil a microwave-safe 12-cup fluted tube cake dish. Sprinkle with 1 to 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, coating dish completely. Pour out excess sugar.

In large mixing bowl, combine dry ingredients, mixing well. Make a well in center of dry ingredients; add oil, vinegar, vanilla and water in order given. Mix well with mixing spoon, until no lumps remain. Pour into prepared dish. Microwave on Medium (50% power 325-350 watts), 13 minutes, rotating dish halfway through cooking. Then microwave (High) 3 to 5 minutes or until cake pulls away from sides and center of dish. Let stand in dish set on flat surface for 10 to 15 minutes. Invert onto serving plate. Frost cool cake with Chocolate Glaze (below), allowing glaze to drizzle down sides of cake. Makes 1 large cake (about 16 servings).

Vanilla Glaze

1 tablespoon margarine or butter
2 tablespoons skim milk
1-1¼ cups powdered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Place margarine and milk in a microwave-safe small bowl. Microwave (High) 30 to 45 seconds. Stir in remaining ingredients, adding enough powdered sugar to make a thin frosting. Mix until smooth. Makes about ¾ cup.

Chocolate Glaze: Stir in 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa powder with powdered sugar.

Hint: This makes a glaze to frost and drizzle down sides of a tube cake. For a thicker frosting, stir in more powdered sugar to desired consistency.

Whole-Wheat Banana Cake

Sugar-Cinnamon (below)
1½ cups packed brown sugar
1¾ cups all-purpose flour
1⅓ cups whole-wheat flour
⅓ cup water
2 teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1⅓ cups oil
1½ cups ripe mashed bananas (about 3 large bananas)

Lightly oil a microwave-safe 12-cup fluted cake dish or 3-quart casserole with a glass set upright in center. Sprinkle with about 1 tablespoon of Sugar-Cinnamon, turning to coat all sides of dish; set aside.

In mixing bowl, combine all dry ingredients; mix well with a spoon or low speed of electric mixer. Make a well in center of dry ingredients. Add oil, bananas and water; mix until well-combined, but do not beat. Fill prepared dish half full. Set dish on a microwave-safe meat trivet or rack or upside down saucer in microwave oven. Microwave on Medium (50% power, 325-350 watts) 13 minutes, rotating dish halfway through cooking. Then microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes or until top is no longer moist and cake pulls away from sides of dish. Let stand in dish, set on flat surface for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from dish and cool on serving plate. Drizzle cool cake with Vanilla Glaze (above). Or, if desired, sprinkle with additional Sugar-Cinnamon, slice and serve slightly warm. This freezes well. Makes 1 large cake (about 16 servings).

Each serving — without glaze: 341 calories, 3g protein, 18g fat, 42g carbohydrate, 160mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

With other size dishes: Fill prepared dish half full. (Make cupcakes from remaining batter). Microwave on Medium as above. Finish cooking on High for 2 to 4 minutes or until done.

Sugar-Cinnamon: Stir together 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon.

Microwave Your Laundry

If you need to dry your favorite shirts in a hurry, you will soon be able to stick them in the microwaver - the microwave dryer, that is. A company in Oklahoma has designed a machine that zaps clothes dry with the same energy that millions of Americans use to reheat leftovers and cook foods rapidly.

The company claims the machine will dry clothes 30% faster than a traditional dryer. The microwave dries the clothing from the inside out. Ordinary dryers dry from the outside in. Not only will the new appliance use up to 40% less energy, it will also deliver laundry free from wrinkles or shrinkage. This convenience will cost at least 20% more than a conventional dryer. The microwave dryer could be ready next year.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Sometimes it is almost possible to tell the age of the occupants of a house just by the outside appearance.

Often an older couple will have one light in one room at nighttime. Now a younger couple with teenage children might have a light in every single room upstairs and downstairs. I speak from experience.

One night a while ago, when I collected for "United Way" in my community, I went back a long farm lane and found an old couple with one 25 watt bulb in one room. The room was full of clocks as I suppose they collected them. They were nice people but it was an eerie place.

Then there is the overgrown shrubbery. As one gets older it is harder to keep after everything and climbing ladders is no fun. Every spring and in fact all summer long, I'm outside with my little prunning shears. We have a trumpet vine that is climbing up the wall of the kitchen and is intent on covering a window or two. Three times this year I've cut it back and the same goes for the wisteria vine. It would go up the television aerial if I'd allow it. The forsythia and pussy willow also grow rapidly.

Another thing that happens to all houses is their falling into disrepair. Most are repaired eventually but some folks simply feel that painting a house or rebuilding a porch is too big a job. And so they put it off and put it off again.

It appears that younger people have more energy. A house with young children is usually bustling with activities while a house with only adults is much more quiet. Maybe that is why I saw two squirrels on our back porch recently.

One can easily settle into a certain pattern of living and not want to change. That is probably why grandparents are glad to see their grandchildren come and then glad to see them go.

Eastern States Expo

Pennsylvania State University and the Maryland 4-H Clubs team were the winners of the Eastern States Exposition Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock contests held recently in West Springfield, Mass.

Collegiate and 4-H judging teams from eight states participated in the contests. Beef cattle, sheep, and swine were evaluated and ranked according to their breeding and carcass merit. Contestants also presented oral reasons on selected classes to justify their placings.

The Pennsylvania State University livestock judging team coached by Keith Bryant scored 21 more points than the contestants from Virginia Polytechnic Institute to win the college division. Kirsta Rankin of Abbottstown, PA, was the high individual, scoring 826 out of 900 possible points. Other teams competing were Cableskill, Delaware Valley College, and Potomac State.

In the junior contest the 4-H team from Maryland was the victor in the beef cattle, sheep and swine divisions. The Maryland team scored a total of 114 points more than its nearest competitor. Catherine Duffey and Kelly Clagett, both Maryland 4-H'ers placed first and second in the individual competition. 4-H teams from Connecticut and New Hampshire were also in the 1988 Big E educational program for youth.

Lancaster Extension Workshops

LANCASTER — The following educational activities have been scheduled for the coming months.

If you want to enroll, please complete a separate registration form (found at the end of this article) for each of the workshops or meetings you plan to attend and RETURN WITH YOUR CHECK made payable to "Agricultural Extension Service." No registration will be accepted without payment.

All of the classes will be held in the Extension Training Center (unless indicated otherwise) which is located in the basement of the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster, Pa. Registration deadline for each of the activities is one full week before the meeting or the first of a series of workshops. Registration will be accepted on a first come basis. Unless you hear from us, please come to the meeting or the first class scheduled for the workshop in which you enrolled. Please call the Extension Office if you are unable to attend a class.

Clothing Construction Workshops

Sewing Basics III- If you are a seamstress who has mastered the basic skirt and simple blouse, then you are ready for the challenge of Sewing Basics III. This class is designed to build on previous learnings, and will focus on a classic shirt-look blouse or dress. New learnings will include yokes, collars, banded front openings, sleeves with cuffs and pockets. This is a hands-on class so bring a sewing machine or indicate if you would like to borrow one of ours. No machine needed for the first class, but bring a tape measure and a pencil. Class Limit: 12. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $30.00.

Workshop #1- 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m., October 19, 26, November 2, 9, 16, 23.

Ultrasuede Or Facile Skirt Workshop- Take the fear out of cutting into expensive, luxurious ultrasuede by doing it in a class under supervision. Learn the special techniques used to sew this easy to care for fabric available in a wide range of fashionable colors. Bring your sewing machine (not needed for first class) and add a skirt to your wardrobe that is sure to become a favorite. If you need to borrow a sewing machine, indicate that on your registration form. Class Limit: 10. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $20.00.

Workshop #2- 12:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m November 1 and 12:00 p.m.- p.m., November 8 and 15.

Tailoring For Beginners- Does the word "tailoring" scare you? If you have an interest in learning to work with wool, but have been afraid to try on your own, this class is for you. You will learn step-by-step how to select an easy to work with fabric, how to sew and press wool, and will sew a lined skirt and jacket. The emphasis will be on simplicity, and a quality finished product using time saving materials and techniques. Students should have an intermediate level of sewing skill. This class will involve sewing in class. No machine needed for first class but bring a pencil and pad and tape measure. Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock: Cost: $35.00.

Workshop #3- 12:30-2:30 p.m., October 3, 10, 17, 31, November 7, 14 and 21.

Sewing Machine Maintenance- When was the last time you serviced your machine, as recommended in the owner's manual? Sewing machines are sensitive to accumulations of lint, dust and thread pieces which collect in the moving parts of the machine. Lack of proper oiling and lubricating can also interfere with optimum machine performance. If your machine starts sluggishly, is noisy, makes loose or skipped stitches, maybe it's time for a thorough cleaning. Why not bring in your machine and learn the basic maintenance procedures, including tension and pressure adjustment.

Participants are requested to bring the following items to class: sewing machine, sewing machine oil, tweezers, brush for cleaning machine parts, screwdrivers (the tiny ones which came with your machine, and one medium size), threaded bobbin, spool of thread and small piece of scrap fabric to test thread tension, and your user manual.

Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTOR: Donna Lucidi-Nachwostach. Cost: $7.00.

Workshop #4- 6:30 p.m.-8:30 p.m., November 22.

Sewing Grainboard Workshop- Have you ever wished that your ironing board was wider and things didn't slip off? Have you ever wished for a cutting surface that didn't allow fabric to slip and slide? If you have wished for either of the above, consider making a sewing grainboard. In this four hour class you will construct a padded gridded board which makes straightening, cutting, pressing and tailoring faster and easier. Part of the class will be a demonstration of its multiple uses. This versatile board is guaranteed to become one of your FAVORITE pieces of sewing and fabric craft equipment. A supply list will be sent prior to class. Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $15.00.

Workshop #5- 9:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m., November 4.

Custom Fit Workshop- Good fit is the most crucial part of clothing construction. It affects the appearance of the garment and the comfort of the wearer. In this class you will analyze your individual figure, and learn how to adjust a commercial pattern to your measurements and achieve perfection in fit. Each student will construct a basic fitted garment using a commercial pattern. Various methods will be used and texts will be suggested. For the first class, bring a notebook and pencil and a tape measure. Also, please wear form-fitting underwear OR a leotard for figure evaluation and measuring. Class Limit: 12. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $30.00.

Workshop #6- 7:00 pm.-9:00

p.m., October 6, 13, 20, 27, November 3, 10.

Ultrasuede Accessories And Gifts- If you have been wanting to make a garment using ultrasuede, but lack the courage to cut into this expensive fabric then learn how you can begin with scraps. Turn left-over pieces of ultrasuede into expensive looking items for your wardrobe or gift giving. Get ideas and patterns for belts, handbags and other small articles. Class Limit: 25. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $5.00.

Workshop #7- 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m., October 5.

Textile Talk- Often the fabrics recommended on the pattern envelope sound like a foreign language: plisse', challis, gabardine, etc. In this class you will learn to identify these fabrics, learn about hand and drapability and how to choose patterns that are compatible. Swatches of various fabrics will be given for future reference and a visit to a local fabric store will be part of the learning experience. Please bring 4x6 cards, a stapler and pen to the first class. A small fee will be payable to the instructor to cover the cost of the swatches. Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $12.00.

Workshop #8- 9:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m., October 10, 17.

Mastering Zippers- Poorly applied zippers often are a give away sign of a "homemade" garment. In this demonstration class, you will learn easy ways to apply zippers for a professional look. Learn the best way to sew a slot, jacket and trouser zipper. A handpicked zipper sill also be demonstrated. "Tips" and illustrated handouts will be given. Class Limit: 25. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $7.00.

Workshop #9- 7:00 p.m.-9:00 p.m., November 17.

Sweatshirts With Pizzazz- Exercise wear has become a popular item in children's and adult's wardrobes. No need to have plain boring sweatshirts in your closet! Here is a class that will focus on unique ways to embellish ready made shirts. This is a demonstration class where you will get ideas and inspirations to turn an ordinary sweatshirt into a one-of-a-kind garment for personal use or gift giving. Class Limit: 25. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $7.00.

Workshop #10- 7:00 p.m.-9:00 p.m., December 1.

Creative Use Of Leisure Time

Advance Basket Workshop- Having learned the basic principles of basket weaving and how to handle the materials, finishing touches and other special techniques can now be added to your weaving. Class participants will make a hearth basket, a basket using a straight 2/2 twill weave, a woven foot stool and baskets using curliques (decorative curls) and a braided or woven rim. Previous basket weaving experience is necessary. A supply list will be sent prior to the first class. Class Limit: 10. INSTRUCTOR: Sue Miller. Cost: $32.00.

Workshop #11- 9:30 a.m.-12:00 p.m., October 10, 17, 31, November 14, 21, 28.

Easting Into Quilting- Learn the basic method of patchwork and applique for piecing quilt tops. Give traditional hand quilting a stab (!) or try easy machine quilting techniques. Start here, and you can own the quilt that you've always wanted!! Class participants will learn to draft patterns, to "color balance" quilt blocks, to accurately mark, cut and machine stitch the blocks, to hand applique, to apply sashing and borders, to use a light table to transfer quilting designs, to quilt by hand and machine, and to prepare a double bias binding for the finished quilt edging. The two suggested projects, a 15" beginners sampler block and a 4-6 patch wall hanging/crib quilt, incorporate a variety of techniques. Some of the piecing will be done in class, therefore participants will need to bring a sewing machine to several of the sessions. Class Limit: 14. INSTRUCTOR: Donna Lucidi-Nachwostach. Cost: $40.00.

Participants should bring the following supplies to the first class: 1/4" grid graph paper, 2 sheets fine grade sand paper, pencils, ruler and eraser, fine point pen, paper scissors, rubber cement, 2 sheets of tissue paper, 1 manilla folder or piece of oak tag.

Workshop #12- 6:30-9:00 p.m., September 28, October 3, 12, 19, 26, November 9, 16, 23.

The Heart Of Curved Piecing- If you like the look of the log cabin quilt pattern, you'll be eager to piece this heart block. It is composed of bias cut pieces of fabric, joined to diagonally set blocks chaining through the center of the heart. The bias piecing makes this a challenging block.

During this 3-hour class, you will piece one block, then inset it into a square piece of fabric. Intermediate sewing skills are absolutely necessary. Ideas for using this block in creative ways will be presented.

Supplies needed for class: sewing machine; extension cord; sewing and cutting supplies; iron and mat; 3/8 yard of a solid, 100% cotton fabric; 8-10 pieces of coordinated cotton calicoes (5"x10" each is sufficient); rubber cement; paper scissors. Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTOR: Donna Lucidi-Nachwostach. Cost: $12.50 includes $3.00 for pattern).

Workshop #13- 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m., October 18.

Traditional Finishes For Quilts- Put an end to the frustrations and puzzlements of quilt borders and binding. Learn the traditional techniques that can give your quilt a classic ending, and also some updated ideas for bindings with flair.

In this class, you will prepare a sample notebook of: a mitered border corner; a butted border corner; a wrapped binding; continuous binding; double bias binding applied to a straight edge and a curved edge; mitered binding corners; prairie points and a ruffled edging. The samples will be yours to refer to as needed in future quilt projects.

This class is for the person with some quilt-making experience, but who needs more instruction on ending the quilt.

Samples will be prepared in class, so a sewing machine is necessary. A supply list will be sent prior to the first class. A minimal supply fee will be requested at the first class, to cover cost of handouts. Class Limit: 12. INSTRUCTOR: Donna Lucidi-Nachwostach. Cost: $12.00.

Workshop #14- 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m., November 1 and 8.

Family Strengths

Family Time- Seasonal activity packs for families with children 2-3, 4-6 and 7-8 years of age. There are four packets in each age group -- winter, spring, summer and fall. Included in your first issue are the directions for the 26 item activity box. One age group set costs $2.00.

Registration Deadline- October 14.

Your New Life Alone- If you are newly widowed, separated or divorced, you may be managing many new things for the first time. You may be lonely or concerned about the safety of living alone. Your New Life Alone is a series of six newsletters containing information on grieving, money decisions, personal security, stress, and how to select lawyers and accountants, etc. who will meet your needs. All names will be kept confidential. Cost: $2.00.

Registration deadline- October 14.

Celebrate Your Family/ Teens- This program consists of six newsletters mailed to parents of teens. It is a strengthen your family program with many activities designed for families with teenagers. Some of the topics include myths about teenagers, parenting style and making rules. Cost: $2.00.

Registration deadline- October 14.

Celebrate Your Marriage- This program consists of six newsletters mailed to your home. It is a Strengthen Your Family program with many activities for middle-age couples. The program will help husbands and wives grow stronger in their marriage during the mid-life years. Cost: $2.00.

Registration deadline - October 14.

Housing

Window Treatments: Part 1 Considering The Options- This class will attempt to describe some of the many options available in treating windows. Advantages and disadvantages of each treatment will be discussed. The cost of doing it yourself will be compared to the same job done professionally. Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTORS: Mary Lou Ellsworth and Shirley Shaheen - Master Clothing and Textile Volunteers. Cost: $5.00.

Workshop #15 - 1:00 p.m.-3:00 p.m., October 18.

Workshop #16 - 7:00 p.m.-9:00 p.m., October 18.

Window Treatments: Part 2 - People attending Window Treatments Part 1 will be asked what types of window treatments they would like to learn more about. If there are several people who want to learn about one or possibly two related types of window treatments, Part 2 will consist of demonstrations and additional information about making that particular type. Class Limit: 15. INSTRUCTORS: Mary Lou Ellsworth and Shirley Shaheen - Master Clothing and Textile Volunteers. Cost: $5.00.

Workshop #17 - 1:00 p.m.-3:00 p.m., November 10.

Workshop #18 - 7:00 p.m.-9:00 p.m., November 10.

I have developed the following programs for 1988-89. If you would like me to speak to a group or organization you belong to, please call me at the Extension Office (394-6851).

1. "A Change Of Plate" - How to reduce fat and calories when choosing and using meat.
2. "Calcium For The Prime Of Life" - The rule of calcium throughout the lifecycle; the amount of calcium we need and how to plan our diets to ensure that we get the calcium we need.
3. "Market Basket '89" - How to be an informed consumer in the supermarket.
4. "Making Visits Count" - A program for family members of nursing home residents. It's purpose is to increase the meaning and enjoyment of visits for the resident and visitor. Most of the program content is also relevant to friends, neighbors and volunteers who visit residents.
5. "Your Very Important Papers" - Which personal papers and family records should be saved and where they should be kept.
6. Manage Your Way To A Better Day" - Time management.
7. Food Safety Is No Mystery" - How to prevent food poisoning with proper handling.

Christmas In October

The dates for our 1988 Christmas In October Programs are October 24 and 25. The schedule for each of the two days will be as follows:

9:00 a.m.- "Among The Pines and Vines" - Presented by Sue Miller.

Among the pines and vines of the woods, away from the noise of the city, the spirit of Father Christmas can be felt. A collection of trees and decorations made of natural materials will be presented, along with ideas combining the gentle charm of Olde World Santas.

10:00 a.m.- "Healthy Festive Holiday Foods" - Presented by Doris W. Thomas, Extension Home Economist.

Entertaining is an important part of the holiday season. Doris will present festive holiday foods that are low in calories, sodium and fat.

10:45 a.m.- Break.

11:15 a.m.- "Just In Time For Christmas" - Presented by Sherry Kalbach.

Sherry's back with a brand new collection of projects you can create. Her ideas are easy, quick, inexpensive and fun. Find out how to make decorations, gifts, ornaments and more. Involve your family members. (Find out what she's done with the 46 left-over necktie halves from last year!) Make some memories...just in time for Christmas!

12:15 noon - Lunch.

1:15 p.m. - "A Medley Of Christmas Arrangements" - Presented by Bonnie Livezey from Fun With Flowers.

Bonnie will demonstrate ideas for holiday decorations using fresh greens and flowers.

Coffee, tea and snacks will be available when you arrive and during the morning break. Lunch will be served by members from many of our Lancaster County Farm Women Societies. You may have Salad Bar, Dessert and Beverage or Homemade Soup, Sandwich, Salad, Dessert and Beverage. Please indicate your choice on the registration form. Also tell us which day you plan to attend. Cost for the day is $10.00 (this includes $4.25 for lunch).

To facilitate mailing and handling of tickets, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your registration.

Where trade names are used, no discrimination is intended, and no endorsement by the Cooperative Extension Service is implied.

REGISTRATION FORM

Please complete a separate form for each workshop or meeting you plan to attend and return to Fall Workshops, Cooperative Extension Service, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601. Duplicate forms may be written on a plain piece of paper.

Lebanon Extension

LEBANON — If you want to improve your skills, the Lebanon County Extension offers the following classes.

Mail your registration which will be on a first come basis. Unless you hear that your name has been placed on a waiting list, come to the first meeting. Phone inquiries are not confirmed until the registration fee is received at the office. Programs may be cancelled and refunded if not filled one week before the first class.

• Please register for all programs of interest.

• Include name, address and telephone number.

• Checks should be made payable to "Extension Special Fund"

• Return form to: Lebanon County Penn State Cooperative Extension, 400 S. 8th Street, Lebanon, Pa. 17042.

Hand Applique

When: November 10 & 17

Time: 10:00-12:00 noon or 7:00-9:00 p.m.

Where: Room 11 Extension Office

Cost: $4.00.

Class Limit: 15

Deadline for registration: October 28

First class includes explanation of types of appliques, and how to handle problem areas. You will begin an Amish tulip block using freezer paper and hand basting. Bring a 15" square solid color background and 3 or more coordinating 100% cotton fabrics (¼ yd. pieces) to create tulip and leaves. Bring freezer paper, scissors, thread, pins, marking pen, needle. Second class will begin a Hawaiian type applique -- bring freezer paper, a 15" dark solid color square and a 15" white cottom square.

Creative Serging

When: October 20

Time: 9:00-12:00 noon or 5:30-9:30 p.m.

Where: Berks County Agricultural Center

Cost: $22.00 (Make checks payable to Berk's County Homemaker's Fund and send it to the Lebanon Office with your registration form. I will forward everything.)

Deadline for registration: October 13

For beginners and those beyond the basics, this seminar is designed to expand your experiences and build your confidence with your serger. Taught by an associate from Palmer and Pletsch areas include: decorative threads; notions; factory shortcuts for sleeves, hems, cuffs, ribbing, waists, jacket lining; tension adjustments to creative new looks, creative sweatshirt ideas and working with new knits. Palmer Pletsch books will be available for purchase. Professional development units are available for certified home economist.

Designer Sweatshirts w/Machine Applique

Date: October 27

Time: 10:00-12:00 noon (only)

Where: Room 11 Extension Office

Cost: $4.00

Class Limit: 25

Deadline for registration: October 14

Discover how simple machine applique can transform an ordinary sweatshirt into a special creation. Fabrics, stitching techniques and design variations will be demonstrated and discussed. Each participant will also receive a handout kit for their use. The instructor will be Sally Miller, a free lance home economist and Master Clothing and Textile Volunteer from Adams County. Bring with you paper and pencil for note taking; machine applique designs or garments for idea sharing.

Quilting & Hand Work

In our continuing support of this heritage craft, we will offer the following Quilt Classes taught by Louise Bell. Register on the enclosed sign-up sheet. Note: All Quilt Classes are held in Room 11 of the Municipal Building (The Extension Office.) Our office can become cool after hours, you might want to bring a sweater for the evening classes.

Sports Burnout

The past two weeks have found our family staying up later and watching more television than usual. The Olympic games have captured our minds and spirits. I've worried for the boxers, raced with the sprinters and watched each diver to be sure that his head cleared the board.

The Olympics have been an inspiration to many people, and especially young aspiring athletes. Fall especially is a time for sports in our area. And today, more than ever, school-age children are participating in one or more organized sports. Through my junior high and college years I spent many in evening on the practice fields during eight seasons of playing women's field hockey.

While sports have many advantages, a growing number of physicians, parents and coaches are worrying about the impact of overly competitive sports upon the developing child. Studies of stress in young athletes suggest that those who are constantly pushed by parents and coaches run the risk of developing sport burnout -- a total loss of interest in sports caused by the anxiety associated with competition. Even olympic champions have to deal with the issue.

Sport burnout can take on a number of symptoms. Physical signs may include skin rashes, nausea, headaches and muscle tension. Emotional symptoms include depression, lack of energy, sadness and frequent illness. Also, a young athlete who is placed under constant stress to perform is susceptible to injury. In fact, some children may view an injury as a socially acceptable way to avoid the pressure of the sport altogether. A long term effect of sport burnout may be the avoidance of exercise.

As in most things in life, moderaton is the key. Parents can help young athletes develop a healthy life long interest in sports by taking off the pressure to excel. Here are a few suggestions for the parents of a budding athlete.

• Take a positive approach. Praise your child for the positive aspects of his or her performance. Children are more likely to enjoy the sport if they feel they meet parental expectation.

• Focus on your child's developing skills and not the end score. You may be surprised that even participants with a losing season have advanced in their skills.

• Match the child to the sport. A self-motivated child may be more suited for individual sports while a low-key child may enjoy recreational activities.

• Have realistic expectations. Very few children are Olympic champions. Rather, use sports as a way to teach your child about limits, priorities, time management, goal setting, and the importance of sports for health and relaxation.

• Participate in youth sports that are re-designed for the age group such as those that have shorter playing time, smaller fields, and rules that allow children to succeed for younger children.

• Keep competition low key and fun. Look for signs that your child is emotionally able to deal with winning or losing. Often, a child's self esteem is not secure enough to handle losing until adolescence.

• Provide a variety of sports. Growing bodies need to develop a range of skills. There is always time for specialization as a child gets older.

• Don't play through your child, attempting to relive your own athletic roles or fulfill unmet athletic goals of your own. Encourage your child to set his or her own goals.

• Be a positive model by enjoying sports in a socially appropriate manner and live by a healthy lifestyle.

I'm certainly not recommending the "couch potato" syndrome, but rather a careful evaluation of sport involvement, especially by the parents of young children. Sports provide opportunities for healthy physical, emotional and social growth and development that will be of value all through life. Our 1976 State runner-up field hockey team remains a highlight of my school years for the development of skills, healthy body and sportsmanship. I just wonder how many trips up and down the field I could make today. I guess it's time to get back to the fitness center!

American Farmer Degree

Melvin Arrington of Frizzellburg, Md., and Robby Devilbiss of Uniontown, Md., have been nominated and is expected to receive the highest degree awarded by the National FFA Organization, that of American Farmer.

The award is based on outstanding achievements in agricultural production, processing and service programs and on demonstrated leadership abilities. Devilbiss and Arrington will be one of the 713 members receiving the award at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, November 10-12.

Devilbiss, son of Elizabeth and Robert Devilbiss, is currently employed by Doug's Lawn and Landscaping Service of Westminster, Md. Arrington, son of Ray and Esther Arrington, is currently employed by Ralph and Debbie Robertson of Spinning Wheel farm, Westminster, Md. They are members of the Francis Scott Key FFA chapter and their high school agriculture instructor/FFA advisor is Joe Linthicum.

Each degree winner receives a gold American Farmer key and a partially paid trip to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City. The American Farmer degree recognition program is sponsored by the Armstrong Tire Co. of New Haven, Conn.; Case IH of Racine, Wis.; Cyanamid Agricultural Division of Wayne, N.J.; Nachurs Plant Food Company of Marion, Ohio: the Farm Credit System of Denver, Colo.; and Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. of Des Moines, Iowa as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

More than 20,000 FFA members are expected to attend the 61st National FFA Convention, which is the largest annual youth convention in the nation.

TRAINING LESSONS

Harness Honey
LEATHER CONDITIONER
"Makes leather last longer"
HARNESS HONEY was originally developed 20 years ago to treat leather shoe soles to make them last longer It can be used on all leather products, from work harness to boots to baseball gloves, with great results
HARNESS HONEY is not sticky, and is virtually odorless It is non-toxic. It penetrates deeply into the leather and lubricates the fibers, helping to both preserve and rejuvenate It promotes flexibility and makes stitching easier
HARNESS HONEY will not evaporate, once absorbed into the leather it stays there
HARNESS HONEY gives new life to old leather and extends the life of new leather.
PRICES:

We Build Quality for You!

Stand back and admire the HEAVY DUTY, ALL ALUMINUM CONSTRUCTION and overall beauty that this trailer offers with its CLEAN DESIGN AND BUILD. It is a SOUND INVESTMENT that you'll enjoy year after year

The quietness of this ALUMINUM "STATE-OF-THE-ART" TRAILER is due to the FRP side panels, plus the white oak floor adds to your livestock's comfort

The interior is constructed of long lasting, durable fiberglass for easy and sanitary cleanup

Moritz's many years of agricultural and livestock experience in the Richland County, Ohio area have led not only to the overall heavy duty construction and durability of this trailer but also to the beauty of it

This offspring of the proven Moritz heavy duty steel trailer, which is being sold from the uppermost tip of Maine to as far away as Puerto Rico, will meet all of your expectations

THE BOTTOM LINE IS LONGEVITY.

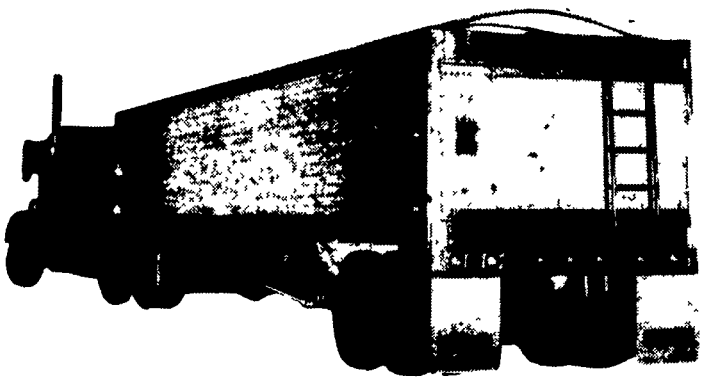
REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

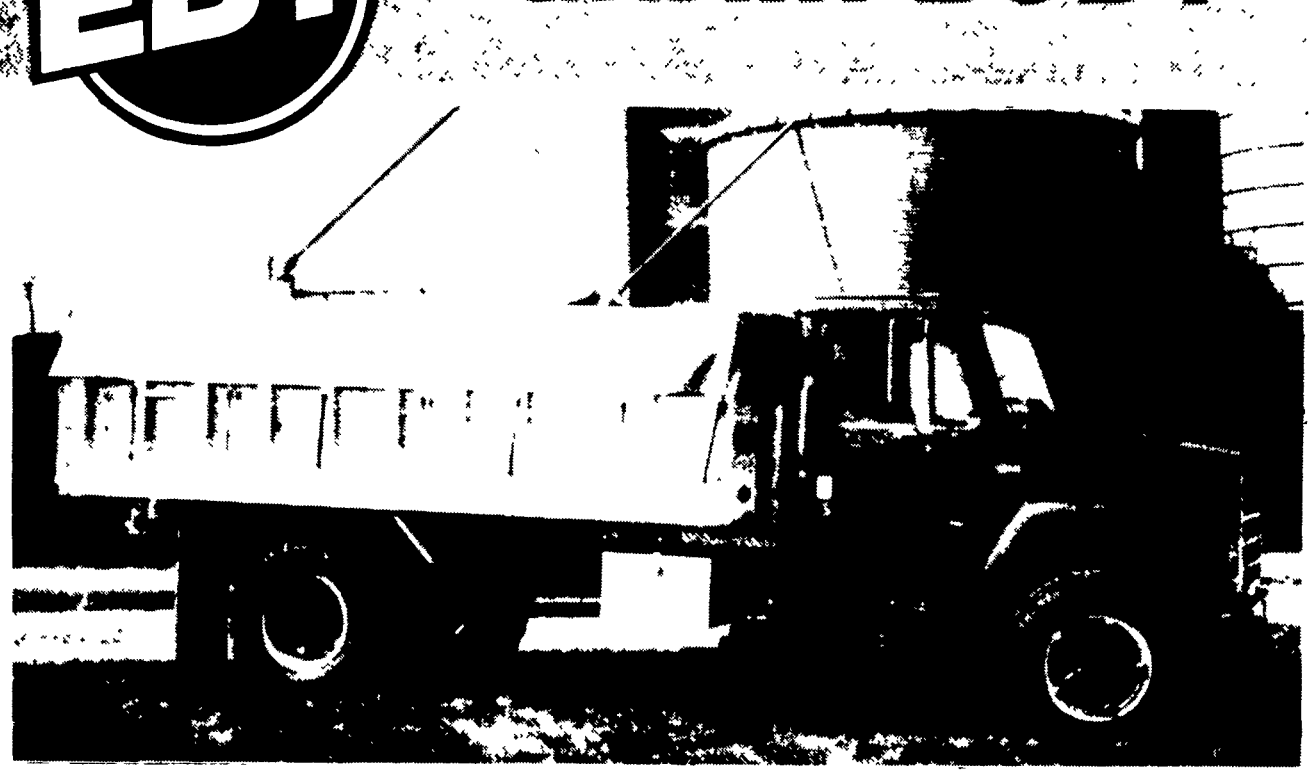
EBY ALUMINUM GRAIN BODY



CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation Available in standard lengths each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot—never needs painting
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work

NEW YORK FARMS

#913 — A good farm and a nice place to live. Looking out the back door of the barn is 240 tillable acres. The best alfalfa and corn land you have seen. Large 2 story barn w/66 tie stalls on 2" pipeline, 1000 gal. bulk tank, 2 large silos, large machinery and grain storage, beautiful 9RM home, 2 baths. All located on a quiet road with little traffic. You can tie up your private yacht 4 miles from the farm. The best lake trout and salmon fishing. You'll look a long time to beat this one. Asking $295,000.

#903 — Here is a farm for the person who would like to get away from everybody, yet close to small towns, schools, post office, etc. Fantastic view overlooking Adarondacks. Located at top of hill end of long driveway. 160 acres, 80 cow conventional barn, 2 silos, pipeline milking, large, comfortable farm home surrounded by trees and lawns, tenant house. Would be a great place for sheep, beef cattle or dairy. Ill health forces sale. $150,000. Some owner financing.

#914 — A nice farm for semi-retirement. 80 acres good alfalfa land, very nice 2 story dairy barn, new machinery building, good 2 story 4BR farm home, trees and large lawn. Located on paved road close to ski resort. Hunting and fishing. Great for small dairy, beef or sheep. $105,000.

These are great buys, and we have more.

Junior Western Horse

Two girls named Stephanie -- from the upper and lower reaches of the Potomac River -- commanded several top placings in the junior western 4-H horse and pony show Aug. 28 at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

Stephanie Wilt, 13, of Boonsboro in Washington County and her 15-year-old Quarter Horse gelding, "Solid Gold Story," placed first in two conformation and equitation classes. They also captured two firsts and a second in the performance classes.

A month earlier, Stephanie had been a member of the Washington County team which placed first in intermediate-age 4-H horse and pony judging during the Maryland 4-H Roundup at the state fairground.

Meanwhile, Stephanie Lange, 9, of Nanjemoy in Charles County and her 13-year-old Quarter Horse-Morgan mare pony, "Truffles," placed second in an equitation class and captured two firsts in the performance classes.

Stephanie's sister, Sharon Lange, 12, finished first in a conformation class, second in an equitation class and first in a performance class with her 11-year-old Quarter Horse mare, "Daisy Morning Star."

Two Baltimore County sisters from Carney also did well. Jennifer Pearce, 11, and her three-year-old POA mare, "Lady Supreme," earned two firsts and two seconds in the pony classes. Krista Pearce, 9, won first in a pony conformation class with her six-year-old POA gelding, "Never Dull Dan."

Another Baltimore County entry, Dana Renzi, 13, of Perry Hall, placed second in a conformation class and won first in three performance classes for ponies with "Amanda del Gacha," her eight-year-old Paso Fino mare.

Amy Lein, 13, of Joppa, won firsts in a conformation class and in grooming and showmanshaip with her two-year-old POA gelding, "NDS Licorice Bits." Amy also won first in the keyhole race for horses with "Toe the Line Toby," an eight-year-old Appaloosa gelding. Amy lives in Harford County, but is a Baltimore County 4-H member.

Two Carroll County sisters from Silver Run won honors in the horse classes with their Appaloosas. Erika Wunderlich, 10, earned two second-place finishes in conformation and equitation classes. Courtney Wunderlich, 9, placed third in an equitation class -- directly behind her sister -- and second in a performance class.

With a 16-year-old Appaloosa mare, Hilary Griffith, 13, of Gaithersburg placed first in two performance classes. Her horse was named "Cinnamin Sprinkles." Hilary lives in Montgomery County but is a Frederick County 4-H member.

Meanwhile, two sisters from St. Charles (Charles County) garnered first-place ribbons with their Appaloosa geldings.

Jennifer Thorne, 12, won in the conformation class for yearlings with "Oh, Boy Trouble." Jessica Thorne, 9, won an equitation class with her horse, "This Bud's for You."

Jessica also was high junior individual in horse and pony judging during the Maryland 4-H Roundup held July 28 at the state fairground.

Southeast District Dairy Show

The 43rd Annual Southeast District Dairy Show was held Friday, August 26, at the Kutztown Fairgrounds. In the show, 199 animals were exhibited by 93 4-H dairy club members from eight southeastern Pennsylvania counties including Berks, Bucks, Chester, Lehigh, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, and Schuylkill. Six breeds of dairy cattle were exhibited and judged separately. Montgomery County 4-H'ers Cynthia Moser of Barto exhibited the Brown Swiss grand champion and Karen Wolfgang of Bechtelsville exhibited the Guernsey junior champion. Other members of the Montgomery County Club that qualified to go on to the state show which was held September 26 at the Farm Show Complex are Daniel Breaux, Paul Gehringer, Susan Slater, and Amy, Beth and Brenda Wolfgang.

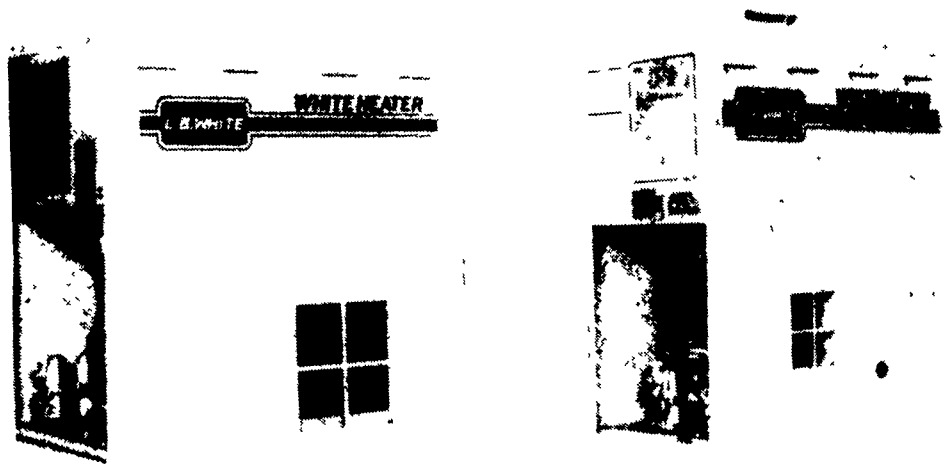
BE PREPARED FOR WINTER
L.B.WHITE AGRICULTURAL HEATERS



L B WHITE HEATERS hang in more animal confinement buildings than all other types of heaters combined

First of all, they're designed and built for economical farm use Since livestock and poultry barns are ventilated year-round, there's enough fresh air to take advantage of the heat and cost savings provided by a direct-fired heater Maintenance of a rugged WHITE HEATER is so minimal that you can spend all your time doing what you do best farming In your shirt sleeves, if you like Your WHITE HEATER will keep your farm building that comfortable

FEATURES
- Removable access panel for easy access to high limit switch
- Integral gas pressure tap for quick testing of supplied gas pressure
- Easily removable fan wheel
- Quick-change motor mount for speedy field replacement of fan motors or blower wheels
- Pilot light operation for dependable ignition
- Stainless steel thermostat for accuracy and corrosion resistance
- Service door provides easy access to pilot light and allows burner service and replacement without removing case

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

QUALITY USED PARTS

Our Trunnion Bearing is designed to mount on our C-Flex™ spring cushioned bearing standard and is allowed to self-align as the gang flexes. Part of the secret to the Trunnion Bearings' longevity is 2-triple lip seals and metal seal washers that prevent dirt from contaminating the inner workings of the regreasable bearing. Excellent seal protection, of course, reduces wear and helps eliminate premature bearing failure.

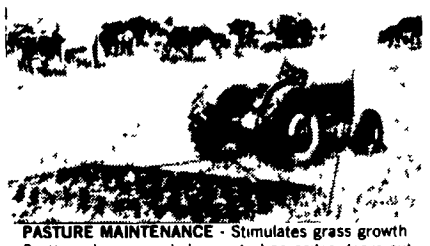
A Good Idea That Works



PASTURE MAINTENANCE - Stimulates grass growth Scatters droppings helps control parasites tears out dead growth aerates for better moisture penetration works in fertilizer Flexes to cover every inch of the ground

PASTURE RENOVATION at Low Cost - (Fertilize and lime as required) Scarify to prepare shallow seedbed without destroying existing turf Use to cover seed after sowing Inexpensive no dangerous chemicals or costly equipment needed

TILLAGE - Use back of field cultivator (photo) disc spring tooth plow or alone prepares a fine seedbed breaks up crust on hard packed soil Use for first cultivation on corn beans etc Covers small grain back of broadcaster

FUERST F-L-E-X-I-B-L-E TINE HARROW®
ADJUSTABLE PENETRATION FOR GREATER VERSATILITY -- HERCULES ILLUSTRATED

MAXIMUM PENETRATION Tines down pointed slightly back
LIGHT PENETRATION – Tines down pointed further back
SMOOTHING FLOATING Tines up pull in either direction
TWO JOBS IN ONE PASS – Front section maximum penetration rear section light penetration or floating HERCULES Models only

HERCULES — Faster and Safer at any Speed!

Unique tine design and exclusive spreader bars allow much greater speed save labor time and money Others recommend operation at 3½ to 4 m p h (at higher speeds they skip jump and skim the surface loosing effectiveness) See chart for added acreage covered by Hercules

Acres covered per hour at various speeds

Width of Harrow	3 m p h	3½ m p h	4 m p h	*5 m p h	6 m p h	*7 m p h	*8 m p h
8 ft	2.4	2.8	3.2	4	4.8	5.6	6.4
10 ft	3	3.5	4	5	6	7	8
12 ft	3.6	4.2	4.8	6	7.2	8.4	9.6
16 ft	4.8	5	6.4	8	9.6	11.2	12.8
20 ft	6	7	8	10	12	14	16
24 ft	7.2	8.4	9.6	12	14.4	16.8	19.2

*Only the Fuerst Hercules design allows effective coverage and operation at these higher speeds

Easy to use, handle, store

Specially designed 7/16 (10 5 mm) steel tines virtually indestructible No parts to grease oil tighten Design and construction assures maximum penetration while flexing to cover every inch of the ground

Connecting front and rear sections of Hercules Harrow

All models sectionalized for ease of handling Sections roll up for compact storage transport All FUERST Harrows easily assemble disassemble without tools If ever needed parts readily available

Like to get a full 5-year warranty on your next running gear?

Then ask for Unverferth. That's right, our precisely built, road-ready, 8- and 10-ton wagon running gears come with a full, 5-year warranty and much more. For example:

To give you years of safe, worry-free service, we incorporate features like all-welded construction with extra bracing, pivot point grease fittings, and renewable bushings in the steering and front spindles.

And, to help keep those years of service safe, we use a specially aligned frame for smooth, straight trailing and 180° tongue swivel and innovative low-profile design for added maneuverability and unmatched stability...even on hillsides.

For more about reliable, safe Unverferth running gears or our full line of high quality grain boxes, see your dealer today.

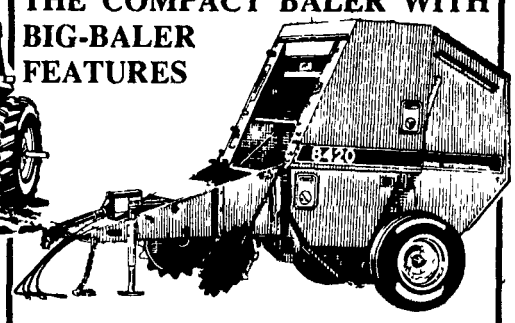
83" Bucket, Powered From Your Tractor Remotes Complete w/Mounting Kit NC116

Case International 8420 Round Baler
THE COMPACT BALER WITH BIG-BALER FEATURES



Produce consistent 39x54-inch bales using only a 30-PTO-horsepower tractor. Yet reap the advantage of direct feed, open-throat chamber design so bales build fast, sure and tight. Other big-baler features
- Aggressive starter roll so each bale starts right
- Audible signal when bales are done and ready for wrapping
- Cam-actuated low-profile pickup, close tine spacing for clean sweeping of heavy windrows
- Optional hydraulic twine wrapping system

A heavyweight producer in a lightweight package.

YOUR SIZE... YOUR TYPE
Case International 3640 Round Balers

Better balers build better bales So Case IH has built these two top-quality balers in the sizes you need, with the improvements you want Pick your size
- 3640 - 6-foot diameter bales, 4 foot wide

With these great features
- Wide, low-profile pickup sweeps in broad, windblown or straying windrows
- Wide, seamless forming belts resist twisting and live up to 40 times longer than spliced belts
- Fixed bale chamber builds bales that are breathable inside, dense and weatherproof outside
- Never back up to dump a bale; raise the tailgate, the bale rolls out and away

COMPARE THESE FEATURES AND OPTIONS

Simple hydraulics allows one valve to operate the lift and stabilizer cylinders Center plumbing means less hose length and easier coupling

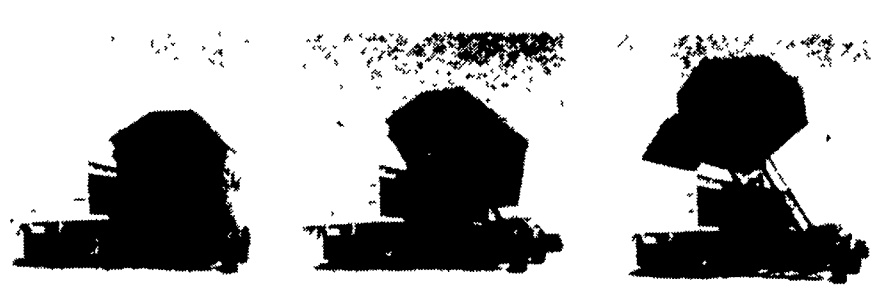
The basic box is heavy-duty steel welded seams, and reinforced for even more strength

Standard offset hitch adjusts in 5-inch steps to lengths from 6 3 to 7 11 To allow for different row crop spacings you can offset either right or left 5 7½ 10 or 12½ inches

Rub rails offer more protection to vehicles when approaching, during dumping cycle and when departing

Stabilizer cylinders hydraulically lock on to axle to hold wagon rigid during dump cycle

Galvanized roof features vent insert for straight-through air flow



The model 700 dump wagon is designed for years of trouble free service The hydraulic system with a cable assist is designed to unload large loads of up to 20,000 lbs quickly and efficiently, even if the load is not distributed evenly

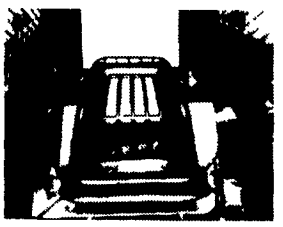
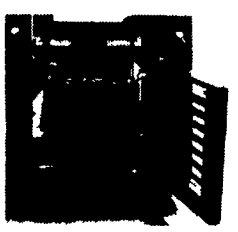
GEHL®



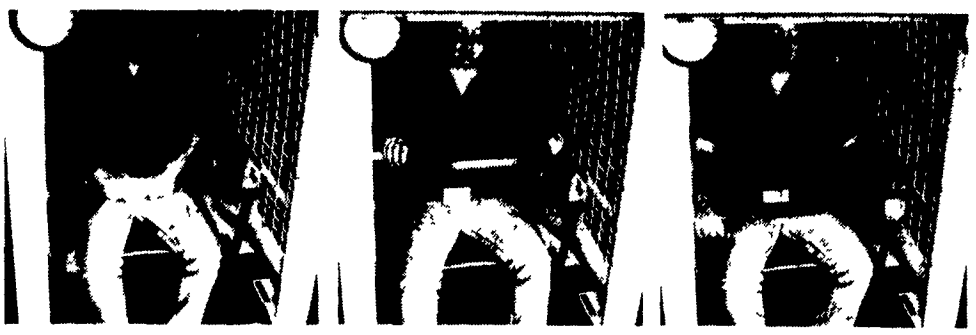
The roomy cab features side-mounted Load-Trak hand controls that make Gehl the easiest-to-operate skid loader available today. The left handle controls steering and traction. The right handle controls the bucket and boom. Your hands do all the work to deliver precise bucket and drive control.

A mechanical arm lock drops into place for servicing the loader with the lift arm up.



The rear grill swings open and the engine cover swings up for access to the engine, battery and filters.

The entire ROPS/FOPS structure pivots back and out of the way and locks in the "up" position for full and easy access to drive and hydraulic components. The spring-loaded, counter-balanced ROPS/FOPS makes rollback an easy one-man operation.



One of the safety features of every Gehl skid loader is a seat belt which provides operator restraint when buckled. In addition to a seat belt, Gehl skid loaders are equipped with a secondary operator restraint seat bar. When the bar is in the "up" position, the load arms automatically lock so they cannot be lowered. With the seat bar in the operational position, the operator is ready to start the engine. In addition to providing safety, the seat bar also serves as a comfortable, padded armrest.

Attachment change is quick and easy. Simply line up the mounting brackets, roll back the lift arms, and lock the attachment in place. (Model 5620/6620 system shown. Other models feature a similar system.)

Full attachment selection Faster. Smoother. At any job.

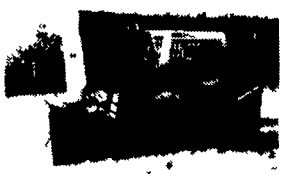
Wide range of buckets. Available in 40 to 90 inch widths Heaped capacities up to 34 cubic feet

Concrete breaker. The fast, easy way to break up concrete

Backhoes. Three models with digging depths down to 11 feet.

Utility fork with grapple. Keeps you in command of loose materials, brush, etc

Trencher. Digs 6 to 12 inch widths down to 5½ feet deep

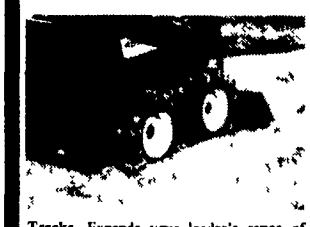


Snow blowers. Clear snow quickly, cleanly and easily

Pallet fork. Choose from a variety of fork lengths Top guard section is standard.

Hydraulic augers. A wide variety of auger diameters handle just about any hole digging job

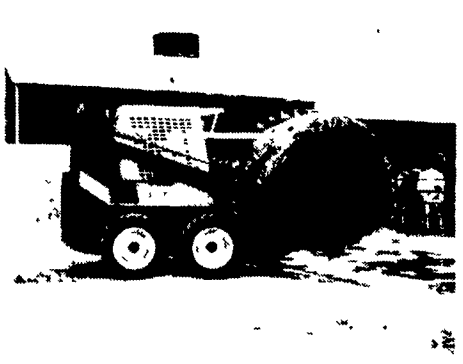
Sweepers Hydraulically driven sweepers handle tedious sweeping chores cleanly and quickly



Tracks. Expands your loader's range of applications by providing superb flotation and traction in the most adverse conditions

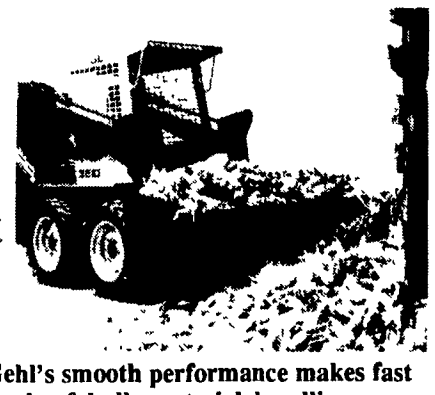
Cab enclosures. Easily removable enclosures provide operator protection from the elements

Equipment trailer. Full-bed trailer is constructed of heavy structural steel Handles a variety of transporting needs



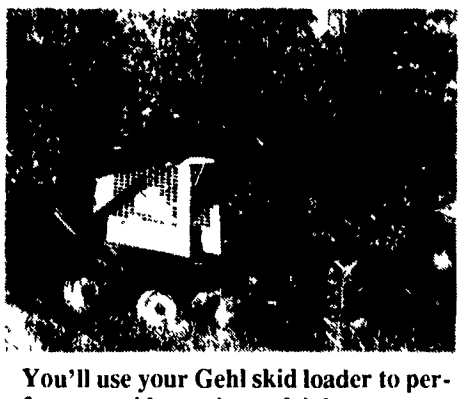
Big payloads increase the versatility of Gehl skid loader.

Gehl's self-leveling lift action means less spillage.



Gehl's smooth performance makes fast work of bulk material handling.

Outstanding maneuverability and power handle any manure handling chore.



You'll use your Gehl skid loader to perform a wide variety of jobs.

A Gehl skid loader is a year 'round performer. It's the one machine you'll use every day.

1...Rugged, dependable performance.

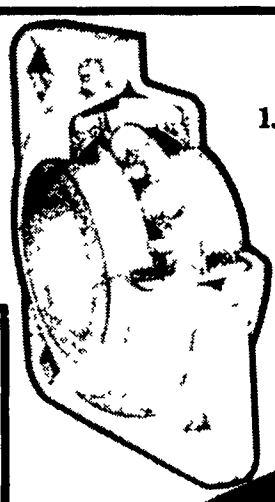
2...Excellent penetration in tough conditions.

3...Level job every time.

4...Higher resale value when it's time to trade or sell.

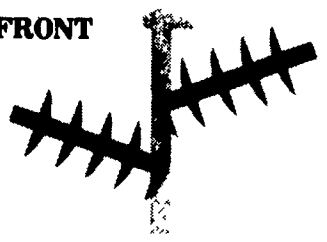
5...More timely planting.

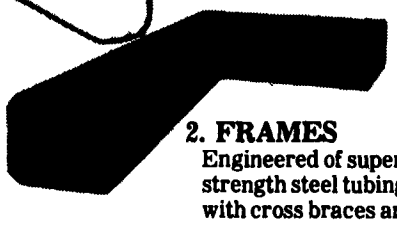
6...More time with the wife.



1. "SUPERSEAL" BEARINGS
Engineered to assure positive greasing directly into the cartridge. The triple lip seals keep grease in, dirt and moisture out.

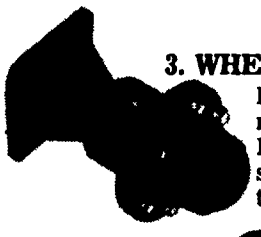
5. OVERLAPPING FRONT DISC GANGS
A unique Krause design for smoother, more uniform field finish. It eliminates the center strip of untilled ground left by conventional tandem discs.





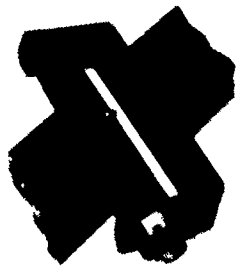
2. FRAMES
Engineered of super strength steel tubing with cross braces and gussets at major stress points.

6. "ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS
Krause invented the "Rock-Flex" arm in 1965. This unique C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage. "SuperSeal" bearing is completely encased in rubber to absorb shock.



3. WHEEL HUBS
Krause Made - Precision machined and regreasable. Every hub passes rigid inspection to assure proper tolerances.

7. WING HINGES
Krause uses big 1¾" diameter bolts on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area.



4. TIE RODS AND SPOOLS
Alloy steel tie rods are 1¾" in diameter on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty) - (30% to 70% stronger than many other brands.) There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing.
Krause spools are ductile iron, and weigh 20-to 30-lbs. each.

8. ROCKER SHAFTS
A full 6" in diameter with big steel tube wheel arms for maximum carrying capacity. Compare ours to other makes!

The Secrets To Case International Axial-Flow Combine Success In The East...

FEWER MOVING PARTS...

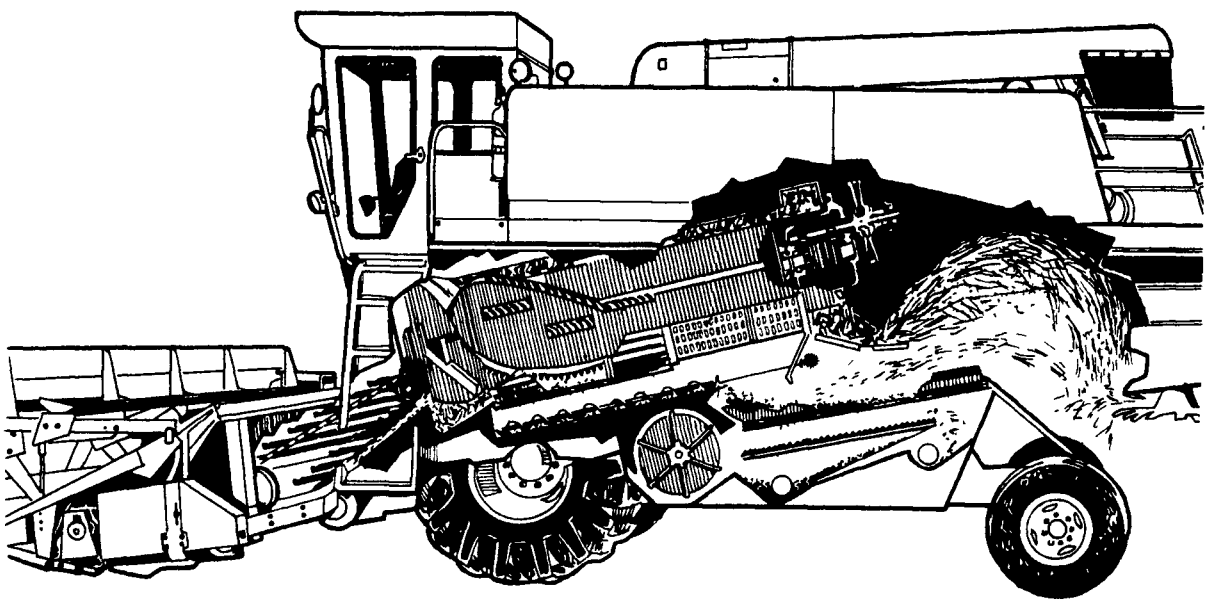
ALL CROP VERSATILITY...



The one moving part in Axial-Flow's entire threshing/separating process is the single large-diameter rotor. Nothing more. No cylinder, beaters or straw walkers. There's far less that can break or need maintenance. That's Axial-Flow combine simplicity.

Axial-Flow helps bring top price at the elevator. It handles grain more gently. Less crackage and dockage. You'll combine higher moisture grain at faster ground speeds for a quicker harvest. That's Axial-Flow performance.

Axial-Flow Combines for every crop. Designed to harvest over 100 different crops including corn, soybeans, wheat, sorghum and others. All popular grain header sizes plus 4 to 8-row corn heads.

HOOBER COMBINE SERVICE...

HOOBER COMBINE SERVICE SPECIALISTS KNOW COMBINES.

For eleven years Hoober's 5 combine mechanics have been working with Axial-Flow technologies. A COMBINE BOUGHT FROM HOOBER IS BACKED BY PEOPLE WHO KNOW AND CARE.

NO. 1 DAIRYING DIESEL

KHD DEUTZ

Since 1968 F2L-912 diesels have earned the reputation as the most reliable diesel. Don't settle for less

EASIER STARTING: Heavy flywheel provides easy starting. No electric heater plugs.

Continuous Duty Rating: 26.5 HP @ 1800 RPM

Fewer repair parts than comparable three-cylinder diesels - cheaper to overhaul.

It has direct injection, lube oil cooling, and oil cooled pistons. This engine has proven to survive the extreme heat of a heavy load in a small engine house better than any other engine.

PLUS-FAMOUS DEUTZ FUEL ECONOMY

F2L912 Deutz w/Clutch used 1 year

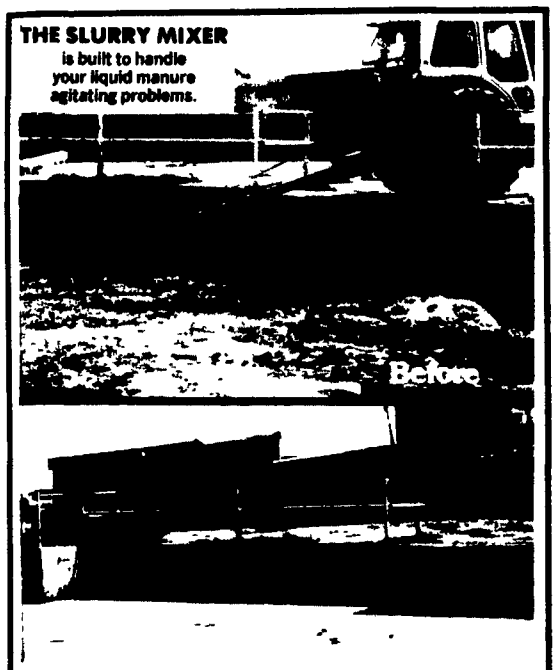
is built to handle your liquid manure agitating problems.



This 3 point hitch Slurry Mixer's large 22" propellor produces a strong undercurrent that moves liquids, floating chunks of crust, weeds, bedding and dried manure into the propellor that chops, mixes and blends your manure into an even liquid Slurry.

Priced at $2,285

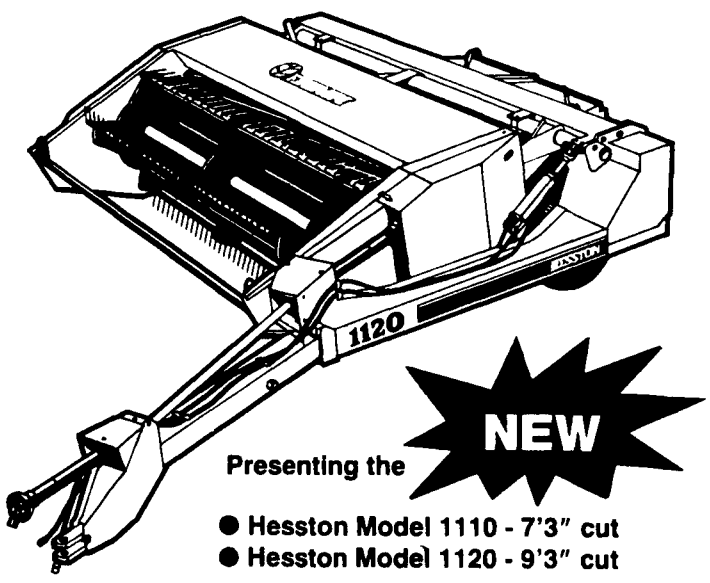
HESSTON THE PRIME LINE

Have It Your Way – Versatility With Economy!



NEW

Presenting the

- Hesston Model 1110 - 7'3" cut
- Hesston Model 1120 - 9'3" cut

These new Hesston pull-type mower-conditioners are designed to cut fast, dry hay quickly and save the leaves.

The reliable halfswaybar sickle drive (1700 spm) cuts the crop quickly and the standard 4 bat reel (5 or 6 bats optional) delivers the crop directly to the full width, engaging conditioner rolls. Swath shield can be changed easily by moving one lever, and forming shields are adjustable for any size of windrow

See all of the value-packed features of these outstanding Hesston-built machines at your dealer today!

"Consider The Concrete Advantages"

You still have time to get your Sollenberger Silo for high moisture corn storage this fall. The summer of 1988 will be remembered for the many hot, dry days. These high temperatures damaged a lot of stored corn in structures that have a thin wall and do not reflect heat. Avoid this heat damage with a poured concrete silo from Sollenberger Silos Crop.

* The Laidig 43 bottom unloader handles high moisture ear corn and shelled corn.
* The Laidig 98 or 198 will do a good job with grains or forage at 50% moisture. BY FILLING EARLIER YOU CAN SAVE YOUR VALUABLE LEAVES.

You Will Appreciate The Quality Of A Sollenberger Silo For Many Years To Come.

FACT: Our poured concrete wall has 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel. Heat damage occurs when stored feed is heated above 95° F. Our silo protects your feed quality.

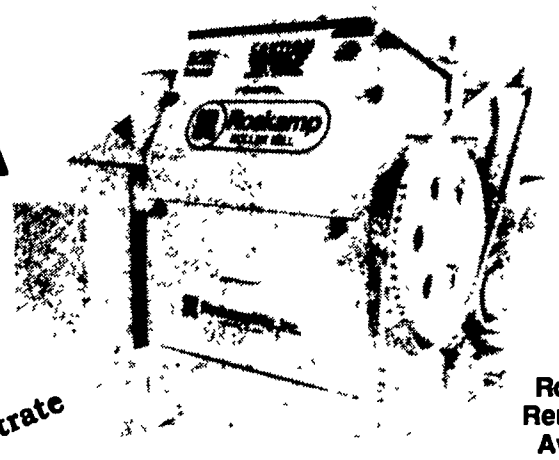
ROSKAMP STATIONARY CORN SILAGE ROLLER MILL



We Will Demonstrate

Roskamp Rental Unit Available

FOR DAIRY
Rolling silage fresh — just before feeding — increases milk production.

FOR BEEF
Less silage is required per pound of gain when silage is freshly rolled before feeding.

FOR HOGS
Freshly rolled silage, with all kernels cracked and all cobs crushed provides a highly palatable and more readily assimilated feed for sows.

DUAL PURPOSE
Hi-moisture or dry shelled corn can be metered into the Roskamp Silage Mill Hopper along with the silage for a uniformly mixed and digestible ration.

University tests have proven that 20% of high moisture whole corn passes through the animal's system undigested. This means evern fifth scoopful of expensive grain is left on your feedlot!

That's why it's money in the bank to freshly roll every bit of high moisture or dry corn just before feeding. Freshly rolled feed is the most palatable and digestible.

FACTS ABOUT ENERGY FREE DRINKERS

* Our Company designs the "original" and has continuously manufactured drinkers that work for 25 years
* We have over 200 drinkers operating successfully on farms in the east for the 7 years we've handled them
* We have drinkers that are watering dairy cows, beef, bulls, horses, sheep, goats and hogs.
* Our drinkers are working at the University of Delaware Farm, University of Maryland Farm and the Delaware State College Farm.
* Our drinkers require no electric, no gas, no excavating and is one of the easiest installed in the industry.

NOW...Six Models

We are probably the most experienced Energy Free drinker dealers in the East with over 7 years experience. Write or call for more information.

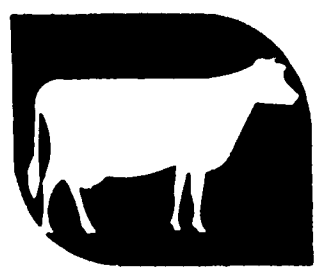
PRO-4 SANITIZING TEAT DIP



Don't kid yourself . . . killing GERMS is only part of the mastitis prevention program!! The answer is PRO-4 Teat Dip.

Passes Protocols "A", "B", & "C" Of The National Mastitis Council

Pro-4 formulation recognizes that killing germs is only half the battle in mastitis control. Maintaining good healthy teat tissue is the other half of the battle that must be won to reduce mastitis. The multiple conditioning action on the teat skin of Pro-4 is superior to any teat dip on the market today. Pro-4 Teat Dip has a record of 15 years of safe and effective use.

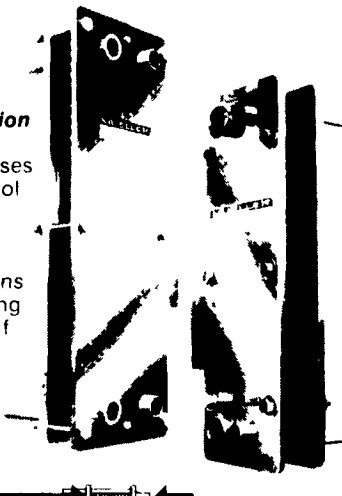
The Mueller Accu-Therm™ Precooler Cuts Cooling Costs Up To One-half and Puts More Profits in Your Pocket!

Makes your operation more profitable!
The Accu-Therm uses well water to precool your milk before entering the milk cooler therefore your milk cooler runs less and cuts cooling costs up to one-half of their previous costs



Minimal Installation Effort and Time!
The Accu-Therm fits into any operation regardless of the space requirements and makes operation expansion easy by simply adding plates without added space requirements

Low Maintenance!
The Accu-Therm cleans in place and does not add to the cleaning work load of the milking operation

Penn State

Plans for the third annual Shepherds Symposium have been finalized for the up coming program on November 18 and 19. This year's symposium will be held at the Hyatt Pittsburgh, at Chatham Center in Pittsburgh.

In addition to having two principle topics a series of workshop sessions have been scheduled for the two day event. Some of these break-out sessions will permit learning in the areas of 1) Wool classing 2) How to catch that problem predator 3) Selecting the right spinning wheel 4) Building a predator control fence 5) Basics for starting a home-base craft business 6) Breeding systems for lean lamb production 7) Developing your own lamb marketing program and 8) New directions for Pennsylvania wool.

The Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers Association in cooperation with the American Sheep Producers Council are planning a special Friday evening program, November 18. The lamb-o-rama will feature a generous supply of lamb hors d'oeuvres being promoted in the hotel and restaurant trade throughout the country.

Program registration details may be requested by calling your local extension office or contacting the Penn State Conference & Short Course office (814) 865-8301.

Pennsylvania Sheep Referendum Update:

We still await a definite voting date, however the Pennsylvania Department of Markets has informed me that mid-October is the tentative period for mailing some 4000 ballots to all sheep producers who have received 1987 ASCS incentive payments. There will be a 10 day voting period, with results expected to be publicized the later part of October. More details may be requested by calling PDA direct: Mr. Vernon Ross, Phone (717) 787-2376.

Herd-Management Plan Will Increase Profits

SAN ANTONIO, TX — A herd-management program that includes a breeding-soundness examination of rams and the use of vasectomized rams to prepare ewes for breeding will significantly improve the profitability of a lamb producer, according to Don E. Bailey, D.V.M., of Roseburg, Ore., executive secretary of the American Association of Sheep and Goat Practitioners (AASGP).

Bailey was one of several speakers representing the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) and three other national veterinary organizations, including AASGP, at a meeting of the Livestock Publications Council in San Antonio.

Bailey estimated that instituting breeding-soundness examinations for rams would reduce the cost of breeding per ewe from $10-$15 to $3-$4, because producers would not have to use as many rams per ewe during breeding.

He said exposing ewes to vasectomized rams also can improve reproductive efficiency by inducing ovulation before mating with a fertile ram. Vasectomized rams also are being used to identify ewes that are not pregnant for culling.

Intensive management practices and innovative veterinary techniques can enable sheep producers to double or even triple lamb production per ewe, Bailey said.

"Some farmers now produce well in excess of 200 lambs weaned per 100 ewes mated, and the more ambitious are aiming to produce one pound of lamb per ewe per day over a 365 day period," Bailey said.

Sheep have a gestation period of only five months, but unlike cattle or swine, they tend to be seasonal breeders, and most ewes lamb only once a year, he explained. Some ewes will lamb twice yearly or at least three times every two years. Another strategy is to induce multiple births, he said.

Cross-breeding with certain breeds can have dramatic effects on flock reproductive performance by extending the breeding season, Dorsets for example, or by stimulating earlier onset of puberty and increased ovulation rates, Finnish Landrace, for example.

Breeding soundness evaluations of rams are important, because even temporary infertility can have a dramatic negative effect on reproductive efficiency. These evaluations also assure the timely culling of rams affected with various infectious diseases that influence semen production.

New techniques now available through veterinarians include a pregnancy diagnosis that tells farmers which ewes are pregnant and how many fetuses each is carrying to facilitate extra feeding of ewes carrying multiple fetuses. Embryo transfer and artificial insemination are techniques with great potential for improvement of reproductive efficiency, but the sheep industry has been slow to adopt them, often because of technical problems, Bailey said.

Other new techniques sheep practitioners now are able to offer producers include estrous induction, synchronization of cycles to get all ewes in a flock lambing at the same time, and induction of parturition to control the timing of deliveries. Two promising new techniques now being used successfully overseas have yet to be approved in the U.S.: use of androstenedione as a vaccine to increase the ovulation rate and melatonin, a hormone that advances the breeding season.

Bailey highly recommended veterinary investigation of abortion outbreaks in sheep flocks, noting that several effective vaccines or management changes are now available to prevent recurrences.

"Upwards of 15 to 20 percent of all lambs born die before weaning. Once a veterinarian determines the cause of these losses, it is possible to reduce mortality significantly by implementing preventive measures," Bailey said.

He said a sheep herd-management program can be organized by seven distinct seasons in the sheep raising year: pre-breeding, breeding, pre-lambing, lambing, post-lambing, fattening in the pasture, and weaning. The result of following a herd management program with the advice of a veterinarian will be increased profitability for the sheep farmer, Bailey said.

Equestrian Center To Host Horse Show

NUREMBERG (Schuylkill) — Ravens Run Equestrian Center, at Valley of Lakes Resort near Hazleton, will hold a riding clinic conducted by renowned horseman Joe Boyle on Sunday, October 2, beginning at 2:00 p.m.

Boyle holds qualified judge holding cards in American Paint Horse, Appaloosa Horse Club, Pinto, Palomino and POA. He also is approved by the American Judging Association. Classes to be offered include horsemanship, showmanship, western riding and hunt seat. Admission to the clinic is $5 for gallery seating and $25 if horse and rider participate in one of the sessions conducted by Boyle.

Ravens Run Equestrian Center is a complete horse facility offering boarding, training, showing, lessons, sales, horse-drawn carriages and sleigh rides. Additionally, the center, located just south of Hazleton off Route 924, provides a multitude of amenities for the discerning horseman, including private secured facility, a new indoor arena measuring 60' by 160', a new 40' by 100' barn that encloses 28 box stalls, 4,500 private acres of trails, and an on premises tack and feed store. Presently under construction is an outdoor riding arena. For more information on the riding clinic and facilities, telephone 717/384-4066, or write Ravens Run Equestrian Center, Valley of Lakes, Nuremberg, PA 18641.

Promotion-Enhanced Consumer Pork Demand

DES MOINES, Iowa — A University of Missouri ag economist announced this week that consumer demand for pork has increased two to three percent for the first four months of 1988. Glenn Grimes also said that average retail prices are about the same as a year ago.

Hog prices for the past three weeks support the idea that consumer demand is increasing. Despite a 12 percent increase in production for the first four months of 1988, cash receipts are up 2.5 percent.

The strength in prices for the January to April period continues the trend seen in 1987. Grimes estimates that stronger consumer pork demand during 1987 put an extra $500 million in producers' pockets. He stated that the stronger demand meant an additional $6 or more per head marketed for pork producers. The investment by producers of about 31 cents per head in promotion and development through the 100 percent checkoff programs has played a major role to achieve this increased demand.

What makes the phenomenon of stable or rising prices in the face of increased production intriguing is that it defies the normal economic laws of supply and demand. Usually, when hog production increases, price decreases. This wasn't the case during January to April, 1988 or during all of 1987. Hog prices remained strong despite an increase in number of hogs marketed during both those periods.

"Over the last three decades, producers have made great strides in improving the fat/lean ratio of their hogs. And, state and national promotional efforts have helped inform consumers of the new, leaner product," said Grimes.

One of the promotional programs funded by the checkoff is the Pork — The Other White Meat campaign. The campaign was launched in March of 1987 by the National Pork Producers Council, (NPPC), to help reposition fresh pork in the minds of America's consumer. Seven months later, an independent research company found that consumers' unaided association of pork as a white meat increased more than 160 percent.

In addition to the White Meat campaign last year, NPPC became the first national commodity group to develop and trademark a standardized premium, boneless meat cut and market it nationally. By the end of 1987, 25,000 supermarkets were featuring "America's Cut." It is estimated that "America's Cut" could add $10.6 million in additional sales in 1988 to the retail pork business.

FDA To Attack Salmonella In Eggs

The Food and Drug Administration announced Aug. 1 in Food Chemical News that it is planning a joint program with USDA "to attack salmonella enteritidis in eggs."

A program of bacteriological and serological monitoring for salmonella enteritidis in flocks of hens used for egg production is in the planning stage, according to a draft of a joint Food and Drug Administration/Department of Agriculture Task Force report on programs to cut down salmonella contamination, the announcement said.

Food and Drugs Commissioner Dr. Frank E. Young reportedly has listed a campaign against salmonella contamination of eggs as a priority project, and may announce the recommendations of the task force at a public meeting to "pressure the industry into accepting the proposals," the announcement said.

The announcement came as a surprise to United Egg Producers which has been designing its own salmonella monitoring plan, and, for several months, has been pleading with USDA for assistance.

The problem is suspected to be in only 10 percent of the multiplier breeder flocks which consists of about 3 million birds. Monies to eliminate such flocks would be minimal.

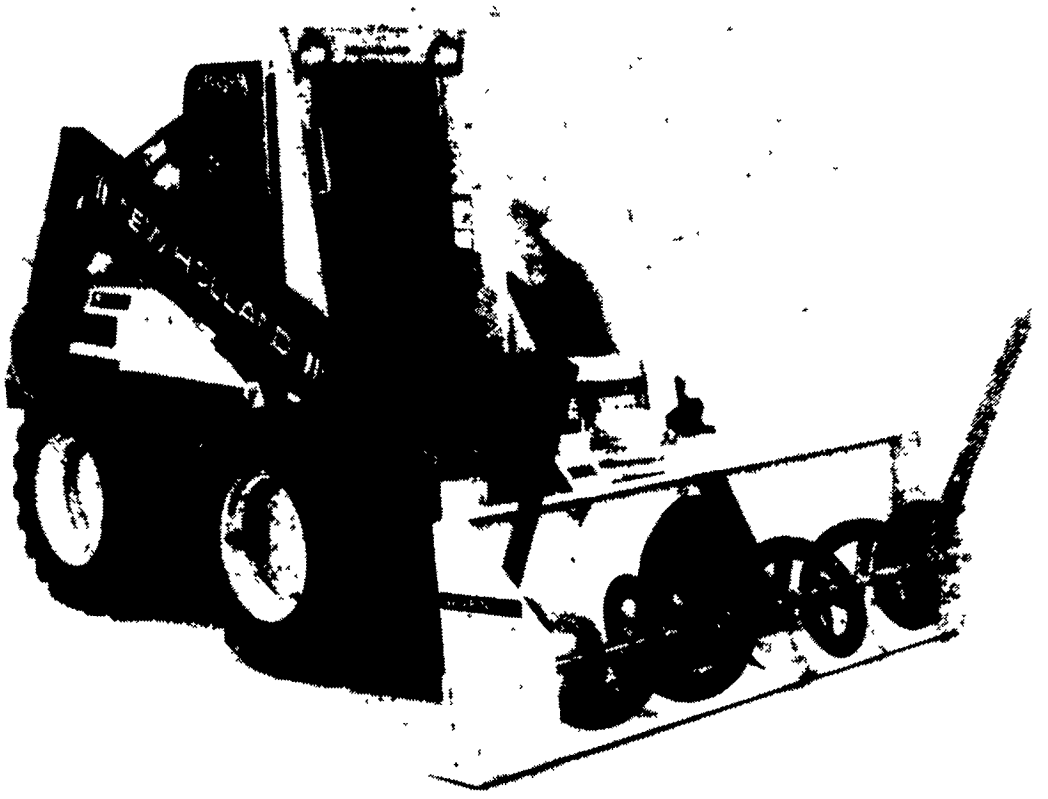
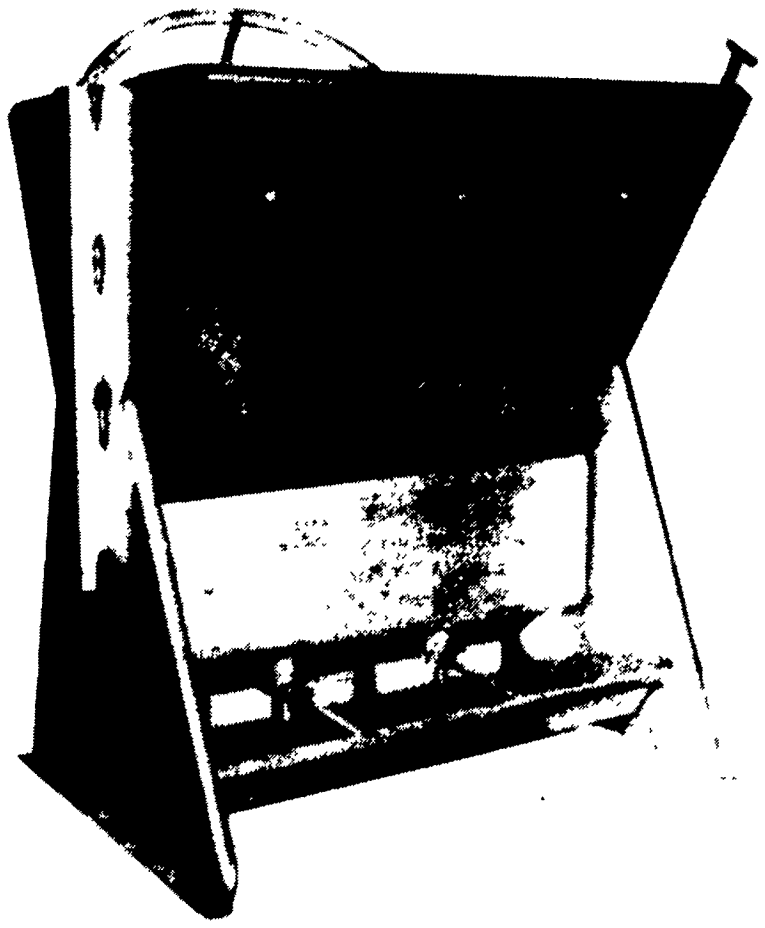
Ford New Holland Offers Snow-Blower Attachment



A New Holland skid-steer loader with a snow blower attachment busts through drifts and deep snows with ease. Four-wheel traction and hydrostatic drive provide excellent maneuverability. The hydraulic-driven two-stage blower for the L-550 and L-780 series has optional electric spout control, cuts 6-foot swath. Optional glass cab panels provide operator comfort in cold weather.



This feeder has three feeder spaces per side and allows pigs to mix their own feed with water.

Aqua Feeders Available For Single Litters, Smaller Pens

LYONS, NE — Four smaller Aqua Feeder models, designed for feeding single litters of pigs or smaller pens of pigs, have been introduced by Swine Service Specialists, Inc.

Aqua Feeders are the original low-maintenance wet feeder in which hogs mix their own feed by using paddles to release feed and nipple waterers to release water.

Models N2 and N3 are nursery models with two and three feeder spaces per side and are ideal for feeding a single litter of pigs. Models F2 and F3 finishing feeders, with two and three feeder spaces per side, can either be positioned in the center of a pen to allow hogs to eat from both sides, or installed between two pens like larger Aqua Feeder models.

The new models operate identically to larger Aqua feeders, with these proven features: a heavy-duty design constructed of 304 stainless steel; 10-15 percent faster rate of gain with a 5 percent or greater feed efficieny advantage.

In addition to its Aqua Feeders, Swine Service Specialists markets a broad line of hog equipment, including farrowing crates, penning, heating and ventilation information, contact: Swine Service Specialists, Inc., Box 555, Lyons, NE 68038. Phone 800/654-1378.

Deere Presents New Four-Wheel-Drive Tractors

MOLINE, IL — John Deere has introduced three totally new 60 Series 4WD tractor models that feature a modular design concept for more flexibility in component selection, reduced maintenance, and improved reliability. They are the 8560 (235 engine hp), 8760 (300 engine hp), and the 8960 (370 engine hp).

"The top design criteria was to establish a new industry yardstick by which quality and reliability would be measured," according to Terry Woods, project manager of 4WD tractors. "This meant keeping the tractors simple while providing the features expected by our customers in today's marketplace."

"We visited with Deere owners as well as owners of competitive tractors and determined that the ideal design would give us the flexibility to tailor options like transmission, hitch, and PTO to best meet customer requirements. These considerations led us to a totally new modular design concept for the 60 Series 4WD tractors."

New Engines

The 8560 is powered by a 7.6L (466 cubic inch) six-cylinder diesel engine with a rated speed of 2100 rpm. The 7.6L engine uses air-to-air aftercooling and a high-efficiency turbocharger for greater power capability and fuel economy. Many internal engine improvements such as high-ring pistons, redesigned cylinder head with larger valves, and a new fuel injection system contribute to a higher compression ratio, better breathing, and more efficient combustion. These new features provide improved fuel economy and lugging ability, faster start-up with less smoke, and ignition key shut-off.

The 8760 is powered by a new 10.1L (619 cubic inch) six-cylinder diesel engine with a rated speed of 2100 rpm. Air-to-air aftercooling and a high-efficiency turbocharger contribute to increased power capability, greater durability by lowering internal operating temperatures and pressure, improved fuel economy, and increased torque reserve.

New 10 micron micro-glass/cellulose full-flow and by-pass oil filters are mounted vertically on the right side of the engine for improved filtration, extended change intervals, and easier servicing. A new lubrication system assures uniform lube pressure throughout the engine, resulting in added reliability.

A 14.0L (855 cubin inch) in-line six-cylinder diesel engine, with a 1900 rpm rated speed, powers the 8960. Air-to-liquid aftercooling and a high efficiency turbocharger provide improved fuel economy and lugging ability. A raised "ring pack" reduces dead airspace and improves combustion efficiency while increasing the compression ratio for faster start-up with less smoke.

Three New Transmissions

The standard 12-speed syncro transmission provides three synchronized gears in four ranges. A 24-speed PowrSync™ fully synchronized transmission is optiona on all models and provides siz speeds in four ranges. A power shiftable hi-lo provides no-clutch shifting from first to second, third to fourth, and fifth to sixth, plus reverse one to reverse two. Also available on the 8760 and 8960 is a 12-speed full powershift transmission for those customers requiring frequent gear changes.

Inboard planetary final drives distribute the axle loads evenly, provide greater durability, and permit a wide variation of wheel spacing. Cooled and filtered oil lubricates the axle and differential components. All three models feature a standard differential lock on the front and rear axles which can be engaged on-the-go to increase traction and control in adverse conditions or on hillsides.

Additional Features

Oil-cooled, hydraulically-actuated power brakes never need adjustment and provide an extra measure of safety.

A pressure-compensated, closed-center hydraulic system, with standy-by pressure of 2530 psi, provides fast and smooth hydraulic response. A full-flow charge pump provides 110 percent of the main pump flow, thereby eliminating cavitation, especially at low engine rpm. The charge pump also provides low return pressure for use of single-acting remote cylinders. O-ring face seal (ORS) hydraulic fittings provide reliable leak-free connections. Three selective control valves are standard; a fourth control valve is available for field installation.

A three-point hitch with quick-coupler is available as a field-installed attachment or a factory option on all models. The position controlled electro-hydraulic hitch uses a category 3 quick-coupler on the 8560 amd 8760, and category 4/4N on the 8960. Hitch lift capacity has been increased 36 percent to match the heavier requirements of today's implements. A remote raise/lower switch, mounted on the rear fender simplifies implement hook-up or unhook.

Independent 1000 rpm PTO is available as a field installed attachment or a factory option on all three models. The hydraulically actuated PTO clutch provides smooth engagement, which prolongs the life of PTO-driven implements.

Power steering and 42 degree steering angle insure optimum maneuverability for all three models. The "gudgeon joint" at the hinge oscillates 15 degrees, providing the operator with a smooth ride over rough terrain.

Operator Environment

Many new features for operator comfort, safety, and convenience have been engineered into the new 4WD Sound-Gard body. A four-post roll-over protective structure (ROPS) provides the superstructure for the enclosure. An oversized all-glass door makes entry easy. A one-piece front glass provides a wide, unobstructed view.

The new IntelliTrak® intrument panel with "state-of-art" electronics which monitors the engine, transmission, electrical, and hydraulic systems is standard equipment. An optional radar sensor activates a complete performance monitoring system, whcih displays percent of slip, true ground speed, and area covered.

Operator comfort is improved with a HydraCushion™ swivel seat (standard equipment) and a new interior air quality system whcih has been designed for comfort and easier servicing. A new interior color scheme and an optional new sound system with four speakers are additional features.

Maryland Sheep Breeders Banquet Set

MT. AIRY, Md. — The Maryland Sheep Breeders' Association Annual Banquet Meeting will be held on October 15th at 6:30 p.m. in the Mt. Airy Fire Hall Activities Building located on Rt. 27 north of Interstate 70 at Twin Arch Road, Mt. Airy, Md.

The evening will include a superb dinner with barbecue leg of lamb as the featured attraction. The speaker will be Dan Murphy from the National Wool Growers Association. Murphy is currently working on the National Lamb Check Off Program in Washington, D.C.

Important to all MSBA members will be the election of the association's officers and Board of Directors.

The fellowship with sheep and wool growers and their friends will make this a delightful evening.

The cost of the banquet is $8.50 for adults and $6 for shepherds under the age of twelve. Reservations are necessary. Reservations and remittance must be received by George Pasley no later than October 5th.

For more information contact George Pasley, 14812-C Burntwoods Road, Glenwood, Md. 21738.

Recycling Of Antifreeze Gains Impetus From Penalities Imposed by EPA

The idea of recycling antifreeze is becoming more attractive than ever before, according to a spokesman for Miller Diesel Inc., 6030 Jonestown Road.

This is especially true because of two current situations. First, the EPA and various state environmental agencies are imposing large fines on any business or other facility that discharges anti-freeze to the environment.

The only other way to get rid of old anti-freeze is to have an approved waste-removal firm haul it away in a contained environment. This type of removal can cost around $200 per 55-gallon drum.

The second situation is the starting point in manufacturing. anti-freeze is a raw material called ethylene oxide, which is also the base for many plastics and other products. The production of plastics is far more profitable than the making of anti-freeze.

Because of this, the price of anti-freeze will continue to rise, and the supply may be very tight in the coming months.

FPPF Inc., for which Miller Diesel is an authorized distributor of additives to improve engine performance, has worked on laboratory experiments with Union Carbide Corp.

These experiments have found that from the time anti-freeze and water are mixed, the ethylene glycol starts to break down chemically. The more operating hours, the faster the breakdown.

The condition of the anti-freeze is known from the pH reading (normal levels of pH 9.5 to 10). Readings below those levels are corrosive and attack the less-noble metals — zinc, aluminum, steel, iron and cast iron, respectively.

FPPF has designed the first anti-freeze recycling system. The theory behind this system is to restore anti-freeze to its original form for reuse.

The anti-freeze is stored in a 100-gallon or 200-gallon tank. Once the tank is full, it is run through a series of three different micron filters.

Once the anti-freeze is clean, a sample pH test is performed to determine the amount of Glyclean that is to be added. Glyclean is used to neutralize organic acids that are produced as ethylene glycol "ages" or breaks down over time.

Glyclean restores the pH and preserves the alkalinity of anti-freeze. The rest of the Glyclean ingredients serve as a corrosion inhibitor, anti-precipitant, metal passivator, anti-foam and dispersant.

The next and final step is to find the freeze point of the anti-freeze and add appropriate amounts of pure anti-freeze. This regenerated material can then be stored for future use.

The recycling system and the Glyclean will more than pay for themselves in a short period of time. These savings are based on the elimination of the need for waste removal and the fact that only a few gallons of anti-freeze are required to make 100 to 200 gallons.

For more information, car and truck owners are invited to call Miller Diesel at 545-5931.

Aflatoxin Is A Drought Concern

DeKALB, IL. — Beyond drought induced lower yields, corn growers may face another problem in 1988--aflatoxin. Drought and severe heat are environmental factors that favor the production of aflatoxin, a poisonous by-product of the fungi Aspergillus flavus or Aspergillus parasiticus, the latter being very rare in the Corn Belt.

"Aflatoxin is a concern because of its carcinogenic effect on many animals and humans," stated Larry Martin, an agronomist with DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics. "Reyes syndrome, a disease which is fatal to children, has also been linked to aflatoxins. Effects on livestock include reduced feed efficiency, stunting, abortion, decreased protein utilization, liver animals, and increased susceptibility to heat and cold stress. Livestock react differently to aflatoxin consumption. Young pigs are very susceptible followed in order by pregnant sows, calves, finishing hogs, mature cattle and sheep. Lactating dairy cows should not be fed contaminated feed because residue may appear in the milk they produce."

Conditions must favorable for aflatoxin production include temperatures from 80 to 100 degrees F., a relative humidity of 85 percent or more and grain moisture about 17 percent. "Damage from insects (especially earworm and corn borer), hail, birds, and mechanical injury can also contribute to the fungus growth," said Martin.

"After infection, aflatoxin can be produced in less than eight hours," Martin stated. "Harvested corn that is suspect should be dried immediately, preferably with a continuous flow dryer. Drying temperatures above 110 degrees F. will kill the vegetative growth, however, spores will remain viable. Grain that will be stored should be dried to a 13 percent moisture level. Other means of limiting A.flavus growth include the reduction of kernel breakage during harvest, the removal of foreign material, and regular monitoring of stored grain.

"Interstate shipments of grain containing aflatoxin are illegal at levels above 20 parts per billion (1 kernel per 625 bushels). Blending to achieve levels below 20 ppb is also illegal. Detection can be made with an ultra-violet light. If infected, a bright greenish-yellow fluorescence will be present. The light test can verify the presence of A.flavus, not aflatoxin. To determine if aflatoxin is present, a chemical test must be conducted."

Conservation Tillage Event Replaces No-Till Conference

YORK — After 14 years, the annual Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference has a new look and a new name. It's now the Mid-Atlantic Conservation Tillage Conference. The name change represents an effort to present a broader scope of information for crop farmers in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

As in past years, the event is being sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service at land-grant universities in the participating states, with assistance from interested agribusiness representatives.

This year's one-day educational meeting and industry display is scheduled for December 14th at the York Fairgrounds in York, PA. More than 800 persons from the six-state area are expected to attend.

Activities will begin at 8:00 a.m. with free coffee and doughnuts, plus an opportunity to visit more than 50 industry exhibits in Memorial Hall at the fairground.

The educational program will run from 10:00 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. in the same building, with 1 1/2 hours off for lunch in Old Main and another chance to visit industry displays in Memorial Hall.

Tickets for the noon lunch are available from the Carroll County Extension Office as well as other county offices of the Cooperative Extension Service for a cost of $3.00. They must be purchased in advance, and not later than December 2nd.

Two nationally known farm magazine writers will highlight the roster of speakers for this year's Mid-Atlantic Conservation Tillage Conference.

Len Richardson, editor of Agrichemical Age, a San Francisco, Calif.-based trade publication, will lead off the morning session with a presentation on "How Water Quality Issues Are Shaping Your Future".

Currently a resident of Danville, Calif., Richardson grew up on an Arizona dairy farm and served as that state's FFA president. He later was an associate editor of The National Future Farmer magazine.

Dr. John F. Marten of West Lafayette, Ind., will lead off the afternoon session as keynote speaker of the day. Dr. Marten's topic will concern "Farm Production, Prices and Politics in 1989". Marten is an agricultural consultant to several organizations and staff economist for Farm Journal magazine.

A native of central Illinois, Dr. Marten holds degrees in agricultural economics from Iowa State and Purdue universities. He was a popular speaker during the Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference in 1985 at the Maryland state fairground.

Other topics and speakers scheduled for the December 14th meeting at York, PA., include:

"Conservation Tillage and Groundwater Quality"- Dr. Richard A. Weismiller, Extension Agronomist at the University of Maryland.

"Progress on Genetic Engineering to Achieve Roundup Tolerance in Crops"- Dr. Robert T. Fraley, Director, Plant Science Technology, Monsanto Agricultural Company.

"Improving Nutrient Efficiency With No-Tillage"- Dr. V. Allan Bandel, Extension Agronomist, University of Maryland.

"Tillage Alternatives"- Dr. Richard R. Johnson, Senior Agronomist, Deere and Co. Technical Center, Moline, Illinois, and Lynn D. Hoffman, Agronomy Research Center Superintendent, Penn State University.

The Maryland Cooperative Extension Service's programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age or national origin.

PFA Urges For Prompt Payment To Egg Producers

CAMP HILL (Dauphin) — The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) is urging a House subcommittee to report out legislation requiring prompt payment to egg producers and increased protection in instances of buyer bankruptcies.

PFA expressed its support for H.R. 5086, the Egg Producers Financial Protection Act of 1988, in a statement presented to the U.S. House Agriculture Subcommittee on Livestock, Dairy and Poultry, which is meeting today in Washington, D.C. to consider the bill.

PFA, a statewide general farm organization representing over 23,600 families, said the legislation is much needed and long overdue. "Recent consolidation trends combined with historical slow payment practices make it increasingly difficult for egg producers to bargain for prompt payment and payment security," PFA stated.

The legislation, which was cosponsored by subcommittee chairman Rep. Charles Stenholm (D - Texas) and Pennsylvania congressman Rep. George Gekas (R - 17th Dist.), would extend Packers and Stockyards Act protection to egg producers. It would require egg sellers to be paid within 14 days of delivery and would also require buyers to establish a trust fund for sellers in case of bankruptcy or nonpayment. Packers and Stockyards provisions were enacted in 1921 for the livestock industry and were extended to poultry meat producers last year.

PFA is urging prompt passage of H.R. 5086.

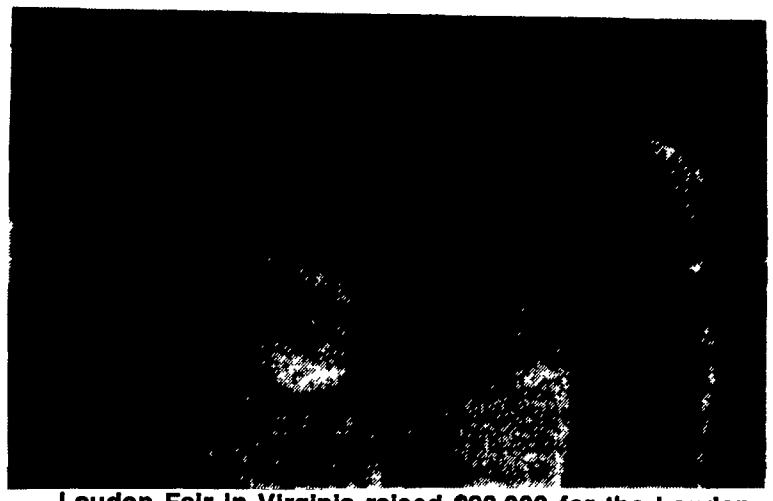
How About A $20,000 Gallon Of Milk

STERLING, VA — What do you get when you team up a winning pair like 4-H and milk? How about a $20,000 gallon of milk! That is what the "Golden Gallon of Milk" from the Supreme Champion Dairy Animal was purchased for at the 53rd annual Loudoun County 4-H Fair on August 12.

The Supreme Champion was C Rose Vega Certosa Viola, a four year old Holstein, owned by seventeen year old Kathy McComb of Purcellville. The sale of the "Golden Gallon of Milk" is sponsored by the Loudoun 4-H Dairy Club. All of the proceeds of the sale of the milk are used for the maintenance and upkeep of the county 4-H fairgrounds which are owned by the county 4-H'ers.

The milk was purchased by Marilyn and Robert DeLuca, Countryside Commercial and Professional Center, Sterling, Virginia. The DeLuca's explained that they purchased the milk because they believed in 4-H and wanted to help youngsters to achieve their goal of "To Make the Best Better."



Loudon Fair in Virginia raised $20,000 for the Loudon County 4-H by selling one gallow of milk from the fair supreme champion. Purchasers were Mrs. Marilyn DeLuca (left) and Robert DeLuca (right) and Kathy McComb, owner of supreme champion owner.

The milk was on display at the Countryside Shopping Center for the public to view. The contending bidder was Mr. Badman Batmanghelidj also of Sterling.

The price for the milk is believed to be a world's record price. A glass of the Golden Gallon would cost $1250. Selling it by the pound would net $2,325 (or $232,500 per hundredweight), certainly a dairyman's dream come true.

Dairy Management Column— Watch Out For Cherry Leaves Falling

By Dr. George W.F. Haenlein
Extension Dairy Specialist
University Of Delaware

Watch Out! Cherry Leaves Are Falling

Cows suffocate. That's what happens when they get too much nitrate or cyanide in what they eat. They can breathe, but their bodies can't use the oxygen they take in.

Unusual weather conditions this spring and summer have contributed to the increased chance for these poisonings. When heavily fertilized plants don't get enough water, nitrates collect.

Cyanide poisoning is more of a danger with wilted plant materials, such as cherry leaves when they fall this autumn. Cyanide poisoning can occur during dry periods when plants wilt naturally, or it can happen when you cut weeds or trees to clear a fence line. During the wilting process, hydrocyanic acid is produced.

Johnsongrass, sudan grass, common sorghum, wild black cherry, chokeberry and arrow grass commonly produce hydrocyanic acid. Other sources include members of the mustard and flax family.

The most dramatic symptom of nitrate or cyanide poisoning is open-mouth breathing as cows attempt to take in enough oxygen through their mouths. In cases of nitrate poisoning, the red blood cells can no longer pick up oxygen in the lungs; in cyanide poisoning, the red blood cells can't release the oxygen they've picked up. In either case, the cow suffocates.

Watch out for wilted plants in your pastures and be aware that present weather conditions have increased the potential for both types of poisoning. To help determine if feeds and pastures contain a dangerous level of these poisons, have samples tested at local laboratories.

The diphenylamine test for nitrates is easy to run. Crops that may need testing include green chop, silage, fodder, corn, sorghum, oats, sudan, wheat, rye and barley. If a drop of the clear diphenylamine liquid placed on any of these plants immediately turns deep navy blue, the nitrate level is dangerous.

The prussic acid strip for cyanide testing is bright yellow. Plant material to be tested is placed in the bottom of a test tube with chloroform. The yellow strip is caught at the top by the stopper and suspended in the tube away from the glass. When the test tube is heated in warm water, a gas that turns the yellow strip red will be released if acid levels are high.

Either of these poisons can reach dangerous levels one day and be safe a few days later. You need to check plants in different parts of a field to be safe.

Animals eating grain can adjust to a higher level of nitrates than animals that aren't fed on grain. But dairy cows confined to a feed lot aren't exempt from poisoning. The danger to them is not as great as to beef cattle on pasture unless a feed change is abrupt. Forage with fairly high levels of nitrates can be blended into dairy rations gradually over a period of four to five days and the cows' systems will adjust, because nitrates are not as absolutely fatal as cyanides. With nitrates, it's more a question of level per day.

Dairy and beef cows can suffer from abortions caused by either type of poisoning, but the culprit is more often nitrates.

With both nitrate and cyanide poisoning, prevention is truly easier than the cure. Treatment is intravenous and often complicated, requiring veterinary assistance. My advice is to test your forage crops and look out for wilted plants and falling cherry leaves.

New Lab Dedicated

PHILADELPHIA — The Stubbs Laboratory was dedicated on September 22, at the New Bolton Center campus of the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine.

The building, funded by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is designed as a facility where researchers can safely deal with and manage research with infectious organisms, primarily of poultry. A limited-access building, it has an impressive array of safeguards such as air-locks, shower areas, one-way air flow and two air-handling systems equipped with special filters for the complete removal of all microorganisms, including viruses. A special pathological incinerator and a chemical treatment retention tank for effluent waste are also part of the equipment.

The building was named in honor of Evan L. Stubbs V.M.D., Class of 1911, an "avian pathologist, gentleman, veterinarian." Dr. Stubbs, the oldest living graduate of the Penn's Veterinary School and Emeritus Professor of pathology, served on the faculty from 1927 to 1960. During his long career he made many major contributions to the field of avian medicine, particularly through his studies on avian influenza and avian tumors.

Infectious diseases of poultry will be studied in this new laboratory, and the School has assembled an avian infectious disease research team. The Stubbs Laboratory is part of the Cooperative Poultry Diagnostic Laboratory at New Bolton Center and it will greatly enhance the school's ability to serve agriculture in the Commonwealth.

Penn State Appoints New Extension Agents

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Penn State recently appointed 10 people as extension agents in counties around the state.

Michele L. Bankert has been named assistant extension agent of 4-H and agriculture in Bucks County. Her responsiblities include recruiting, training and supporting 4-H leaders; providing leadership for the development and implementation of community 4-H clubs; coordinating the contributions of local youth agencies and agribusiness organizations to agricultural programs; and conducting agricultural programs.

A native of Red Lion, Bankert is no stranger to 4-H. She was a member of the Winterstown Club in York County for 10 years and worked with Bucks County Extension as a summer 4-H program assistant in 1987.

Bankert received a bachelor of science degree in animal husbandry from Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture this past May. While at Delaware Valley she was a member of the livestock judging team which competed in many national events.

Bibiana M. Chestnut has been named associate extension agent of family living and 4-H in Pike County. Her responsibilities include identifying educational needs of people within the county, conducting educational programs in the area of family living, assisting with the Pike County 4-H Program and working with the county commissioners on community improvement programs. She also will share her skills and programs with neighboring counties.

A native of Brookville, Chestnut holds a bachelor's degree in man environment relations from Penn State. Most recently she served as cooperative extension home economist in Barber County, KS.

Richard H. Dale has been named assistant extension agent for Bedford County. He will be responsible for coordinating the 4-H and the agricultural agronomy programs within the county.

A native of Houtzdale, Dale received a bachelor's degree in general agriculture from Penn State and is working toward a master's degree in agronomy at the University. He also holds a certificate in bio-dynamic agriculture from Emerson College in Sussex, England.

Dale has previously worked as a self-employed farmer, a research assistant at Penn State and head gardener at Saratoga Community Garden in Saratoga, CA. He and his wife Stacy have two daughters, Lucienne and Briana.

Susan J. Goldsworthy has been appointed project assistant for Delaware County. Her primary responsibilities will be working with the Urban Gardening Program in Chester. Created under a three-year grant from the William Penn Foundation, the program includes 4-H Garden Clubs, Community Gardens and other projects to beautify the community through landscape design.

A native of Pittsburgh, Goldsworthy is also a part-time horticultural consultant with Delaware County Cooperative Extension, a position she has held since May 1985. She previously worked as horticultural consultant with Cobb County Cooperative Extension in Roswell, GA; as a child development specialist with St. Francis General Hospital in Pittsburgh; and as a VISTA volunteer in Auburn, AL.

Goldsworthy holds a bachelor's degree in social psychology from Northwestern University and a master's degree in child development from the University of Pittsburgh. She is currently working toward a bachelor's degree in horticulture and landscape design at Temple University.

She has two children: Emily, nine, and Andrew, seven.

Melanie W. Hemminger has been named extension program assistant of 4-H and agriculture in Armstrong County. Her responsibilities will include organizing and conducting educational programs, especially in the areas of 4-H and animal science. Some of her programs also may be presented in neighboring counties.

Hemminger, who grew up on a cross-breed beef farm in Somerset, was the 1985 Pennsylvania Cattleman's Queen. Part of her duties as queen included organizing and implementing a beef promotion program for the association.

She holds a bachelor's degree in animal production and is working toward a master's degree in extension education at Penn State. While an undergraduate, she worked as a student shepherd at the University barns. As a program developer for 4-H, she wrote and edited 4-H project books. She also participated in many campus activities, including Block and Bridle Club, Coaly Honor Society, Pre-Vet Club and the 1984 Meats Judging Team.

Mary A. Leager-Hagemeister has been named associate extension agent of family strengths and resource management for Dauphin County. Her responsibilities include organizing and conducting informal educational programs, especially in the areas of inidividual and family development.

Laeger-Hagemeister, a Certified Home Economist, holds a bachelor's degree in home economics from Concordia College in Moorhead, MN, and a master's of education degree in home economics from Penn State.

A native of Klum, ND, Laeger-Hagemeister was interim home economist in Clearfield County from March to September 1987. She also has worked with the Clearfield-Jefferson Mental Health Center in Clearfield. As a home economist consultant, she developed a nutrition manual for clients of the clinic. Currently, she serves as Public Relations Chair for Pennsylvania Home Economics Association (PHEA).

New Extension Agents

She and her husband, a Lutheran pastor, are the parents of two children: Danny, six, and Reka, two and a half.

Jane A. Mecum has been named associate extension agent of family strengths in Perry County. She will be responsible for planning and conducting informal educational programs which will address the needs of today's family and community. She also is writing a weekly column on foods and nutrition for the "Perry County Shopper." Additionally, she will be sharing her skills and programs with neighboring counties.

A native of Madisonville, KY, Mecum most recently served as Teen Parenting Coordinator in the Harrisburg School District. Her duties included supervising a nursery school, working with students enrolled in parenting classes and helping teen parents deal with the problems and challenges of parenthood.

Mecum holds a bachelor's degree in home economics from Murray State University in Murray, KY, and is currently working toward a master's degree in education at Penn State. She has two children: Kelly, a physics major at West Virginia University, and Bill, a high school student.

Richard W. Poorbaugh has been named extension agent for Clearfield County. He is responsible for coordinating 4-H and general agricultural programs. Specific tasks include identifying educational needs of people within the county, recruiting and training adult 4-H leaders and implementing programs in the areas of agricultural economics, animal science and 4-H. He also will share his skills and programs with neighboring counties.

A native of Berlin, Poorbaugh served with Penn State Cooperative Extension in Crawford County from 1965 to 1968. Supervising 4-H programs and educating adults in the areas of production and marketing of agricultural products were his major duties.

Poorbaugh holds a bachelor's degree in agronomy and is working toward a master's degree in agricultural economics from Penn State. Most recently he was employed as a graduate research assistant at Penn State. He and his wife Nancy have three children: Rick, 16; Holly, 15; and Brenda, 10.

Deborah A. Price has been named assistant extension agent of 4-H livestock and dairy in Berks County. Her responsibilities will include organizing and conducting educational programs for 4-H youth in the areas of livestock and dairy. Price also will help recruit and train 4-H leaders and identify county educational needs in the agri-science area.

A native of Douglasville, Price received a bachelor's degree in dairy production and is working toward a master's degree in sociology at Penn State. While an undergraduate, she was named Outstanding Senior on the College of Agriculture and was a member of the Dairy Science Club, the Ag Student Council, Delta Theta Sigma, Gamma Sigma Delta and Collegiate 4-H.

David J. Quatchak has been named assistant extension agent for Allegheny County. Responsible for planning and implementing horticulture programs for both 4-H and adult groups, Quatchak will work extensively with the Master Gardener Program, which involves civic groups in community beautification projects. He also will be recruiting and training 4-H leaders, preparing horticultural information for newsletters and providing individual assistance to home horticulturalists in the county.

A native of McCandless, Quatchak holds a bachelor's degree in horticulture from Penn State. Most recently, he worked as an assistant manager at Best Feeds and Farm Supplies in Oakdale.

West Virginia Approved For Watershed Program

MORGANTOWN, WV — West Virginia has one of the 21 watershed projects approved recently for planning by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The projects were in 18 states.

Rollin N. Swank, state conservationalist for the Soil Conservation Service of USDA, said the West Virginia project will be on an unnamed tributary of Evitts Run, through a residential area of Ranson in Jefferson County. The tributary empties into Evitts Run as it flows through the neighboring town of Charles Town.

Widening and deepening the channel, installing new conduits where needed and building a drop inlet at the mouth will cost about $300,000.

The tributary flows only intermittently, so the enlarged channel will be a grass waterway, dry most of the time.

Flooding costs an average of $59,700 per year. A 100-year storm would cause $450,000 in damages to 59 residences and three other properties.

The local sponsors are the Eastern Panhandle Soil Conservation District, the town of Ranson and the Jefferson County Commission. SCS will complete the plan next year. Funding of construction will need the approval of the chief of the agency.

Atlantic Members Hear Good News On Milk Prices

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks) — Milk prices could be heading up in the next few months, with increases hovering around the $1 mark, according to Robert M. Dever, assistant general manager of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative.

"We anticipate, for a number of reasons, that the price of milk will head up, probably between $1 to $1.20 per hundredweight through the balance of 1988," he said.

Dever made the announcement last week to 225 Atlantic members attending the District 6 annual dinner meeting in New Holland, Pa. The gathering was the first in a series of local and district meetings the cooperative will sponsor this fall.

An increased demand for dairy products coupled with state and federal legislation and over-order milk premiums ar ehelping to push prices higher, Dever said.

Typically, milk prices are higher during the fall months when demand is greater. This year is no exception; however, unusually strong sales are adding an additional boost.

"Dairy sales and demand for dairy products are as strong as they've been in a number of years," Dever said. "We continue to see a strengthening in milk prices."

Prices over the next 12 months will probably peak during the November-February period, Dever said, adding that the first quarter of 1989 should be strong.

In addition to the seasonal price swing, state and federal legislation played a part in raising milk prices, Dever said. Notably was the drought relief legislation, which blocked a scheduled Jan. 1, 1989, 50-cent per hundredweight cut in the support price for milk and provided for a temporary support price increase.

"In April 1989, due to federal legislation, the support price will be increased 50 cents per hundredweight," Dever told the dairy farmers. "This will be in effect for three months."

On a more immediate level, dairy farmers will soon see a change in their milk price. Through action by Atlantic and other state farm organizations, the milk price in Pennsylvania will be increased by $1.05 per hundredweight, effective Sept. 1 through February 28, 1989.

"Atlantic approached the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board to increase the Class I milk price," Dever said. "We were successful in getting an increase for dairy farmers."

Another successful venture for Atlantic has been the Middle Atlantic Cooperative Milk Marketing Agency. MACMMA, as it is known, was formed by Atlantic and two other Mid-Atlantic cooperatives to bargain for over-order premiums on Class I milk.

"To date, we were able to collect $12.5 million in over-order premiums," Dever said of the three MACMMA cooperatives. "About $7.2 million went back to Atlantic members."

Programs such as MACMMA have helped Atlantic maintain its strong financial position, which was reflected in the cooperative's overall fiscal year. The cooperative's net savings for the year totaled $2.9 million, or 8.3 cents per hundredweight.

"Atlantic is a large organizationm, and it has a strong financial statement," Dever said. "The fact that cooperative are moving toward establishing the value of their own products is more reason than ever to belong to an organzation like this."

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents 4,000 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Free Brochure Offers Answers To Common Sulfur Questions

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A unique brochure entitled "Let's Talk Sulphur" is now available from The Sulphur Institute.

Developed with the assistance of 29 extension and government soil specialists from the United States and Canada, a sample copy of the publication is available free to farmers, fertilizer dealers, crop consultants, and others interested in sulphur fertilization.

"Let's Talk Sulphur" presents the latest information on sulphur in an easy-to-read, conversational format.

"The brochure takes a novel, 'grass roots' approach to a very technical and timely subject," says Bob Morris, director of Agricultural Programs at the Institute.

"We've taken the most common questions about sulphur and, with the help of government and extension specialists, provided some very useful and practical answers."

For a free sample copy, send your name and address to "Let's Talk Sulphur," The Sulphur Institute, 1725 K Street NW, Washington, D.C. 20006 U.S.A. Or call Fran Binning at 202-331-9660. Prices will be quoted for bulk quantities.

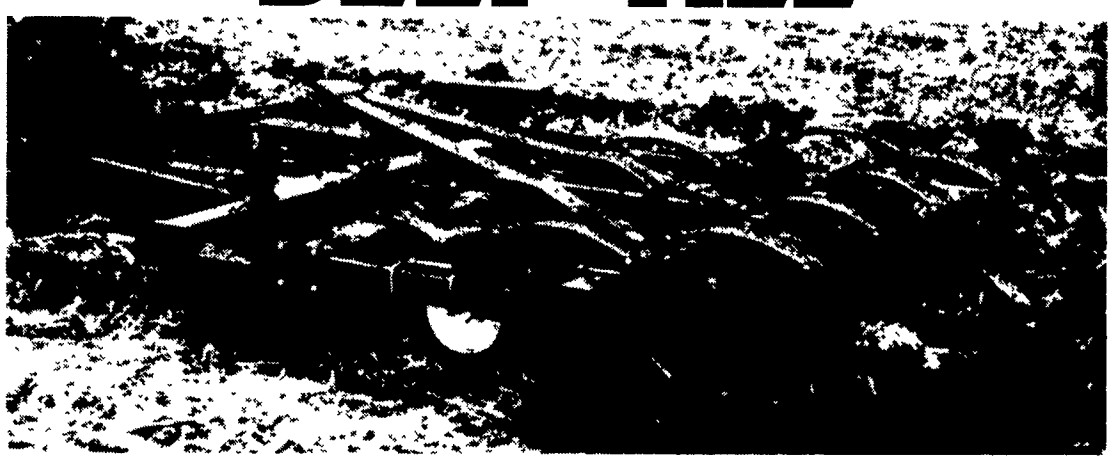
AUTOMATIC RESET

DEEP TILL

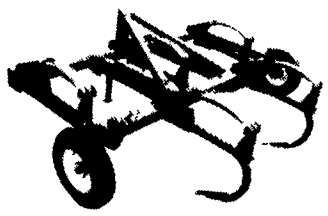


☑ REDUCE COMPACTION
Deep Till Penetrates As Deep As 18 Inches

☑ CONTROL WIND & WATER EROSION
Residue Left On Surface Ties Down The Top Soil

☑ BREAK UP HARDPAN: SHATTER THE SOIL
Soil Is Aerated; Crops Respond With Better Yields

TWO-BAR OR FRAME



The frame type DEEP TILL is available with a Category II or III hitch and may be equipped with the optional drawbar hitch to convert it to a pull type. The hitch features both clevis and straight drawbar for four-wheel drive tractors. Adjustable top arm controls the front-to-rear leveling of the machine. Sizes range from 12'6" to 27'6". Hydraulic gauge wheels control working depth from 8" to 18". The pull-type hitch is easily removed to convert the unit to a 3-point Category III hitch model. The automatic reset feature on all models allows non-stop tilling and eliminates the inconvenience, downtime and expense of replacing shear bolts. All frame type Deep Tills must be used with pull-type hitch when using either style trash cutting coulters.

SINGLE RANK MODEL

The three shank model, shown below, has a Category II hitch. With a cutting width of 7'6", it is ideal for operators with smaller acreages and horsepower. It is extremely maneuverable, yet provides the same basic deep tilling job as its "big brothers". The single rank model provides simplicity and durability. It is available in 3, 5 and 7 shank sizes, in working widths of 7'6", 12'6" and 17'6". Shank spacing is 30" but can also be set at 20" in light trash conditions. Single rank models are close coupled to the tractor for effective control and maneuverability. Manually adjusted gauge wheels control working depth to 18". A speed of 4½ to 6 MPH is recommended.

ON THE MOVE...

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Crops Genetic Signs Marketing Agreement With Seed Companies

HANOVER, MD. — Crop Genetics International Corporation (NASDAQ - CROP) announced today that it has entered into joint development and marketing agreements with four corn seed companies for CROP's first InCide product. Subject to regulatory approval, DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics, Rogers Brothers Seed Company, NC+ Hybrids and Hoegemeyer Hybrids will conduct large-scale field trials and market CROP's genetically engineered bioinsecticide directed against corn's major pest -- the corn borer.

"These seed companies were selected based on their leadership position in the hybrid seed corn market and on the innovative development programs each company has established for research, production and marketing," said Ron Dodson, vice president of marketing.

DeKalb Pfizer Genetics, a joint venture between DeKalb Genetics Corporation and Pfizer, Inc., is the second largest world-wide producer and marketer of field corn seed. Rogers Brothers, a Sandoz subsidiary, is the world's largest sweet corn seed company. Nc+ Hybrids and Hoegemeyer Hybrids are regional field corn seed companies whose sales territory is located in the corn borer market.

It is expected that CROP's first InCide product would be sold to the seed companies, which would inoculate the corn at their seed processing facilities using CROP's inoculation technology currently under development. The seeds would then be distributed through the existing sales and marketing organizations of the seed companies. The initial market area for the corn borer bioinsecticide is planned to be Nebraska, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and other states in the Mid-ant recurring pest.

Small-scale field trials are currently being conducted on CROP's research farm and at the USDA's Maryland facility. Based on these tests and other tests conducted by or on behalf of the Company, CROP plans to seek regulatory approval for large-scale field trials of the InCide bioinsecticide at the seed companies' research facilities in the summer of 1989. There can be no assurance that approval of such large-scale field testing will be granted on a timely basis, if at all.

Computer Company Releases Hog Record-Keeping Program

ALEXANDRIA, IN. — Harvest Computer Systems has released a new version of its MS DOS hog record-keeping program. The new Hog Manager contains several new program features, such as parity analysis, sow status report, pen feed conversion and more user-definable options.

Hog Manager monitors and analyzes production of hog herds. Farrowing analysis includes a sow productivity index, parity, farrowing interval, boar analysis, and statistics you create yourself. Weight gain, feed conversion, and other factors are tracked for finishing hogs. Detailed scheduling monitors jobs which must be done each day and each sow's status. Feed records and other expenses are analyzed to pinpoint cost of production.

Hog Manager retails for $595. Users of the older version can purchase an update which includes new program diskettes and a totally new manual, for $95.

Harvest Computer Systems is a national vertical market software developer selling to farms and small businesses. Their software line includes accounting, payroll, inventory, depreciation management, crop recordkeeping, commodity charting, swine recordkeeping, and poultry management. For information, contact Harvest Computer Systems at 120 North Harrison, Alexandria, IN 46001 (317-724-4429).

BUSH HOG®

SAVE

Bush Hog's 3168 Rotary Cutter features a 14-foot width—wide enough for big volume cutting on large acreages, right-of-ways or crop residue. And it's built tough, with the right construction for years of trouble-free performance.

10-gauge steel deck construction, slip clutches and rubber-cushioned axles are standard equipment, and are a few of the reasons why the Bush Hog® 3168 will hold up in rugged cutting conditions. You get a chice of hitches—pull type, 3-point lift or economical semi-mount. Blade holders are available round or straight.

There are lots of features on a 3168...and the best of all may be its price. Come in today and see for yourself.

PA's Finest Rise To The Top In The Junior Dairy Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Cream rises to the top and that was evident on Monday at the Farm Show Arena in Harrisburg when the Pennsylvania All-American hosted the Junior Dairy Show. This show was different than most because all of these young competitors were already winners. In order to qualify for the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show each entry had to earn a blue ribbon at a 4-H or FFA show held throughout the state.

With some of the finest dairy animals young competitors had to offer from across the state parading through the ring, show judges had some difficult decisions to make. In the Holstein and Brown Swiss ring was Paul King, formerly the owner of Kingsway Holsteins of York, now living in West Virginia and semi-retired with a busy judging schedule. Judging the Ayrshire, Guernsey, Milking Shorthorn and a very large Jersey show was Dennis Patrick, an Ayrshire breeder from Woodbine, Md.

Brown Swiss Champions

Thomas Zartman of Ephrata took the junior Brown Swiss title with Meadow Hill Johnny D Pretty-ET, a senior calf, sired by Johann Johnny D. Breeder. Breeder was Gary Mase of Lebanon. Reserve junior title went to owner/breeder Bruce Heilinger, Newmanstown, with Pretzel Jade Pop Twin, sired by Bridge View Elegant Jade-ET.

Teresa Hill of Lebanon had the best animal bred and owned of the Brown Swiss show. Little Hill Maples Marge was sired by Maple Grove Performer.

(Turn to Page D21)

Holstein 4-H Champions

Junior champion Holstein of the 4-H show was exhibited by William Mosholder of Rockwood. This intermediate yearling, Mossys Chief Mark Fancy-ET, was sired by Walkway Chief Mark and breeder was Harry Mosholder. Julie Custead of Meadville and her summer yearling, Custead-Valley Inspir Mickey, is the offspring of Hanover Hill Inspiration. Alan and Rhona Custead were the breeders.

San-Bo Boots Katrina, sired by Paclamar Bootmaker was named the best animal owned and bred. Proud owner was David Lentz of Lebanon.

The larger show and tougher competition of the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show did not threaten the crown on Beauty's head. Thomas McCauley of Elizabethtown made that victory stroll as his aged cow, Metcalfs Valiant Beauty ET, has made so many times. Breeder was Bryce of Metcalf out of Bradford, Vt.

Globe-Run Valiant Tanya, owned and exhibited by Anissa Kensinger of Petersburg took the reserve grand title. This 3-year-old was sired by S-W-D Valiant. Breeder was John Foster, Jr. of Petersburg.

Holstein FFA Champions

Santee-Acres Starwars Sexy exhibited by Irene Benner was named junior champion Holstein of the FFA show. Benner is the owner and breeder on this senior yearling, sired by Hardys Starwars. Benner is from Millerstown.

Reserve junior champion of the FFA Holstein show was Keith Kennedy of Martinsburg, with intermediate yearling, Hi-De-Ho Melvin Molly-Twin. Molly was sired by Mel Est Valiant Irose Melvin. Breeder on this young champion was Kenneth Hoover of Martinsburg.

Another David Lentz animal was named best animal bred and owned of the Holstein FFA show. It was San-Bo Mars Katie, a 5-year-old sired by Marshfield Elevation Tony.

Grand champion Holstein of the FFA show was exhibited by Keith Kennedy of Martinsburg. Gillbrook Warden Surprise-Et was sired by Hilltopper Elevation Warden. John and Karen Gilliland of Warriors Mark bred this champion Holstein.

John Foster, III of Petersburg took the reserve grand champion honor with Globe-Run E Tony Pammy. Pammy was sired by Marshfield Elevation Tony. Stanley Wensel, III, of Petersburg was the breeder.

Milking Shorthorn Champions

Melissa Reissinger, Newport, captured both junior champion and reserve junior champion. In the number one spot was Reisinger's junior yearling, Walnut Hollows Debutante, sired by Three Springs Promise. Breeder of the junior champion was Wm. Reisinger of Newport. Reserve junior was Reisinger's intermediate yearling, Walnut Hollows May Bell, sired by Three Springs Promise.

Best animal owned and bred was shown by Maggie Whiting of Edinburg for her dry cow senior 2-year-old, Lady Julia K. Sired was Wildwood D's Red King 2D. Julia K was also named grand champion of the show. Mark Goshorn of Blairs Mills took the reserve grand championship with his dry cow senior 2-year-old, Guckian's ESVP Lass. Ruth Anna

Guckian of Eaton, Ohio was the breeder of this champion.

Jersey Champions

Thomas Arowsmith of Peach Bottom took the Jersey junior championship of the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show with his senior calf, Hillacres Title Liddy. This champion was sired by J.F.D. Title and owner/bred.

Jason Bochy of Fredonia exhibited the reserve junior champion, Clairwood Advancer Surville Fran. Advancer Tipsey Milestone was the sire and breeder was Douglas Martin of Chambersburg.

Best animal owned and bred of the Jersey show was exhibited by Mark Supancik of Uniondale with GR Jan Exceller Butternut.

Grand champion Jersey of the state junior show was shown by Corey McConn of Burgettstown. This 4-year-old, Rockys Midlady Della, was sired by Rocky Hill Deni Rock. Breeder of this grand champion Jersey was Raymond Patterson of Eighty-four.

Thomas Arrowsmith took the reserve grand championship in the Jersey show with his 7-year-old, Hillacres Surville May, sired by Vaucluse Sleeping Surville. Breeder was Matthew Arrowsmith of Peach Bottom.

Ayrshire Champions

Shelli Hunter of West Alexander took the junior championship of the Ayrshire junior show with Toll-Gate-Ayr Mr. Ross Fern, sired by Ardrossan Star M Mr. Ross. Hunter was a proud owner/breeder of this champion.

Sharon Rader, Connoquenessing, took the reserve junior title with her senior yearling, Homestead Acres Star's Alison. Alison was sired by Oak-Ridge Comman-

QUALITY WORK AT OUR END MEANS QUALITY WORK AT YOURS.

The Melroe Company insists on maintaining the highest standards of quality in design and manufacturing in their versatile Bobcat loader line. Like municipalities, we demand high quality materials and workmanship, and that goes into every machine we build. Even with those stringent requirements, we supply you with a top quality loader at a competitive price.

That quality is reflected in ever-increasing demands for Bobcat loaders and attachments in every segment of the municipal industry. Bobcat durability, ease of operation and maintenance, comfort and safety, parts and service reliability, and a strong dealer support network, give you job performance that can't be equalled by any other loader.

The Melroe Company's dedication to building quality machines is your assurance of value and performance. Municipalities have learned to rely on Bobcat quality to help build their own business on that same reputation.

Angus Ribbons Stay In State At Ohio State Fair

COLUMBUS, OH — All of the division ribbons as well as the grand and reserve grand champion ribbons stayed in the state at the Angus Show held during the 1988 Ohio State Fair. The 81 Angus bulls and heifers paraded at the show were placed by judge Dr. Erskine Cash of State College, Penn.

Summitcrest Farms, of Summitville, showed the grand champion bull. Summitcrest Franklin, a January 1987 son of Harrison, earlier stood as the junior champion.

Way View Tar Baby walked away with the reserve grand champion bull rosette for Way View Farms Inc. of Hebron. Judge Cash also awarded this April 1986, J K Pine Tar son the senior champion title.

Grand champion female laurels went to H F Duchess 704, the junior winner. This January 1987 daughter of R O R Royalty 108T was shown by Masterfare, of Johnstown.

Kiata Farms Inc., of Hanilton led their reserve junior champion, H F Blackbird 717 to the reserve grand champion female spot. She was born April 1987 and was sired by R O R Royalty 108T.

In the get-of-sire class, Masterfare and Kiata Farms Inc. put together progeny sired by R O R Royalty 108T and won first place honors. The two exhibitors then lined up a trio of calves sired by Broadway and won the junior get division. Highlands Angus Farm, of Mount Sterling exhibited the best six head.

The reserve senior champion bull was Highlands Ohio Buckeye, and he was displayed by Highlands Angus Farm.

Greenbrier Angus, of Orient showed the reserve junior champion bull. He is P C F Lucky Strike 7391.

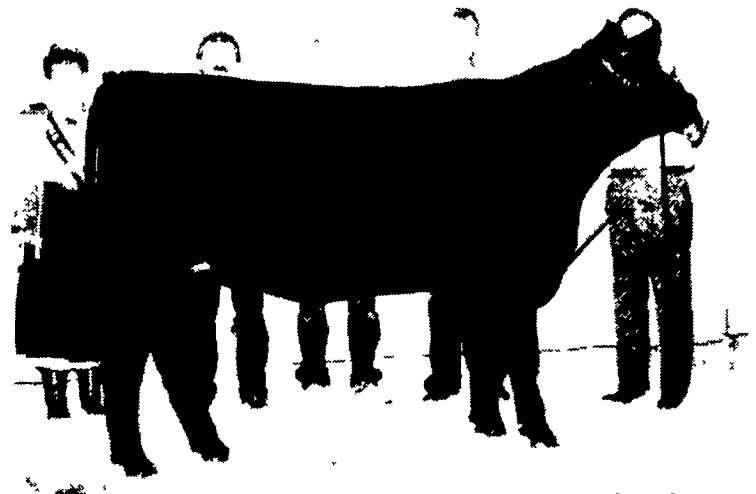
Judge Dr. Erskine Cash of State College, Penn., slapped Summitcrest Franklin as the grand champion Angus bull at the 1988 Ohio State Fair held in Columbus. Also named the junior winner, he was shown by Summitcrest Farms of Summitville. A total of 81 Angus were exhibited.



H F Duchess 704 stood as the grand champion Angus female for Masterfare of Johnstown at the 1988 Ohio State Fair. Judge Dr. Erskine Cash earlier awarded her the junior title.

The senior bull calf champion ribbon went to Kiata Ramrod. He was exhibitied by Kiata Farms Inc.

Senior yearling champion female honors went to Blackbird Vanna F B. She was shown by David Grimes, of Decatur.

Pridetta M 175W, shown by Jason Groff, of Norwich, was declared the intermediate champion female. The reserve intermediate champion female was Creekside Evergreen 742. She was led out by Sheri Rentz, Coldwater.

For senior heifer calf champion, Cash chose Fantasy's Lady Olajuawon. She was exhibitied by Shelly Burroughs, of Thornville. The reserve senior heifer calf winner, displayed by Masterfare, was R&J Duchess 2657.

Northeast Ag Republicans To Hold Breakfast

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming) — Retiring State Representative Carmel Sirianni, Montrose, will be honored and Republican candidates introduced at a buffet breakfast here October 1, announced Daniel R. Naylor, chairman of the Northeast Ag Republican.

The breakfast, scheduled for 9:30 a.m., will be held at Shadowbrook Resort on Route 6 east of Tunkhannock.

According to Naylor, reservations can be made by phoning Scott Chadwick, 265-3124; Ken Lee, 836-1154; Allen Roszelo, 278-2433; or Dan Naylor, 945-9303.

Sirianni has served 14 years in the state house, representing District 111. She is currently minority chairman of the House Ag Committee.

Rep. Sirianni was special assistant to former State Representative Ken Lee, before winning the seat upon his retirement in 1974. Lee's son is Republican candidate for the District 111 house seat this fall and will attend the breakfast.

Also invited are Congressman Joseph McDade, R. Clark Summit, who seeks re-election; Ernie Preate, Lackawanna county district attorney and candidate for state attorney general; state senators Charles Lemmond, Kingston, and Rodger Madigan, Towanda; and state representatives Frank Serafini, Clark Summit; Jerry Birmelin, Honesdale and J. Scott Chadwick, Towanda.

Livestock Sale Records Set At Maryland Fair

COLLEGE PARK, MD. — It wasn't quite like 1986. But this year's 4-H and FFA livestock sale did set some records on Aug. 31 at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

As in most years, the best action came with market lambs where new record prices were set for both the grand champion animal and overall average.

The average price for beef steers also set a new record high. But the selling price of the grand champion was far below the record set in 1984.

Robert O. Dinsmore, 13, of Broad Run exhibited the grand champion market lamb--completing a 10-year sweep by Frederick County 4-H members in this state fair event. Robert had exhibited the reserve champion lamb at the state fair in three previous consecutive years.

He sold this year's grand champion market lamb for $13 per pound--a new state fair record. The 125-pound Hampshire wether was purchased by Deggeller Attractions, state fair midway concessionaire. Deggeller donated the lamb back to its young owner. It had purchased Robert's reserve champion lamb in 1986.

Jennifer Turner, 15, of Daisy in Howard County had the reserve champion 4-H and FFA market lamb this year at the Maryland State Fair. The 110-pound Suffolk crossbred ewe brought $4.50 per pound from Weston Farms of Glen Arm.

Exactly two weeks earlier, Jennifer had helped to establish livestock sale fame in the Mid-Atlantic area when her grand champion 4-H market lamb at the Howard County Fair was sold for $60 per pound. This is believed to be a record for Maryland--and possibly the East Coast.

There were 204 animals entered in this year's 4-H and FFA market lamb show at the Maryland State Fair. Average price for 31 lambs offered in the livestock sale was $1.84 per pound. This compares with the previous record of $1.71 set in 1986. These averages do not include prices paid for the grand and reserve champion animals. Top price for spring lambs at the Lancaster stockyards in late August was 63 cents per pound.

Timothy Clark, 14, of Poplar Springs in Howard County exhibited the grand champion 4-H and FFA beef steer this year at the Maryland State Fair. His 1,230-pound Hereford-Angus-Chianina crossbred brought $3 per pound from The Berg Group of Baltimore, a diversified industrial enterprise which also includes farming.

Another Howard County resident, Blair Hill, 13, of Lisbon had the reserve champion 4-H and FFA beef steer. It was a 1,250-pound Shorthorn. The animal brought $1.25 per pound from the Consolidated Insurance Center of Woodlawn.

Average price for 18 steers in the sale was $1.13 per pound. This compares with the previous record of $1.03 set in 1986. These averages do not include prices paid for the grand and reserve champion animals. Top price for slaughter steers at the Lancaster stockyards in late August was 73 cents per pound.

As in other recent years, only the champion and reserve champion dairy steers were sold in the state fair 4-H and FFA livestock sale. Both were Holsteins.

Ernest James Swift, 14, of Shepperd in Baltimore County sold his 1,300-pound animal for 75 cents per pound to Thompson's Food Market of Maryland Line.

Tom Dell, 13, of Cranberry in Carroll County sold his 1,140-pound steer to Charles J. Smith & Co. of Baltimore. The steer brought 60 cents per pound.

Holstein slaughter steers were selling in a range of 55.25 to 62.75 cents per pound during late August at the Lancaster stockyards.

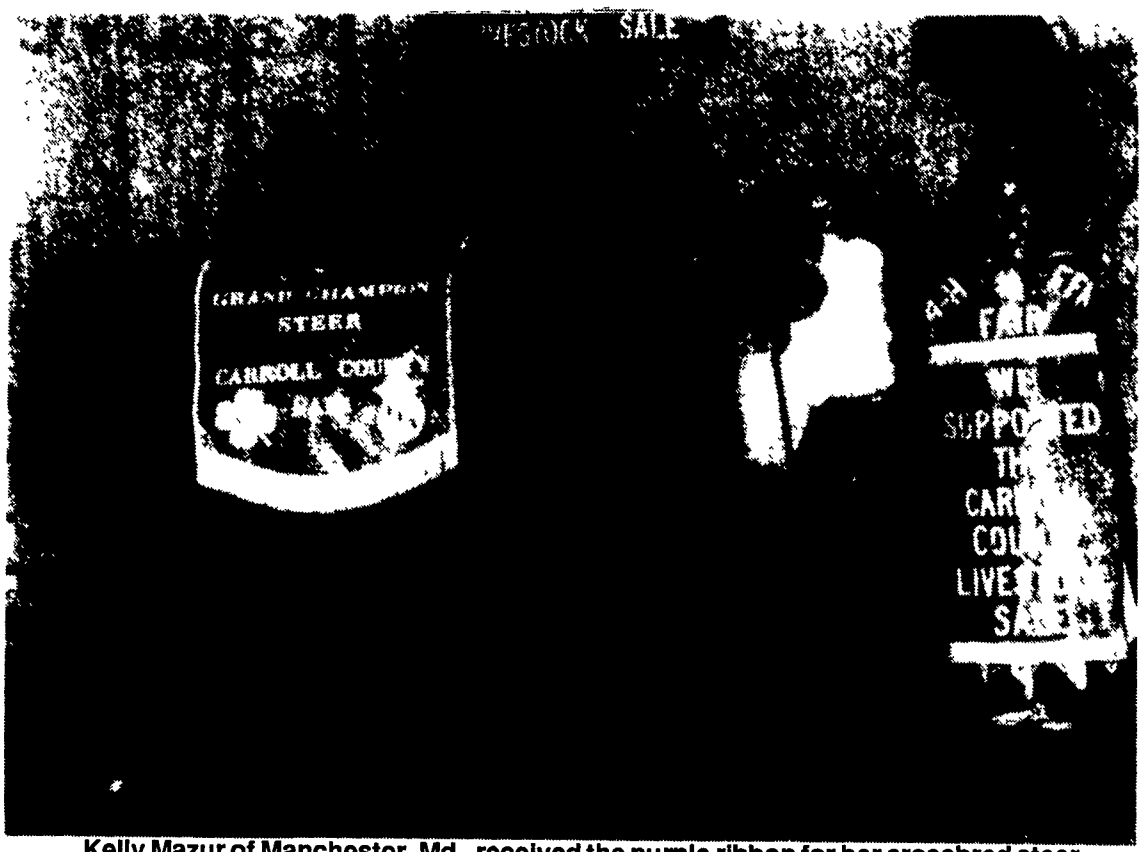
Monica Feeser, 11, of Taneytown had the grand champion. Her 230-pound Hampshire barrow brought $6.25 per pound from the Hatfield Packing Co. of Hatfield, Pa.

Hatfield purchased a total of five market hogs in the 4-H and FFA livestock sale, including a 245-pound barrow exhibited by Kelly Clagett, 15, of Weldon (Carroll County), the reigning Maryland Pork Queen. Kelly's pig brought $1.85 per pound.

Carrie Olson, 17, of Kingston had the reserve champion 4-H and FFA market hog. Her 255-pound Duroc barrow brought $4 per pound from Chesapeake Food Concessions.

Carroll County Champion Steer Owned By Mazur



Kelly Mazur of Manchester, Md., received the purple ribbon for her crossbred steer. The 1,140-pound animal brought $7.50 per pound from Martin Hill of Masonry Contractors and Buck Miller of C.J. Miller Construction Co.

Nutrena Feeds Introduces Computer Ration System For Hogs

MINNEAPOLIS, MN — A computerized ration system for hog producers has been introduced by the Nutrena Feed Division of Cargill.

Dick Gosen, Nutrena's swine product manager, said the Cargill Swine System (CSS) utilizes research data from universities and Cargill's research farm near Elk River, Minn., to provide a practical, simple decision-making tool.

"The program is used by our territory managers and at our district offices to determine what rations a producer should feed depending on his objectives," said Gosen.

- Least-cost rations. Based on ingredient costs, this program provides the least-cost diet based on the nutritional specifications of the ration.
- Ration recap. Based on the nutritional specifications of the ration, this program will specify the metabolizable energy, protein, calcium, phosphorus, fat and lysine levels.
- Feed usage recap. Based on the number of hogs being fed, this program will provide an estimate of the pounds of each ingredient required to finish pigs.
- Performance goals. Based on hog weights and environmental factors supplied by producers, CSS will project estimated rates of gain, feed required and cost of gain for each weight period as well as the overall feeding period. Different diets can be evaluated to determine which are most likely to produce the fastest gain, the lowest cost of gain or the most efficient gain.
- Comparative analysis. Based on diets fed and the weight period of hogs, this program allows producers to evaluate the likely effects of a change in protein or energy level on peformance goals.
- Buy price. Based on prices for various ingredients, this program shows where ingredients should be priced to be incorporated economically in a ration.
- Break-even analysis. Based on the feeding program used and the overhead costs of the operation, this program projects a break-even price for hogs from 35 pounds to selling weight.

Crawford County Council Of Farm Organizations Banquet

MEADVILLE (Crawford) — The Crawford County Council of Farm Organizations will hold its Seventh Annual Recognition and Awards Banquet on Thursday evening, October 13 at 7:30 p.m., at West Mead No. 2 Fire Hall.

The event includes a smorgasbord dinner served by the West Mead No. 2 Firemen's Auxiliary, recognition of 1988 Farm-City Day and Dairy Princess Pageant hosts and Executive Director, presentation of 1988 Ag-Industrial Award, and the 1988 Hall of Fame Award. Special entertainment will be provided by Indian dancers, Order of the Arrow.

The Crawford County Council of Farm Organizations is comprised of representatives from Crawford-Venango Farmers' Union Milk Producers' Cooperative; Milk Marketing, Inc.; Crawford County Farmers Association; Fair Dairy Committee; Auctioneers' Association; Holstein Club; Dairy Princess Committee; Pomona Grange; Dairy Herd Improvement Association; N.W. Pa. Maple Producers' Association; N.W. Pa. Beekeepers' Association; Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative Association; N.W. Pa. Sheep and Wool Growers; Dairy Lea; Cochranton Cooperative Association; Crawford County Rabbit Club; Meadville Farm Credit Association; N.W. Colored Dairy Breed Association; County 4-H Dairy Leaders and Area Feed Dealers.

The Council is instrumental in the planning and implementation of the Annual Farm-City Day event. Additionally, Council members have assisted with improvements in the dairy department and show arena at the County Fair; they prepared and erected directory signs at the Fair; have sponsored and conducted Farm and Fire Safety programs, hosted an out-of-state farm tour group, held a public informational meeting about milk marketing and are actively planning improved facilities for the County's Cooperative Extension and other Ag agencies.

Further, the Council initiated an Ag-Industry and a Hall of Fame Award. The Ag-Industry; award is made each year to the related industry that has given outstanding service to Crawford County agriculture and rural interests. Previous recipients have been Richard and Fritz Muckinhaupt, owners and operators of Turner's Mill, Inc.; Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative Association; Meadville Farm Credit Association; Oswald Equipment Co.; Seiler Farm Equipment andn Livingston Packing Co.

The Hall of Fame award is presented to a farmer in recognition of achievement in his own farming operation and of service to the community and in various county farm organizations. Former recipients of this prized award include Carl Hurlbert; Jack Waddell, Sr.; Jack Rynd, Jr.; Will Hasbrouck; John Vanderstappen; Myrton Gray; and Roy Black. Current year's winners will be announced and plaques will be presented during the evening's program.

The public is welcome and invited to attend the Awards Banquet on October 13 at 7:30 p.m. at West Mead No. 2 Fire Hall. Tickets at $8.50 per person may be obtained by contacting Jeff Allio at 398-4651 or toll free 800-352-0014; deadline is October 6.

Dairy Promotion Group Stresses Local Activities

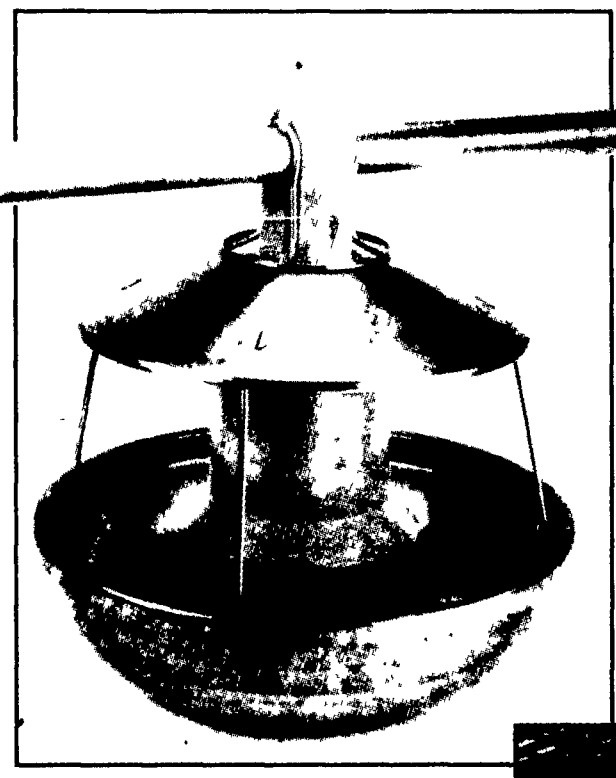
HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — As part of its ongoing commitment to support local dairy promotional activities, the dairy-farmer-governed Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program offers a number of "grassroots" services.

A new flyer listing ten different advertising specialty items is being sent to all county dairy promotion groups. The items, which bear either the PDPP's logo or slogan, "Make it Milk," range from a per-unit cost of ten cents to $12.49 for a paperweight clock. In addition to the clock, the give-aways or prizes that are available are mugs, glass milk pitchers, travelling toothbrush, rulers, pens, scratch pads, key chains, baseball-style caps and ice cream scoopers.

Promotional groups, producers, dairies or retailers interested in obtaining these promotional items directly from the advertising agency, which warehouses the stock, may contact the PDPP at (717) 787-6903.

The PDPP also provides cash subsidies to local dairy promotion groups. Among this year's 43 organizations sharing a PDPP Local Funding Program budget of $80,000 is the Clinton County Pennsylvania Farmers Association Women's Committee, which because of the PDPP funding, has been able to establish a Dairy Princess Program, and develop an innovative dairy education puppet show.

PDPP staff and volunteers are also available to make presentations to non-dairy community groups interested in the dairy industry. PDPP Promotions Specialist Laura "Lolly" Long recently spoke on "fun things to do with cheese" before a gathering of 200 women attending the Christian Business & Professional Women's "Lewisburg Monday After Five" Club in Lewisburg, PA.



The Turkey Feeder that Solves Four Problems of Continuous Grow-Out.

1 The grower can more easily follow prescribed feeding practices and programs He has control of the system

2 Every feeder line accepts interchangeable pan sizes, medium depth and deep pans, Plus Big Dutchman offers "The Orange One," a smaller feeder with a more shallow 13-inch diameter pan for starting poults

3 Feed depth and flow are controlled by a single winch at the hopper end of the line Accurate settings are easy to make without time-consuming, one-by-one adjustments Only Big Dutchman offers this depth control feature

4 The Big Dutchman turkey feeding system has an outstanding capability for programmed feeding The cable adjustment mechanism allows the operator to fill all the pans in the line to maximum capacity when birds are first brought into the house As feed is eaten out of the pans, the adjustable skirt will move down to the pre-selected position

- Strong central core keeps the skirt aligned and holds pan and shield in position
- Large pan is extra deep, with feed-saving lip The large pan is 5 inches deep, medium pan is 3 inches deep
- Draw cable raises or lowers all pan skirts in the line Maximum feed flow opening is 4 5 inches
- Ample open space between the pan and the upper shield allows adult turkeys to eat comfortably
- Suspension of the plastic core is strengthened by steel hangers that engage the plastic core above the auger tube
- There are no small parts Assembly and maintenance are simple and easy
- Interchangeable pan sizes provide versatility, matching the feeding equipment to the needs and growth stages of the flock, from poults to heavy toms

Wayne County Fair Livestock Results

WAYNE COUNTY — The 246-pound pig shown by Gregg Wormuth of Starlight grabbed the judge's attention and consequently the grand champion honors at the Wayne County Fair's junior swine show. Second highest in the show was Scott Lewis of Pleasant Mount with his champion mediumweight hog.

The top spots in the junior sheep show went to the Mang family of Honesdale with Michael showing the grand champion market lamb and Patrick showing the reserve grand champion.

In the open sheep show, the Columbia champion and reserve champion rams and ewes were exhibited by Robert Hinton of Hidden Valley Farm in Greentown. Drew Engerbert brought home the rosettes for the champion and reserve champion Dorset ewes.

Three out of the four top honors in the Hampshire division went to David Sverduk of Dalton. He showed the champion and reserve champion rams as well as the reserve champion ewe. The top Hampshire ewe was owned by Crystal Schweighofer. David also garnered all four champion Rambouillet ribbons

Judge Dr. Robert Herr tapped Virginia Sverduk's rams and ewes in the Lincoln breed for all top titles. Similarly, Sterling Farms in Dalton won all four championship honors in the Southdown division. Another Sverduk, Luann, collected the rosettes for the champion and reserve champion rams and ewes in the Montadale category.

Update On Milk Marketing Policy

BY BLAIR SMITH
PSU Ag Economics

The Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983 when passed was the most complicated and unique piece of dairy legislation since the price support and federal milk marketing order programs were originally established. The 1983 Act contained, you may recall, the paid diversion program, a 50 cent assessment to pay for part of the diversion program, phased reductions in the support price of $1.50 (from $13.10 to $11.60), and a 15 cent check-off for the national dairy promotion program.

Then came the Food and Security Act of 1985 (F&SA)--which gave an entirely new meaning to the words complicated and unique. This Act established the Dairy Termination Program, contained triggers for decreasing (and even the remote possibility of increasing) the price support level by as much as $2.00, included increases in Class I differentials in many Federal Milk Markting Orders (FMMO's), provided incentives to export dairy products, established the national commission on dairy policy, and incorporated several other features pertaining to dairy.

The 1985 F & SA was written to cover the 5 year period 1986-1990, and the support price has already been triggered down $1.00, to $10.60 per cwt. Because of the severe drought this summer (at least in part), the possibility of another 50 cent reduction in the support price on January 1, 1989 has been rescinded by the Disaster Assistance Act of 1988 (DAA). The DAA also contains a provision for raising the support price by 50 cents during the months of April, May, and June 1989. In addition to milk price relief, the 1988 DAA makes dairy farmers potentially eligible for feed assistance under two programs--the Emergency Feed Assistance Program and the Drought Disaster Relief Payment Program. George Greaser (814-865-7656) in our farm management extension section is staying on top of those programs and will communicate their provisions and procedures to Pennsylvania county extension offices via Penn Mail as they unfold.

At the state level, the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB) increased the minimum price for Class I milk by $1.05 beginning September 1 to continue at least through February 1989 (also in response to the drought) throughout all of Pennsylvania. This action by the PMMB is not expected to have much effect on prices received by most coop members in the western and southeastern parts of the state because the major coops there are already getting almost that much or more than $1.05 above current state and federal order minimums. The effects on other shippers in these two areas, and on all shippers in the remaining areas of Pennsylvania, are more difficult to generalize. Some handlers (both cooperative and independent) are also paying premiums of varying amounts to these other shippers. Presumably, the increase in price dairy farmers might expect to receive beginning September 1 is the difference between what they are now receiving in the way of over-order premiums and the $1.05 just established. Remember, however, that the $1.05 pertains only to milk used for Class I purposes, and Class I utilization is only about 50 percent throughout the state.

Make It By Marketing Conference

UNIVERSITY PARK — The difference between a successful home or farm-based business and a bust can be the difference in how you market your product. In the business of selling specialty crops and commodities, knowing the ins and outs of your market can give you the competitive edge.

In November, four states are combining their expertise to offer a marketing conference for full and part-time farmers and anyone else interested in developing new skills to begin or expand a home or farm-based business.

Cooperative Extension and the state Departments of Agriculture in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware are sponsoring the second Marketing Alternatives Conference, "Make It By Marketing," at the Willow Valley Resort and Conference Center in Lancaster, Pennsylvania on Wednesday and Thursday, November 16 and 17.

The early registration fee is $15 per person before November 7. After November 7 or at the door, registration is $20 per person. Space is limited so early registration is encouraged.

To find out more about the conference program and to request a registration form, contact your local Cooperative Extension Office

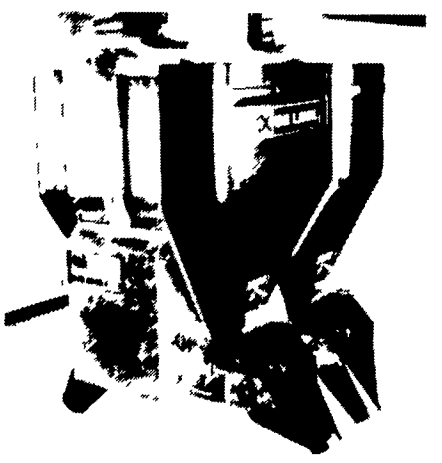
DE LAVAL The De Laval® FEED CAR Stanchion Feeder

NOW... All the advantages of automatic individually controlled feeding is available for stanchion and tie-stall barns.



The principle of feeding little and often is now available and affordable. Now 30-40 cow operators can have the same benefits as large operators. You can give each cow an individually programmed ration based on milk production, stage of lactation and other factors you want to consider, feed small amounts up to 10 times every 24 hours. It's accurage and automatic, feeds 4-to-5 cows per minute with one or two types of feed; and has optional automatic refill. Travels around your barn on an overhead monorail. Owners report it can pay for itself in 18 months or less.

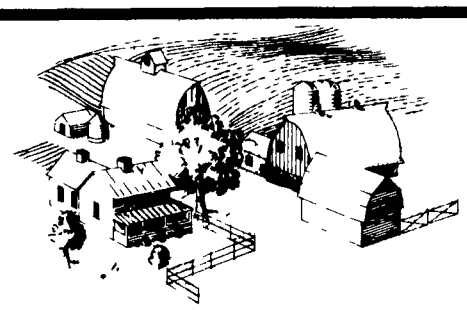
FARM MANAGEMENT



BY ROLAND P. FREUND
Regional Farm Management Agent

Pricing High-Moisture Corn Grain

High-moisture corn has become a very popular feed for dairy cattle, beef and even hogs in our part of the world. Because of the labor convenience, the savings in drying costs, simplification of grinding, and apparent improvement in palatability, many farmers have chosen to invest in high-moisture-grain structures. Even "cattlemen" (here used to refer also to dairy farmers) who normally grow little of their own grain have chosen to buy and store their grain as high moisture.

This situation has created a considerable trade in high-moisture corn. In a dry year the demand is increased because more corn acres than normal are used to fill the corn silage needs. So we can expect to see many cattlemen negotiating with their grain-producing neighbors to buy wet corn this year.

The problem these people have is that there is no market quotation or other easy reference on which to base prices. There is normally enough confusion in the grain business because we are probably the last country in the world to still price grain on a volumetric measure (bushel) but trade it by weight over the scales. Then there is the problem of the high moisture level of this grain, which is well above the levels at which farmers normally harvest grain for delivery to mills for dry storage.

Two steps can be used to simplify the process of pricing grain. First, calculate how many dry shelled bushels the high-moisture grain in question would be equivalent to, and then, negotiate a fair price for those bushels.

1. Calculate Dry Shelled Bushel Equivalents

There are many complex shrink and other tables used in the grain industry into which grain merchants have built cost of drying and other charges to determine how much they will pay farmers for a given weight of grain.

These tables should be avoided when trading grain for high-moisture storage.

There are two very simple formulas which can be used to calculate what a weight of grain at any given level of DRY MATTER would equal in dry bushel equivalents. As long as you can remember two factors this can be calculated quickly with a pocket calculator (or a pencil and paper if you can still remember how to multiply!).

For High-Moisture Ear Corn:
Pounds of wet ear corn
X dry matter (expressed as a decimal)
X .0164
=Bushels of Dry Shelled

Example:
9,000 pounds of ear corn
X .65 dry matter (35% moisture)
X .0164
=96 Bushels dry shelled equivalent

For High-Moisture Shelled Corn:
Pounds of wet shelled corn
X dry matter (expressed as a decimal)
X .0205
=Bushels of Dry Shelled

Example:
35,000 pounds of wet shelled corn
X .7 dry matter (30% moisture)
X .0205
=502 Bushels dry shelled equivalent

Now we have the quantity of grain expressed in the industry standard dry bushels.

2. Establish PRICE for high-moisture corn

In this process three factors need to be considered. These are harvest season price drops, the normal drying costs for the grower, and, in the case of ear corn, the additional feed value to the cattle. It is assumed that the grower will be paying the harvest cost, and the buyer will haul the grain from the grower's field.

The corn price normally drops about 35 cents a bushel from first harvest, bottoming out late in the harvest period when local storages are full. Very early in the season the price may be even higher. Pricing high-moisture corn at the mill price when high moisture corn is harvested can give the grower a big price advantage.

Normal drying costs can reduce the return by 15 to 30 cents per bushel. At current commercial drying charges, growers could loose $1.00 a bushel to dry 30% kernel moisture grain. Under these conditions if price were to remain constant during the harvest season growers would be better off to let corn grain dry in the field and take higher field losses.

So taking these two factors together, growers have to compromise between getting an early higher price but having higher drying costs, and saving with lower drying costs but getting a lower price later in the season. It would be very reasonable therefore to expect that early season high-moisture.

Shelled Corn Sales should be priced at least 15 to 20 cents below the pre-harvest market price for dry shelled bushel equivalents.

With Ear Corn there is about 10% more nutrient per dry shelled bushel equivalent. Cattlemen should therefore be willing to pay the full market price for the dry shelled bushel equivalents when buying ear corn.

Buyer beware!

Many buyers have paid for some very expensive water when buying high-moisture corn. If the above suggestions are followed, careful calculations should ensure that a price is struck which is advantagous to both parties.

An alternative to these computations is to use the Penn State Extension computer template. It takes a slightly different approach to arrive at a range of prices for the wet product that can be used as the basis for haggling. Do not hesitate to contact your office and request that your figures be run through the "High Moisture Corn Pricing" program.

TWO-STAGE SNOWTHROWER WITH NEW TRACKS - MODEL 826

This two-stage unit cleans a wide, 26" path. It's powered by a heavy-duty 8 H.P. engine with a cast iron sleeve for durability. The one-gallon fuel tank provides up to an hour's worth of uninterrupted clearing.

The new tracks on this model provide so much traction, you'll never need to use tire chains. Tracks provide more stability from side to side in packed or drifted show, and are designed to pivot independently on the drive axle, for great handling on unlevel terrain.

Optional accessories for Cub Cadet two-stage snowthrowers include: 12-volt AC electric start kit, snow shield, drift cutter bar and tire chains. Headlight kit is available for model 826 only.

SCRANTON (Lackawanna) — Fueled by higher prices for powder and cheese the Minnesota-Wisconsin Price Series finally ignited and went into orbit jumping 46 cents in August to a yearly high of $10.98. From a low of $10.33 in April it took three months to gain 19 cents, but now it finally got off the ground. There hasn't been a single month's increase to match this in the last ten years, at least, and there's more to come. This is the highest M-W since December and 65 cents over the support price of $10.33 for 3.5 milk.

It wasn't the drought that brought the higher prices as much as the increasing demand for cheese. Production in the two state area was as good as last year and the out of state demand was up only slightly. One thing that the hot weather did was to lower the fat and solids in the milk so cheese and butter yields were low. With better yields the M-W may have gone up as much as 60 cents, according to some analysis. Monthly averages on cheese prices have increased 12.6 cents from May to August and were up another three cents in September and still climbing. At $1.30 a pound cheese prices are now 15 cents above the support price.

Powder prices are up 5.5 cents from their spring low and are now nearly six cents above the support price. Higher export prices have accounted for most of the increases in powder prices. Butter has gained less than powder and cheese but still managed to go three cents above supports last month. It has lost some ground in September and may have peaked already.

All of this is reflected in Commodity Credit Corporation purchases that have nearly disappeared. Butter purchases the first week of September were the lowest in six weeks. Cheese purchases were the lowest in nine years and no powder has gone to CCC for the last two months—and it's only the middle of September. The drought really hasn't begun to take its toll on milk production. Nationally you produced slightly more than last year. Of the top five dairy states only Pennsylvania and Minnesota were lower. However, it's expected that production will drop below last year's level until the benefits from the Disaster Assistance Act begin to flow back to the farm.

In Order 2

In order to appreciate the effect on your milk check of a 46 cent increase in the M-W you're going to see a blend price for August milk in Order 2 of $12.03 and that's 72 cents higher than July. Again, the biggest increase you've seen in 10 years. But only half of it came from the M-W. In August you got your first pay back from the Louisville Plan and that was 35 cents or about half of your 72 cent increase. The other half came from a 53 cent jump in the Class II price that did come from the M-W. The Class I price will increase in October when it goes to $13.53. However, while you've made some outstanding gains this month you still haven't closed the price gap from last year. The $12.03 is still 41 cents less than last year but that's better than the 65 cent difference in July. The best news is that prices have finally taken hold and there's more to come in the months ahead.

Drought Aid

Also to come in the months ahead are the benefits from the Drought Assistance Act of 1988. Latest USDA crop reports indicate that, nationally, loss estimates this month are nearly unchanged from August so the worst is behind us and in some regions production is better than expected. However, the relif machinery is already in motion and county ASCS offices are ready to talk especially. If you have crop losses that need to be documented or verified while the evidence is still in the field. When in doubt, call. There are actually three different programs in the Act that relate to milk producers and you should be aware of all of them to providing help this winter. No program is perfect and none of them are designed to replace all your losses but only to help you maintain your herd to the next growing season.

Three Way Stretch

There will already be three different programs available but you need to understand each of them because there are payment limitations that cut across all three programs.

The Drought Aid program deals only with crop losses and covers every crop from corn to forest trees. Not all of the regulations are in place for this part of the program. Price supported crops like corn and wheat are pretty well covered but more work is needed on non program crops like hay and vegetables. However, that's no reason to ignore it because you still need to know what information ASCS will want to verify your losses and what records they need from you on past production of non program-crops. Such losses can cover about everything that's weather related not, only losses from drought and losses will be covered for each crop.

The second program is the Emergency Feed Program which will consider your total feed supply both raised and purchased and balance that against your minimum needs to maintain your herd. The difference will be made up in payments you can use to buy additional feed. The third program is the Emergency Feed Assistance Program that is somewhat similar to the Emergency Feed Assistance Program that is somewhat similar except that in place of feed payments you can buy feed grains at 75 percent of the county loan rate delivered to the farm.

Regulations on the feeding programs are completed and ASCS can give you the details. Explore all three programs and decide what best suits your needs within the payment limits.

PMMB Authority

The Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board sent out a letter to all handlers clarifying their authority to set prices of Class I milk. The Board can set minimum prices for Class I milk produced in Pennsylvania and sold to handlers located in Pennsylvania whether or not those handlers are regulated under federal orders. If you think about it, that can account for much of the variation in over order premiums we will see in the northeastern counties. Nearly all of the Order 2 plants buying milk here are located outside the state and are not included. Plants located outside Pennsylvania but selling milk here would have the best deal or plants located here but buying out of state milk would also benefit. Of course, the mere fact of mandated over order premiums to producers shifts the whole pricing scene so all handlers will be affected to maintain their supplies.

However, the problem remains of how to get comparable premiums for milk shipped to out of state handlers and what happens after the PMMB premiums end in February. PMMB prices for Class I milk in October is now the $14.73 compared to the Order 2 price of $13.53 that month. That's even higher than the $14.45 target price set by RCMA and MCMMA last year. If it works then we're back to the original idea when RCMA was first organized—why not have it for everyone if they are willing to participate in a cooperative? The PMMB premiums are for drought relief and could disappear in the spring but something more reliable could take their place if Order 2 producers are willing. Many are already tempted by high premiums to jump in the fire but may be trying to get back in the frying pan when market conditions change.

Allflex Begins Producing Ear Tags In Texas

DALLAS, TX. — Allflex/ Industrial Thermoform, the newest member of the Allflex Group of Companies in North America, has begun full production molding of livestock identification eartags for Allflex/Vet Brand, Inc. Mike Scott, Allflex technical director, recently certified the tag production at Industrial Thermoform meets the Allflex high standard of quality.

Established in 1972, Industrial Thermoform fast earned the reputation as a specialist in custom injection molding. With high tech equipment on site, and more to come, the newly acquired company will supply Allflex/Vet Brand with substantial inventory for the North American market.

While Allflex livestock identification products have been manufactured in the U.S.A. since 1980, the modern 17,000-square-foot Dallas plant will assure the availability of Allflex products nationally.

Management Approach Yields Profits in Beef, Dairy Industries

SAN ANTONIO, TX. — A total management approach to increasing the profitability of dairy and beef cattle herds will yield significant returns, speakers representing the American Association of Bovine Practitioners (AABP) told more than 100 editors, publishers, and advertising executives at a meeting of the Livestock Publications Council in San Antonio.

Donald B. Hudson, D.V.M., of North Platte, NE, president of the AABP, discussed beef cattle practice, and Thomas J. Fuhrmann, D.V.M., of Tempe, Az., AABP vice president, discussed dairy cattle practice. The importance of herd-health management was a common theme for a team a veterinarians representing the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA), AABP, and two other national veterinary organizations at the meeting.

Hudson said the first step in establishing an effective herd-management program is to assess the needs of the herd. "Once we establish what's occurring in the herd, we can set up vaccination programs, nutrition programs, reproductive efficiency plans, and other management programs to prevent disease. It takes a continuing effort over a period of years to develop an effective herd-health management program, and what's right for one herd will not work for another--even for a neighboring herd," he said.

Key tools in a herd-health management program may include bull breeding-soundness evaluation, pregnancy evaluation, heifer replacement, control of internal and external parasites, implanting, nutritional supplementation, vaccination, castration, dehorning, crossbreeding, and pasture rotation. According to a study at Mississippi State University, such a program will increase income from a 100-cow herd by $5,600 to $10,000 at a cost of $1,500 to $2,000.

"We're talking about a total program of production medicine that can be applied to both cow/calf and feedlot operations," Hudson said. For example, a cow/calf program covers all the factors influencing pounds of calf weaned per cow exposed, including heifer selection, development and breeding, post-partum cow reproduction, and weaning weights. The goal is to integrate production, health, and financial information to maximize profitability.

Fuhrmann said an effective dairy herd-health program breaks down specific functions within the management process and evaluates the cost-effectiveness of each. "It requires a strong working relationship between practitioner and dairyman," he said. "It's not efficient to spend valuable professional time diagnosing individual animal problems. We need to be developing a program to prevent health problems by honing in on the needs of the whole herd.

"Milk production at our best herds now averages over 23,000 pounds per cow per year, up from 17,000 pounds just a few years ago. Some individual cows are now producing over 40,000 pounds of milk," Fuhrmann said.

This increased efficiency is due to improved herd management and application of new technology, Fuhrmann said. For example, use of efficient reproductive health-management practices before, during and after calving can earn producers thousands of dollars more each year, he said.

A 95 percent net calf crop is a realistic goal for a reproductive health-management program, Fuhrmann said, but it is too rarely achieved. "Management observation of heat will significantly increase results," he said.

A Fuhrmann said a dairy herd-health program might include reproduction, mastitis control, nutrition, and replacement rearing. Computer software programs now available make it possible to monitor performance using microcomputers, he added.

"Dairy profitability is influenced greatly by management decision-making on herd replacements and cull cows. The progressive dairy practitioner can have a major impact on dairy clients by assisting them in making appropriate herd replacement decisions," Fuhrmann said.

Among new technologies now increasing productivity in dairy herds is a fast and reliable progestrone test, used to determine when the cow is in heat. Artificial insemination and embryo transfers also are yielding significant results in increased productivity.

The availability of high-quality genetic semen for artificial insemination has made possible a degree of selectivity never before possible, according to Fuhrmann. Growth-promotant implants are being used successfully, and other promising advances in technology are on the horizon, including the use of growth hormones and application of techniques of genetic engineering.

Nutrition is another area where new knowledge is providing opportunities for increased reproductive efficiency, he said. Cows in a dairy herd are now commonly grouped according to productivity and fed different rations to maximize results.

Joining Hudson and Fuhrmann in meetings with the Council were representatives of the American Association of Swine Practitioners (AASP) and the American Association of Sheep and Goat Practitioners (AASGP).

Valiant Daughter Tops Sulbra

BY BARBARA MILLER
Lycoming Co. Correspondent

TROY — A Valiant daughter sold for $5,500 to Tom Comstock, Rome, and was the top selling bovine in the seventh annual Sulbra Sell-A-Bration Sale at the Troy Fairgrounds on Sept. 15. Consignors were Ken Young and Dwayne Haight.

According to Ron Wood, reader of pedigrees, Kenview Valisa ET possessed a plus $160 value and was out of an extremely high testing family. He said an AI firm had expressed interest in mating her.

Bringing $3,300, an Arlinda Rotate daughter just recently fresh commanded the second highest selling price which was paid by Dr. Ben Turner and Jim Repart of New York state. Consignor was John Lehman, Harrison Valley, Pa.

Jo-beth Nutmeg Rotate Nel-Twin is a Rotate daughter from an Excellent Nugget and was sold with her heifer calf.

The third highest selling entry was a two-year-old Mandingo daughter, Hidden-View Mandingo Lacey, purchased by Teresa Kissling, Hidden View Farms, Robesonia, Pa. Lacey was making close to 22,000 pounds of milk as a two-year-old and sold bred to Trifecta for $3200. Consignor was Don Welk of Stonehurst Farm, Pa.

Although the sale average of $1514 for 62 mature head of cattle was down some from last year's sale average, Ron Wood, reader of pedigrees, said he thought the sale went well taking into account present farming conditions.

"This was the best line-up cow for cow, in my opinion, that we're had in the past seven years. They were an extremely uniform group with no poor ones in it," he remarked.

The sale was sponsored by Sulbra Breeders Holstein Club. Sale chairman were Tom Comstock and Ray Hoppaugh.

World Dairy Expo Slated Oct. 5-9

MADISON, Wi. — June may be Dairy Month, but Dairy Week will be the first week in October. The twenty-second World Dairy Expo, the premiere trade show for the dairy industry, will be held October 5-9, 1988 at the Dane County Exposition Center in Madison, Wisconsin. Dairy farmers, agricultural professionals and industry leaders from around the world will gather to share ideas, discuss common concerns, view new technology, and show, buy, and sell some of the world's best dairy cattle.

For many, the dairy cattle shows are the highlight of World Dairy Expo. More than 1600 head of the finest show cattle in North America will be competing to be named tops in their respective breed. Expo will host the National Ayrshire Show, the Central National shows for the Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein and Milking Shorthorn breeds and the Midwest Regional Jersey Show.

The commercial exhibits will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily. This year's show will feature nearly 400 commercial exhibitors displaying the latest available dairy farm technology, products and services.

The Educational Program will begin Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. with a discussion of international milk supply management. Special guest speakers will include Jack Lawson, represneting the Scotland Milk Marketing Board, O.A. Rountree of the Ayrshire Association of New Zealand, and Kenneth G. McKinnon, Vice Chairman of the Canadian Dairy Commission. Thursday at 11:00 a.m., Dan Natzke, a Wisconsin Dairy Farmer, and Doug Maddox, a California Dairy Farmer, will comment on dairy farm labor management. Also, on Thursday, at 1:00 p.m. a progrlam entitled "Who Will Own Your Farm?" will be presented by Attorney Richard Langer, Bank Trust Officer Roman Borkovek, and Myrna Giraud, a widow who operates a family farm.

The sale line-up this fall starts with the World Premier Colored Breeds Sale featuring Ayrshire and Jersey cattle at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday afternoon. Brown Swiss sell in a separate offering at 4:00 p.m. on Thursday. The first of two Holstein sales is also on Thursday at 6:00 p.m. The Genetic Connection Sale offering Holstein embryos from the top genetics of the Holstein breed will be held Friday morning at 9:00 a.m. The traditional World Premiere Holstein Sale begins at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, October 7.

Youth from across the United States will travel to Expo to participate in National 4-H, Intercollegiate and FFA dairy cattle judging contests and junior showmanship contests.

Scheduling for the 1988 World Dairy Expo includes: October 4: National 4-H & Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging Contests, World Dairy Expo Recognition Banquet; October 5: Opening Day, National Ayrshire Show, Central National Milking Shorthorn Show and Midwest Regional Jersey Show, World Premier Ayrshire and Jersey Sale; October 6: National Ayrshire Show, Central National Guernsey & Brown Swiss Shows, Holstein Breeders Challenge Sale, World Premiere Brown Swiss Sale; October 7: Central National Brown Swiss & Holstein Shows, Wisconsin-Style International Buffet, World Premiere Holstein Sale; October 8: FFA Dairy Judging Events, Central National Holstein Show; October 9: Junior Showmanship Contests, Antique Tractor Pull and the selection of America's Supreme Champion Cow.

Dairy farmers will also be eligible for daily door prizes drawings for ten certificates for Anchor Forage Innoculant to treat 300 tons of silage courtesy of Anchor Animal Health; four certificates for $1,000 of Purina Product or $1,000 cash from Purina Mills; six 1,000 pound units of Goal Maker Supreme from Supersweet Feeds; five $500 certificates for semen from ABS bulls of winners' choice from American Breeders Service; certificates for one gross Amoxi-Mast, one gross Dariclox and three for one gross each of Orbenin-DC mastitis treatments from Beecham Laboratories; six 1,000 pound units of 40% Dairy Supplement from Kent Feeds; twenty-five Red Barn cow mats and 48 feet of Dairyman's Dream manger flooring protection from "Rock" Stone & Associates; three registered dairy heifers from Tri-State Breeders Cooperative and the Grand Door Prize - a 1989 Chevy pickup from Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Corporation. A special drawing will be held for Sunday attendees for one $500 certificate for USDA choice Holstein beef and two gift boxes of Wisconsin veal from the Wisconsin Beef Council and Wisconsin Veal Growers.

Admission for this truly world-class dairy show is three dollars per person with children under 12 entering free. Parking is included in the admission, and there will be no additional parking fees. For further information contact WORLD DAIRY EXPO, 2135 Rimrock Road, Madison, Wisconsin 53713 or telephone 608/251-3976.

Midwest Farmers Named To Head Corn Groups

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Steve Wentworth, a corn grower from Oreana, Ill., was unanimously elected as the new president of the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) at a recent meeting of the association's board of directors.

Wentworth farms a 760-acre operation in central Illinois where he grows corn and soybeans.

For the past year he has served as NCGA's first vice president, and was vice president of market development during the association's 1986-87 fiscal year.

Keith Hora, Riverside, Iowa, will complete his current term as NCGA president on October 1, at which time Wentworth will assume his presidential responsibilities. Hora will serve as NCGA chairman for the next year.

Alan Kemper, Lafayette, Ind., was elected as first vice president of the association. Elected to other association posts were Mark Rogen, Sherman, S.D., as secretary and Alan Larsen, Heron Lake, Minn., as treasurer.

Five additional corn grower leaders were elected as vice presidents to head the five association standing committees. Elected were:

* Jack Kintzle, Coggon, Iowa, as vice president of the Government Relations Committee.
* Tim Trotter, Coal City, Ill., as vice president of the Market Development Committee.
* Ron Swanson, Galt, Iowa, as vice president of the Research Committee.
* Kenneth Stock, Levasy, Mo., as vice president of the Field Services Committee.
* Randy Cruise, Pleasanton, Neb., as vice president of the Public Relations Committee.

Officers of the National Corn Development Foundation (NCDF), the organization's funding arm, were also elected at the meeting.

Nancy Heidemann, Plymouth, Neb., was the group's choice as president, Heidemann and her husband, Robert, operate a 940-acre grain and livestock farm. Heidemann succeeds Bob Oleson, Palmyra, Wis., who was elected as NCDF chairman.

Other NCDF officers elected were Forrest Bartenhagen, Wapello, Iowa, as vice president; Phil Aylward, Memphis, Mo., as secretary and David Meyer, Keyesport, Ill., as treasurer.

The National Corn Growers Association has a nationwide membership of more than 21,000 corn growers and 21 affiliated state corn grower associations.

New Field Boss® 37.

Our exclusive Triple Sync transmission lets you move between gears without stopping. You can even shift from forward to reverse just by clutching. Three ranges and two creeper speeds let you select the right combination for the job. Choose from 18 forward and six reverse speeds. For more power and tighter turning, pick a model with our exclusive King Pin 4WD.

A four-cylinder diesel produces 37 engine horsepower, 30 PTO horsepower and even lugging. A fully-independent 540 rpm rear PTO means better implement performance and the standard Category I three-point hitch has both position and draft control.

Stop in and see the new Field Boss 37... the smooth operator.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

Compact price. Big-job features.

New Field Boss® 43.

It may look like a compact, but it packs features that allow you to use it on jobs where you used to use a utility tractor.

The four-cylinder diesel produces 45 engine horsepower and 39 PTO horsepower. And, it's linked to our exclusive Triple Sync transmission. A synchromesh main gear and two constant mesh range and creeper gears give you 12 forward and four reverse speeds. For improved pulling power, choose a 4 WD model with tight-turning, King Pin drive.

Other big-job features include an independent 540 rear PTO, helical-gear final drives, wet multi-disc brakes and open center hydraulics. Plus, a three-point hitch with position and draft control.

Ask us about big-job attachments, too.

Bush, Dukakis Camps Lay Out Farm Planks

WASHINGTON, DC — Farmers wondering what 1988's Presidential candidates have planned for farm policy got some insight this week as representatives of both campaigns met with the National Farmers Union Board of Directors Tuesday in Washington.

Mississippi Senator Thad Cochran told the NFU Board that Vice-President George Bush wants only modifications in the '85 farm bill and would probably oppose major changes including measures to decouple government farm supports from production. Some members of the Senate have already proposed such a plan, but Cochran says it would treat farm programs like any government entitlement and therefore could be easily eliminated.

Cochran, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, told the group that Bush is "committed" to the present farm bill but that the Vice-President wants better targeting of farm program payments.

On the question of grain embargoes, Cochran said there would be no such thing under a Bush Administration. "Agriculture won't be used as a foreign policy weapon," said the Senator.

A sharply contrasting approach to Bush's farm proposals was spelled out by Michael Dukakis's Midwest Campaign Director. Ted Mondale, son of 1984 Democratic Presidential Nominee Walter Mondale, said Dukakis supports supply-management programs and "reasonable" price supports.

Dukakis attacks present farm policies in his agricultural platform when he points to a loss of over 300,000 farms since 1981 and a 146 billion dollar decline in farmland values between 1982 and 1985.

Mondale said the Reagan Administration has tried to take credit for this year's higher grain prices, but that the increases had much more to do with the drought than government programs. Mondale said Dukakis wants to stop the policy of lowering target prices to undercut competition. "That's gambling with agriculture's future," says the Dukakis position paper. "Still lower prices are not the answer."

As the Farmers Union leaders met to begin discussions on farm bill proposals, they also heard from former Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland who told them the next farm program must have improved income as its primary objective. Bergland pointed to the need for rural development in the 1990s but said the best rural revitalization program would be achieved if farm income was increased.

Kutz Elected To NAAB Board

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming) — DuWayne A. Kutz, Sire Power General Manager, has been elected to serve a three-year term on the National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB) Board of Directors during the 42nd Annual NAAB Convention held recently in Tysons Corner, Virginia. The nine-member board is comprised of leaders in the cattle breeding industry who serve to maintain and perpetuate a sound trade association which meets the needs of the NAAB membership.

DuWayne A. Kutz

In this position, Kutz will be a member of the board which determines and establishes NAAB policy, as well as reviews and acts on management recommendations, financial statements, and committee reports. The NAAB Board is also responsible for selecting individuals to serve on various NAAB committees representing areas such as dairy sire evaluation, inseminator training, research, and international marketing.

Kutz began his employment in the A.I. industry over 25 years ago at a Wisconsin-based cooperative. He is presently in his eighth year as General Manager for Sire Power, Inc. Kutz has served on the NAAB Dairy Sire Evaluation Committee and Managers Committee. Currently he is a member of the Board of Directors for both U.S. Genes and World Dairy Expo.

Sire Power extends its congratulations both to General Manager Kutz on his newly-elected position and to Sire Power President Gary Rickard who retired from the NAAB Board after serving two successive terms.

GOOD HELP IS HARD TO FIND?

For more and more farmers, labor is a major business problem. What to do? How to improve? We think the following is a great place to start. It is adapted from an article by John Towler, a psychologist professor at the University of Waterloo and senior partner in a management consulting firm in Waterloo, Ontario.

One of the most natural of all human impulses is the desire to be in control and do things our own way. When we are allowed to be independent, we become self-confident and proud of our accomplishments. However, when our attempts to show our independence are thwarted, we lose confidence in our abilities and may begin to doubt ourselves. This can, and will, lead to frustration and unhappiness.

Knowing how to develop independence and self-confidence in one's employees is an important skill for anyone who needs to work effectively with people. Done properly, it leads to a happy and efficient operation. Done improperly, it inevitably results in tensions, doubts, and problems.

The drive for self-control appears very early in life, usually around the ages of four or five. This is the time when children want to do things for themselves without any parental assistance. Sometimes a battle ensues between the child, trying to tie his or her shoes or button up a shirt, and mom or dad, who know that they can do it better and faster. This usually leads to the child's refusing help and crying, "I can do it myself!" This is nothing more than his or her demand to be independent and to exercise some control over the environment. Initially, it will take longer and, yes, the buttons may not match all the buttonholes exactly, but this will improve with practice. Most important, allowing or encouraging the child to take control means that he or she will develop confidence and be ready to show individual initiative when another task is encountered.

As interesting as this is, you may be wondering what it has to do with managing people. Well, remember that adults are children who have grown up, and they often react in many of the same ways.

THE BEST POSSIBLE WORKFORCE IS ONE MADE UP OF PEOPLE WHO WILL DO THINGS WITHOUT BEING TOLD.

We all have this drive to take the initiative and be in control, but often our bosses or organizations won't allow this basic need to surface. Yet, we have never met an owner or a manager who doesn't wish for a staff of bright, energetic workers with lots of initiative. Part of the answer lies in the way you treat your people. Do you allow them to be in control, or do you restrict them so much they feel they can't do anything on their own? When they do attempt to show their initiative, do you welcome this, praise it, and support it? Or do you criticize their efforts, chastise them for their mistakes, and discourage them from ever doing this again? We usually get exactly what we expect from people, and if you expect that your workers cannot or will not seize the initiative, it may well be that you have made it impossible or uncomfortable for them to do so.

There probably aren't many farmers around who wouldn't like their workers to be self-starters. If people tend naturally to be independent, what is going wrong? There are three factors here that must be taken into account. One is the prior experience of your people. Are they really ready to take control, or have their parents or bosses taught them that showing initiative leads only to trouble and criticism, and thus to feelings of shame, guilt and doubt? If this is your situation, then you have either made some poor hiring decisions or you will have a big job to overcome the damage of prior experience.

The second factor is the existing organizational system and working environment in which these workers are expected to be self-starters. Take a good look at it. Is it rigid and formal, with clearly defined rules and spheres of authority? Is there a lot of political infighting to maintain power and position? Is the atmosphere one in which everyone looks after himself or herself, first and foremost? If this describes your organization, you have problems that don't involve merely stifling people's creativity and initiative. Even the most energetic people wither and die in organizations like the one just described. The smart ones leave for better jobs and the best turn up as members of your competition.

The third factor to examine is you. Are you really prepared to give workers their heads and not only allow, but also encourage, them to use their brains? Or do you secretly feel that you will lose control or even that your subordinates will show you up with their achievements? If so, your problem is really bigger than theirs.

Let's assume you are convinced that most people want to show some initiative and that you are more than willing to have this happen. What do you need to make it become a reality? First of all, you must set the stage and make it clear that you will welcome signs of individual initiative. In addition, you must make sure your workers know it will be okay to try and to fail. After all, no one is perfect 100% of the time and unless you make it safe for your people, they will never try anything, for fear of being fired if they fail.

Probably no one will believe you at this point; people will adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude. This is normal and fair, and you mustn't expect immediate results. To overcome this, you should do two things. The first is to take the initiative yourself by giving employees tasks that will require their taking control and using their abilities without supervision. Explain what you want done, what the end results should look like, what resources they can call upon, and when you want the task completed. Then go away and leave them alone. When they have finished the task, review the results and their performance with them. Be prepared to find that their approaches or solutions are not the way you would have handled the situation. Just look at the results. Are you really trying to make everyone do things your way? Or are you prepared to accept that others' ideas may be just as good, if not better?

Finally, be lavish but sincere with your praise. Nothing succeeds like success, and the person who is praised for taking control will do so again. If there are things you want to criticize, be gentle and, instead of finding fault, offer suggestions on how the work might be improved next time.

Helping people become self-starters is rewarding for everyone. At the very least, it will lead to a happier and more enjoyable environment.

Quality A Concern As Soybean Harvest Begins

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — U.S. soybean farmers are reporting price discounts as high as $2 per bushel on early sales of 1988 drought-damaged soybeans. Some farmers report buyers are rejecting soybeans of exceptionally poor quality.

The recently enacted 1988 drought relief legislation gives USDA discretionary authority to provide "additional disaster payments to producers of such crops that suffer losses resulting from the reduced quality of such crops caused by drought".

A spokesman for U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng told the American Soybean Association (ASA) the Secretary may not use his discretionary authority to make payments based on poor soybean quality.

In a letter today, ASA President James Lee Adams urged Secretary Lyng to act quickly to exercise his authority and provide soybean farmers disaster payments based on soybean quality at harvest.

"Damage discounts can be just as devastating as the loss of production," says Adams. "Farmers who have drought loss are hurt a second time when quality discounts are imposed. We intend to aggressively pursue this issue in weeks ahead."

Jim Guinn, ASA technical director of soybean quality, says reports of poor quality are of great concern, not only because of financial hardship to affected farmers, but also because of the impact on customers. In the current competitive environment, he says a poor quality crop could encourage customers to turn to alternative vegetable oil sources.

Guinn recommends that where drought is a problem, farmers take a sample of beans to their buyer for analysis before delivering full loads.

"In fact," says Guinn, "farmers in drought areas would be wise to carefully evaluate both quality and yield before deciding whether to proceed with harvest. It may not be economical to harvest some of these drought damaged beans."

"Farmers who do harvest drought damaged beans have some options," says Guinn. "Livestock producers can produce damaged soybeans for on-farm use. Soybean Association funded university studies have proven that heat processed whole soybeans (even when weather damaged) are very effective in livestock and poultry rations. Spending a little time comparing the cost of on-farm use of full-fat soybeans versus delivering the crop and taking a discount, could make money for soybean farmers this year."

Guinn says this year's drought apparently caused soybean plants to die off before the beans were fully mature. The result is a bean that may look normal on the outside, but is visibly green on the inside.

"This causes real problems for processors, because the high chlorophyll content produces a green oil which requires more processing," says Guinn. "In addition, the drought damaged beans have a higher level of free fatty acids, resulting in increased processing losses."

Guinn says ASA is working closely with the Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) to monitor areas where quality problems seem the greatest. He notes that over half of the U.S. soybean crop is exported and the quality needs of foreign customers are especially important in the current competitive oilseed market.

He cautions farmers against storing this year's drought damaged soybeans. "The old saying 'don't store a short crop' is more than just economic advice based on supply and demand," says Guinn. "Poor quality soybeans don't store well."

DON'T WAIT!

1. ALFALFA:
   - A. TOPDRESS: after this cutting to guard against winter kill.
   - B. FALL WEED CONTROL: Some weeds lower protein content, feed value and production. Almost all weeds make hay less palatable to animals. Weeds shorten the life of the stand, too. When growing alfalfa you make more money by growing it clean with PRINCEP Cal 90. For best results apply immediately after last cutting. Don't Wait!!
2. SMALL GRAINS: We have starter fertilizer, quality wheat and barley seed. Also COVER CROP RYE in bags or spreaders.
3. LIME: We offer prompt delivery of Martin Ag Limestone - Hi Cal or Hi Mag.
4. SOIL TEST: Line up your test now!

2 VALUABLE DAIRY & BEEF FARMS

FRIDAY, OCT. 7, 1988 @ 2:00 P.M.

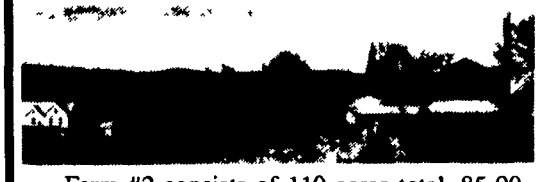
DIRECTIONS: Get off Rt. 15 at Liberty and go east ½ mile to stop sign in Liberty turn right and left immediately go 1.6 mile and turn left. Go 1.2 mi. to farm. Watch for auction arrows.

Farm #1 is where the auction will take place and it consists of a 135 acre dairy farm with 90A tillable, balance pasture and woodland. The farm fields are contoured and the terrain is level to a gentle slope and in a high state of cultivation presently mostly alfalfa. The barn has 68 lever stanchions, gutter cleaner, 825 gal. bulk milk tank and 2" glass pipeline. Dairy was sold 10 years ago. (Some repairs and/or renovations are needed for today's milk markets.) The barn is 40'x196', a 24'x60' insulated implement shed, 2- 12'x30' silos and a 16'x40' silo. There are 1- 4,000 bu. grain bin, 2- 8 ton bulk feed bins. There is a 2½ story frame home with vinyl siding, 4 bedrooms, bath, lg. living room, dining room and eat-in kitchen with modern cabinets. There is also an oil fired central hot water heat system. Well water and septic system, never failing streams and ½ acre pond.



Farm #2 consists of 110 acres total, 85-90 tillable, balance woods and pasture. Lg. bank barn is presently set up for beef, young stock and/or sheep, with lever stalls and a circular bunk feeder from the 16'x50' cement silo. There is a 24'x48' wagon shed, 2 car garage, 5 bedroom house with 1 bath, kitchen, living room, dining room with coal and wood warm air furnace. The land and soil is comparable to Farm #1 and the fields almost join. These farms will be offered individually and together. Would make an excellent father/son large dairy operation together or a single family operation separately. The area around Liberty is level to gently rolling. Ideal for Amish and Mennonite settlements.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR DRY COWS

Preparing the milking cow for her next lactation begins during the last 30 - 90 days of her current lactation. This must be done to assure sufficient time to replace body reserves used up in the previous lactation.

The modern dairy cow has an inborn ability to use nutrients stored in bones and other tissues for milk production over and above that supported by feed. These nutrients removed from her body must be replaced, however, if she is to produce an equal or greater amount her next lactation. If they are not replaced, she will not peak as high and will not rebreed as efficiently.

The stress put on cows because of recent drought caused by extremes in temperature and poor feed intake makes it doubly important to rebuild body condition. This can be done during the last 30 - 90 days of the lactation cycle and should continue through the dry cow period to rebuild body stores along with calf growth.

QUESTION? WHY SHOULD YOU WORM YOUR DAIRY COWS?

WHY????

1. Grain Costs - A moderate worm load can consume a GALLON OF BLOOD Per month. It takes 40 pounds of Dairy feed per month to replace this. Annual cost $38.00

40 lbs. x 10 months x 9.5¢/lb. = $38.00

2. Milk Production - Although the daily milk response (up to 2 lbs.) is hard to measure, careful research has repeatedly shown 500 to 600 pound added per lactation.

500 pounds extra milk x .11 = $55.00/ lactation

3. Cow Health - Well fed cows will not become unthrifty because they are so well fed. However, with high producing cows why make them endure an additional stress.

Purina has a choice of lactation cow dewormers.
